From The Farmer

What Uncle Sam Wants

From City Folks

What Uncle Sam expects of the farmer, his family, and hired men:

To plan carefully to meet goals.

To pool labor, machinery, trucks and rides to town.

To stay on the farm if an essential worker.

To take best care of machinery, livestock.

To produce essential commodities to the limit, for need rather than profit.

To abide by necessities of rationing, price control.

To raise enough food for farm family.

To adjust operations to unavoidable marketing difficulties.

What Uncle Sam expects of town and city folks:

To help farmers to get in their crops where possible.

To grow what they can in the backyard, in community gardens.

To learn how to buy, cook for good nutrition.

To eliminate food waste.

To refrain from hoarding.

To use ration coupons wisely according to supplies.

To report rationing and price violations to the local price ration board.

More Than 400 Pounds Per Cow Produced By 16 Farmers

Farmers Creamery Company of Belmond has just completed a survey based on the butter-fat sold to the creamery by each patron during the first two weeks of March.

The average butter-fat produced per cow over a year's period was determined, using the estimate that the average farmer markets 80% of all the fat produced by his herd. The average production in this territory was found to be 229 pounds of fat per cow per year, an average slightly higher than that for the state of Iowa as a whole, which is approximately 200 pounds.

Of the 329 patrons cooperating in this survey, 16 had herds which are producing over 400 pounds of butter-fat per cow per year. These 16 farmers are as follows: Clarence Kirkendall, Joyce Boelman, Mat Street, Arthur Skouge, Kenneth Hardy, Herbert Hill, W. J. McLaughlin, Donald Baker, C. E. Tourtelotte, J. B Sheffield, Lynn Thompson, George Polmateer, W. C. Tyrrell, Ben Heginger, Henry Halfwassen and Ralph Baker.

This survey was made in co-operation with the Iowa State College Dairy Extension Service and the U. S. Deparment of Agriculture as a nation-wide effort to increase dairy production. Each patron is being sent a bulletin giving valuable information on the care and feeding of dairy herds to increase production. Farmers whose herds averaged over 250 pounds per cow received a letter from Floyd Johnston, Iowa State Extension Dairyman, asking "Can you milk more cows?" Those whose production did not reach 250 pounds per cow received a letter asking, "Are your cows producing all they can?"

Doorkeepers are Donors

...nant Governor Robert D. ... Eagle Grove, President of ... Senate, was presented ...avel of historical value on ..., April 5, by doorkeepers Frank Goodale of Eagle Grove and Victor E. Lindquist of Chariton. Their presentation included the following historical information about the gavel:

There are many kinds of wood, some more valuable than others, some for their texture and some for their historical value. We, the doorkeepers of the Senate, were fortunate enough through Senator Hill to secure two pieces of wood of historical value, one of walnut and one of oak. We thought this wood deserved a better fate than it was getting and have had it fashioned into a gavel in order to preserve it for posterity.

The walnut in this gavel was obtained from a piece of wood taken from one of the doors of the first Court House built in Wright County, Iowa, at Goldfield in 1865.

The oak in this gavel was taken from one of the early pioneer homes in Wright County constructed by Robert Rowen. The lumber for this home was taken from timber in that vicinity and was taken by ox teams to the mill and sawed in the town of Alden, Hardin County, Iowa.

This home served as a pioneer hostel known far and near as the "Traveler's Rest" and was a regular stop in the stage line serving this area. Many prominent Wright County families spent their first days in the county in this home. In this home was born four sons to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rowen. The oldest son, John Rowen later occupied a seat in the Iowa Senate. Another son, Robert, Jr. gave his life in the service of his country in the Civil War.

This home is still in the possession of the Rowen Family and is occupied by Charles Rowen, a grandson of Robert Rowen, who has presented the oak used in this gavel.

This gavel was turned out by Earl Anderson and Bill Myers, seniors in the Chariton, Iowa, High School, under supervision of Mr. A. H. Crocker, manual training instructor.

And now, Mr. President, it gives us great pleasure to present it to you from the Senate Doorkeepers of the 50th Iowa General Assembly as a token of our esteem and appreciation of our associations with you.

Careful Soil Preparation Pays Dividends To Gardener

DOING a good job of soil preparation is an important step toward success for the Victory gardener who has chosen a suitable site for his work in the 1943 food-for-freedom campaign.

Of prime importance is the selection of a suitable site. Garden areas should have sunshine, and they should have good soil, selected if the gardener has no better way of judging soil by applying the rule: "If weeds grow rank, the soil is usually fertile." This rule, however, does not apply if the soil is wet.

Youthful Victory Gardeners Start Tomato Crop

Third item in the 1-2-3 of first steps in garden growing is a careful preparation of the soil before planting.

As soon as the land is sufficiently dry in spring and the area is cleared of large stones and debris, the gardener can start spading, unless he is fortunate enough to be able to have his garden plowed. Heavy soils especially should not be worked while wet.

Where there is a deep layer of the fertile top soil, the garden should be spaded or plowed to a depth of 8 to 10 inches, but gardeners who have thin layers of top soil should be careful not to dig up much subsoil.

Well-rotted leafmold, horse manure or cow manure, or other decayed organic matter, if obtainable, should be worked into the soil. As much as a bushel can well be used for each 25 square feet, this being equal to about 20 tons per acre. The spaded-up masses should be crushed and roughly leveled out as the spading progresses.

After the soil of the small garden is spaded, stones or trash at the surface should be removed and the clods broken.

Clods should be broken up finely with the rake instead of being removed from the garden.

Immediately before planting any part of the garden, that part should be finely worked up and smoothed with the rake before laying off the rows.

There are few soils on which vegetables do not benefit from the proper use of fertilizer. Farm and small-town gardeners usually have access to animal manures, but city and suburban gardeners rely largely on commercial fertilizers.

All gardeners are urged to use compost piles and animal manures to the fullest possible extent. Common in the past have been such garden fertilizers as those containing 5 percent nitrogen, 10 percent phosphoric acid, and 5 percent potash. Such "5-10-5" mixtures and similar high-nitrogen fertilizers are the ones recommended by the Department of Agriculture as the best for general garden use, but difficulties in obtaining fertilizers with as much as 5 percent nitrogen have this year led to the substitution of a special Victory Garden Fertilizer for the small garden.

Labeled "Victory Garden Fertilizer for Food Production Only," this mixture will be found in stores in 5-pound, 10-pound, 25-pound, 50-pound, and 100-pound packages for home garden use in place of the usually recommended 8-10-5 mixture.

'Victory' Fertilizer Recommended for Town Gardeners

Made up of 3 percent nitrogen, 8 percent phosphoric acid, and 7 percent potash, the new fertilizer not only contains less nitrogen, but gets most of the nitrogen it does contain from such organic sources as cotton-seed meal. The chemical nitrogen formerly abundant for fertilizers is essential in the manufacture of explosives.

Commercial fertilizer is best used when applied along the garden rows in a band about 3 or 4 inches wide, about 2 inches from the line where the seeds will be sown or the plants set. A wide furrow about 2 inches deep is scooped out with a hoe. The fertilizer is spread uniformly along this furrow, mixed with the soil, and covered about 2 inches deep. It should not touch the seed.

Broadcasting is easier than applying fertilizer in bands, but except on very close rows broadcasting results in less efficient use of the fertilizer, which must be conserved.

The 5-10-5 fertilizer is applied at the rate of 1 pound per 30 feet of row when the rows are 2 feet apart, but the 3-8-7 mixture at the rate of 1 pound per 24 or 26 feet of row. The Victory Garden Fertilizer, if broadcast, is used at the rate of 3 or 4 pounds per 100 square feet and then mixed thoroughly with the soil.

Insects, weeds, and diseases are the chief Axis agents known to be operating in Victory Gardens. The gardener's "follow-through" and vigilance against enemies are essential to success in the nation's home-food-production effort this year.

Weeds can be kept under control by thorough shallow cultivation, but protection against the garden's insect and disease agents of the Axis requires special forethought and preparations.

From the time the seeds of garden plants are put into the ground until the crops are gathered, diseases and insects must be fought. Prevention as always is better than cures, and thus it is important not only to plant locally adapted, disease-resistant varieties but also to use disease-free seed and plants.

Gardeners Advised To Secure Most Disease-Free Seed

Numerous important diseases, such as bean anthracnose, pea pod spot, and potato leaf roll and mosaic, are carried in or on the seed and yet cannot be controlled by seed treatment. It is therefore essential to secure the most disease-free seed obtainable by using the most reliable sources.

Some garden troubles may be brought in on the roots of seedling plants and remain in the soil to attack future crops. In buying plants the gardener should, therefore, make sure that his purchases are healthy and free from insects. The roots should be clean, profusely branched, and free from knots or swellings.

Controlling diseases caused by fungi, bacteria, and other enemies requires special treatment.

Injurious insects of the garden may be divided into two classes with reference to their manner of taking in food. Caterpillars, beetles, grasshoppers, and grubs have biting mouth parts and feed by biting off, chewing up, and swallowing the substance of the plant.

On the other hand, the mouth parts of plant lice, thrips, leafhoppers, and plant bugs form a tubular beak through which the juices from within the plant are sucked up and swallowed. Stomach poisons put on the plant surface do not affect these sucking insects, which must be controlled by contact insecticides or remedies that kill by touching the insects.

Small compressed-air sprayers carried by a strap over the shoulder are suggested for use in the small garden. One of these will serve for several gardeners in a neighborhood, and the original cost is reasonable. Poisons may be applied in powder form to a number of garden crops by means of a small hand duster or even a burlap or cheesecloth bag, the poison being dusted upon the plants when they have dew upon them.

Garden products such as snap beans should not be sprayed or dusted with poisons after the edible parts have formed.

Weed Exterminators—Two Successful Methods

Meeting the attacks of insects and diseases requires information that gardeners should obtain from state or federal agricultural agencies and experienced gardeners. Available free from the U. S. Department of Agriculture is a Farmers' Bulletin of general value called "Diseases and Insects of Garden Vegetables."

Victory gardeners cannot afford to neglect their hoeing and then catch up with drastic spurts. Steady and cautious are the words suggested for cultivation.

Weeds rob garden plants of water, nutrients, and even the space and sunshine that they require. As soon as the soil can be properly worked after each rain, it should be thoroughly hoed or cultivated to kill weeds that have sprouted and also to leave the surface in a loose, friable condition to absorb later rainfall.

Weeds that take root again readily after hoeing or after they are pulled out should be carried out of the garden.

If water is applied to the garden, the soil should be thoroughly and deeply soaked as it is by a fairly heavy rain. It then actually needs watering again only when the soil shows signs of becoming dry.

Artificial watering, if thus applied properly, will prove a decided advantage during dry periods, but it may actually prove to be an injury if not done properly. Frequent light sprinkling or irrigation is a bad practice because it waters the roots of shallow-growing weeds, leaves the garden plants without enough water, and yet leads the gardener to believe that his work is done.

Some gardeners recommend soaking the soil thoroughly about once a week and then loosening the surface by cultivation as soon as the soil is dry enough to work.

GARDEN V FOR VICTORY

On a small scale the water can be applied by means of a sprinkling can. Wherever available a garden hose should be used. Perhaps the best method for applying the water is to open slight furrows alongside the rows of plants and allow the water to flow gently along these furrows.

After irrigation, the soil should not be trampled or worked until it has partially dried so that it is no longer sticky.

Where seeds are to be sown during a dry period, a slight furrow may be opened and water run through it. Then, after the water has soaked into the soil, the seeds may be sown and covered with dry earth. This method will insure a good stand of plants, as the moisture feeds upward in the soil, like the oil in a lamp wick.

Mulching between the rows with straw, dried lawn clippings, leaves or similar material will help conserve moisture and keep down weeds.

Spring is not the only planting season for Victory gardeners who make the best use of their home food plots.

Effective gardening requires thought and work before and all through the entire season and, in the south, the year round. Much of this thought and work is in connection with a schedule for planting succession crops; that is, crops planted after others have been harvested from the same area.

Single plantings of lima beans, some pole snap beans, chard, and tomatoes (planted in spring) bear for a long season. In the south, fall collards, kale, spinach, and turnips (planted in late summer) are usable some time after frost.

Gardeners are thus advised to consult with their experienced neighbors and such authorities as county agricultural agents, and also to obtain publications from their state agricultural agencies.

No one plan suits all gardeners in all parts of the United States, but the garden chart (See Plan I) includes a number of examples of succession crops for Victory Gardens.

Succession Crops Included as Part Of Model Garden

Described as "an example, not a specific recommendation," the plan for a garden in the middle part of the country includes, for instance, three succession crops suggested as best in some parts of the country.

Having suggested two rows of Kentucky Wonder pole snap beans for spring planting, it is suggested that "after harvesting beans, follow with 3 rows of Purple Top Globe turnips."

Two rows of collards may follow where one row each of Crosby Egyptian or Early Wonder beets, Chantenay or Nantes carrots, and Shogoin turnips have been harvested.

Where a row of Scarlet Globe radishes and a row of Long Standing Bloomsdale spinach have been harvested, the gardener may plant 2 rows of U. S. No. 5 Refugee beans.

Crops in the sample scheme that grow throughout the season are: Two rows of Carolina or Sieva pole lima beans, a row of Earliana tomatoes, a row of Marglobe tomatoes, and a half row of Fordhook Giant chard.

Several of the rows suggested for the food garden are thus involved in the gardener's schedule of second crops. Those with larger or smaller areas, it is pointed out, will have similar opportunities.

In more northern and in far southern states seasons are, of course, different and thus the succession scheme would need to be different than for the middle part of the country.

Battle Plans For War Against Garden's "Enemy Agents"

FROM the time the seeds of garden plants are put into the ground until the crops are gathered, diseases and insects must be fought. Vegetable troubles are due to numerous causes, including unfavorable soil conditions—too wet or too dry, too rich or too poor, lack of humus or lime—weather unsuited to some crops, careless use of fertilizers or attacks of fungi or other parasites. The purpose of this section is to present a few control measures for the most important insects and diseases of home-garden vegetable crops.

BEANS—Insect: The Mexican bean beetle is a yellow or brownish lady-beetle spotted with 16 black marks. The spiny yellow larvae feed on the underside of the leaves and strip the plant within one or two weeks.

Treatment: Use a spray containing derris or cube root powder or cryolite in water. Apply thoroughly and carefully to the underside of the leaves. Spray as soon as the beetles appear in the field or when the eggs are first noticed on the leaves. If cryolite is used, treatments on snap beans should stop when pods form. Derris may be applied to beans even after pods form if recommendations for dosages are followed. Don't spray edible matter.

Disease Treatment Must Be Thorough For Best Results

Disease: Anthracnose is characterized by roundish, sunken spots of brownish color and pink centers on young pods. Most serious in moist, cool seasons.

Treatment: Burn the first plants showing this disease. While the plants are wet with rain or dew avoid cultivation or walking through them, since this disease is spread by wind and rain, and also by insects and hands that touch the stricken beans.

BEETS—Insect: Several types of webworms attack beets, eating their leaves. The leaves then become webbed together on the growing plant. Insect appears as moth.

Treatment: Spray with Paris Green. Don't spray edible matter.

Disease: Leaf spot is a disease recognized by numerous small, round to irregular dead spots with white centers and purple borders on the leaves.

Treatment: Spray with 4-4-50 bordeaux mixture when the first spots are noted. Repeat at 10-day intervals. Don't spray edible matter.

CUCUMBER—Insect: The striped cucumber beetle usually comes out in April or May. Of yellow body, it is ¼ of an inch long and has three black stripes. The larvae, or worm, is slender and white and brownish at the ends.

Treatment: Cover each young plant with cheesecloth mounted on a frame. The lower edges of the cloth must be firmly implanted to prevent the beetles from burrowing underneath. As other remedies, apply nicotine dust to the beetles gathered on the plant, or a mixture of one pound of calcium arsenate with 15 pounds of gypsum or land plaster. Bordeaux mixture with calcium arsenate added chases the insects and prevents injury to leaves. Dust evenly and lightly and spray carefully.

Diseases: Mosiac disease stunts the plant and wrinkles the leaves. Anthracnose is a fungus disease causing roundish-brown spots and cankers on the stems.

Treatments: To avert mosaic disease, cover cucumber plants with cheesecloth. Spray or dust to control beetles. In treating anthracnose disease, spray with 2-4-50 bordeaux mixture as soon as disease appears, and repeat at regular weekly intervals. Dust lightly and evenly and spray carefully.

ONIONS—Insect: The onion maggot is the larvae of a small gray fly which resembles a house fly.

Maggots, Smut Are Chief Enemies of Onion Plantings

Treatment: Use lubricating oil emulsion made by pouring one gallon of bordeaux mixture into one gallon of light lubricating oil, pumping the mixture back upon itself until good emulsion is secured, and diluting this with 40 gallons of water. Cover the plants and the soil around thoroughly and repeat the treatments three or four times at weekly intervals.

Disease: Smut is a disease attacking the leaves of young plants found in the soil where smutted onions formerly grew. Bulb rot is a disease which damages the bulbs as they approach maturity.

Treatments: To guard against smut disease, plant onions on land where disease has not occurred. If this is not possible, then sprinkle a formaldehyde solution of one teaspoonful to a quart of water in the drill after the seeds have been dropped before covering them. Use 3 to 4 quarts of the solution to each 100 feet of row. In dealing with bulb rot, sanitary measures, the careful sorting out of diseased bulbs at harvest time and rotation of crops are the chief means of controlling this disease.

Careful Sorting of Diseased Bulbs Is Best Control Plan

TOMATOES—Insect: Large green caterpillars known as tomato worms feed on tomato plants. There are two broods a season. Tomato fruitworm also destroy ripening plants.

Treatment: Against Tomato worms, hand-picking is the best remedy. Since they are the same color as the plants they are difficult to find, but they can usually be traced by their voiding underneath the plants they occupy. Calcium arsenate or paris green applied two or three times will keep the tomato fruitworm partially under control. Be careful in applying chemical.

Diseases: Fusarium wilt is a disease caused by fungus in the soil. It yellows, wilts and finally destroys the plant. Blossom-end rot is a disease marked by the decay of the blossom end of green and ripe fruits.

Treatments: For fusarium use wilt free seed and soil. For blossom-end rot, loss from the disease can be materially reduced by avoiding heavy applications of nitrogen, especially manure, and supplying extra super-phosphates.

POTATOES—Insect: Larvae and adults of the Colorado potato beetle appear about the time the potatoes come up, laying their eggs on the underside of the leaves. There are from one to three broods a year.

Extra Dividends From a Well-Used Hoe

Treatment: Paris green is a good remedy. Hand pick the beetles when they first appear.

Diseases: The common scab disease lives in the soil and is carried in the tubers. Late blight results from a fungus and is aggravated by cold, moist weather.

Treatments: Common scab can be prevented by planting on land known to be free from scab infestation. Do not plant badly scabbed seeds, and treat all potatoes just before cutting in formaldehyde or mercuric chloride solution. For control of late blight, spray plants with 4-4-50 bordeaux mixture, beginning when the disease is first seen. Repeat the spraying every 10 or 14 days in dry weather and every 7 to 10 days in moist weather. Great care and thoroughness must be used to keep the foliage covered at all times with a thin film of the spray mixture. Use chemical solutions carefully.

Compressed Air Sprayer Best for Small Garden

CABBAGE—Insect: The velvety green caterpillar is most injurious to cabbage. After eating the outer leaves, the caterpillars attack the tender inner leaves as they form, hiding in the heads where it is difficult to reach them with a spray. The worms are at work from April to September and even later.

Treatment: Derris or cube dusts containing 0.5 to 1 per cent of rotenone are recommended. Pure fresh pyrethrum dusts containing 0.15 per cent total pyrethrins effective if applied in later afternoon or early evening. Dusts have proven more satisfactory than sprays in cabbage worm control. Derris and pyrethrum dusts should be used according to directions. Treatments should begin with the appearance of the worms and continue as often as necessary. Reach all infested parts of the plant thoroughly. Don't spray edible matter. When dusting, work for light, even coating.

For off-season use, garden products may be preserved by storing, canning, freezing, brining or pickling. Canning is the best-known method because it may be used for all kinds of fruits and vegetables. Present information indicates that there will be a supply of cans, jars and sealers for home gardeners. However, in view of wartime shortages of tin and rubber, it is wise to plan to limit canning to those garden products that cannot be preserved successfully by other methods. Storing and freezing take less time and labor than canning.

Favorite garden products for canning are tomatoes, green peas, asparagus, green beans, lima beans, corn and fruits. Fruits and tomatoes are the easiest to handle because they require no higher temperature than boiling for safe keeping. Fruits and tomatoes may be packed hot in jars and then processed in a boiling water bath. Almost all vegetables except tomatoes must be processed under steam pressure in order to get the high temperature necessary for safety. Gardeners who do not have the use of a steam pressure canner will be wise to preserve all vegetables except tomatoes by some other method than canning.

Safety Demands Steam Pressure For Most Canning

Canned fruits and vegetables are thoroughly cooked and thus need only reheating if they are to be served hot. As a safety precaution, non-acid canned vegetables should be boiled before serving.

Storing is the cheapest and easiest way to keep many vegetables and apples and pears for winter use, if space is available in the basement or if outdoor storage can be provided. Many of the root vegetables as well as onions, pumpkins and winter squash hold their original flavor better when stored than when preserved in any other way. Vegetables that may be kept by storing include: beets, late cabbage, carrots, late celery, onions, parsnips, potatoes, sweet potatoes, pumpkins, winter squash, rutabagas, white turnips, winter radishes and salsify. Winter apples and pears also keep successfully when stored.

Vegetables and fruits preserved by storage are still living, though dormant, and have different requirements for temperature and moisture. The crops that need cool, moist storage include: cabbage, carrots, beets, parsnips, salsify, turnips, rutabagas, winter radishes, celery, apples and pears. Potatoes keep best at a temperature between 40 and 50 degrees F.; sweet potatoes between 55 and 60 degrees. Squash and pumpkins need warm and moderately dry storage; onions and dried beans, cool and dry storage.

Unless storage space is extremely limited, apples should not be stored with potatoes or with most root crops, nor celery with turnips or cabbage, because apples and celery will absorb odors. Turnips should not be placed in the basement as they give off odors that penetrate through the house.

The Victory Gardener who has an ample supply of canned and stored vegetables on hand will consider himself exceptionally fortunate during the coming months. Fresh vegetables are an all-important, inexpensive supplement to regular rations, and their presence on every table is demanded for health's sake.

...rmers Creamery Made ...rvey Of Dairy Herds

More Than 400 Pounds Per Cow Produced By 16 Farmers

Farmers Creamery Company of Belmond has just completed a survey based on the butter-fat sold to the creamery by each patron during the first two weeks of March.

The average butter-fat produced per cow over a year's period was determined, using the estimate that the average farmer markets 80% of all the fat produced by his herd. The average production in this territory was found to be 229 pounds of fat per cow per year, an average slightly higher than that for the state of Iowa as a whole, which is approximately 200 pounds.

Of the 329 patrons cooperating in this survey, 16 had herds which are producing over 400 pounds of butter-fat per cow per year. These 16 farmers are as follows: Clarence Kirkendall, Joyce Boelman, Mat Street, Arthur Skouge, Kenneth Hardy, Herbert Hill, W. J. McLaughlin, Donald Baker, C. E. Tourtelotte, J. B Sheffield, Lynn Thompson, George Polmateer, W. C. Tyrrell, Ben Heginger, Henry Halfwassen and Ralph Baker.

This survey was made in co-operation with the Iowa State College Dairy Extension Service and the U. S. Department of Agriculture as a nation-wide effort to increase dairy production. Each patron is being sent a bulletin giving valuable information on the care and feeding of dairy herds to increase production. Farmers whose herds averaged over 250 pounds per cow received a letter from Floyd Johnston, Iowa State Extension Dairyman, asking "Can you milk more cows?" Those whose production did not reach 250 pounds per cow received a letter asking, "Are your cows producing all they can?"

Doorkeepers are Donors

...nant Governor Robert D. ... Eagle Grove, President of ...a Senate, was presented ...avel of historical value on Monday, April 5, by doorkeepers Frank Goodale of Eagle Grove and Victor E. Lindquist of Chariton. Their presentation included the following historical information about the gavel:

There are many kinds of wood, some more valuable than others, some for their texture and some for their historical value. We, the doorkeepers of the Senate, were fortunate enough through Senator Hill to secure two pieces of wood of historical value, one of walnut and one of oak. We thought this wood deserved a better fate than it was getting and have had it fashioned into a gavel in order to preserve it for posterity.

The walnut in this gavel was obtained from a piece of wood taken from one of the doors of the first Court House built in Wright County, Iowa, at Goldfield in 1865.

The oak in this gavel was taken from one of the early pioneer homes in Wright County constructed by Robert Rowen. The lumber for this home was taken from timber in that vicinity and was taken by ox teams to the mill and sawed in the town of Alden, Hardin County, Iowa.

This home served as a pioneer hostel known far and near as the "Traveler's Rest" and was a regular stop in the stage line serving this area. Many prominent Wright County families spent their first days in the county in this home. In this home was born four sons to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rowen. The oldest son, John Rowen later occupied a seat in the Iowa Senate. Another son, Robert, Jr. gave his life in the service of his country in the Civil War.

This home is still in the possession of the Rowen Family and is occupied by Charles Rowen, a grandson of Robert Rowen, who has presented the oak used in this gavel.

This gavel was turned out by Earl Anderson and Bill Myers, seniors in the Chariton, Iowa, High School, under supervision of Mr. A. H. Crocker, manual training instructor.

And now, Mr. President, it gives us great pleasure to present it to you from the Senate Doorkeepers of the 50th Iowa General Assembly as a token of our esteem and appreciation of our associations with you.

The Belmond Cemetery Association will meet at the home of Mrs. F. O. Fitts Friday evening, April 9, at 8 o'clock.

From The Farmer
What Uncle Sam Wants
From City Folks

What Uncle Sam expects of the farmer, his family, and hired men:

To plan carefully to meet goals.

To pool labor, machinery, trucks and rides to town.

To stay on the farm if an essential worker.

To take best care of machinery, livestock.

To produce essential commodities to the limit, for need rather than profit.

To abide by necessities of rationing, price control.

To raise enough food for farm family.

To adjust operations to unavoidable marketing difficulties.

What Uncle Sam expects of town and city folks:

To help farmers to get in their crops where possible.

To grow what they can in the backyard, in community gardens.

To learn how to buy, cook for good nutrition.

To eliminate food waste.

To refrain from hoarding.

To use ration coupons wisely according to supplies.

To report rationing and price violations to the local price ration board.

To use least possible tires in going shopping (sharing trips, planning ahead.)

Taken from the March 27, 1943 publication of the USDA.

Karl Smith Is Home From Panama Area

Has First Furlough Since Enlistment

Karl Smith, Storekeeper first-class, who has been with the United States Navy since July, 1941, is home from the Panama Canal area on a 30-day furlough. This is the first real furlough Karl has had since entering the service, although he did spend two short week ends here during the time he was in boot training at Great Lake, Ill. He is visiting his wife as well as relatives and friends. Last week he and Mrs. Smith spent several days with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Phil Smith at Minot, North Dakota.

Those who had experience with Karl's sales ability when he was manager of the local Coast-to-Coast store would hardly recognize him now as a shy and rather unassuming member of our armed forces. He struck the Independent office force as a perfect example of what Uncle Sam calls 'Buttoning your lip" since he was extremely reluctant to answer questions concerning Navy life around Panama.

Karl did say, 'My job is mostly office work. I have been punching a typewriter most of the time. Since I am located on land at a submarine base, I haven't had a chance to see action and excitement like some of the boys at sea." Karl is on duty 24 hours of the day, seven days a week with liberty from 3:00 to 9:00 p. m. every third day. He reveals that the temperature around the Canal Zone is not so high, around 95 to 100, but that the humidity makes the heat rather oppressive much of the time. Living quarters at Karl's base are very comfortable and modern.

Names of places like Cristobal and Colon, which sound picturesque, romantic and adventurous to us who read about them, are to Karl just dirty little towns made up mosly of dives and trinket shops. He did seem impressed by a fine church about 6 miles from his base which is non-denominational and draws a good congregation.

What Uncle Sam Wants

From City Folks

What Uncle Sam expects of the farmer, his family, and hired men:

To plan carefully to meet goals.
To pool labor, machinery, trucks and rides to town.
To stay on the farm if an essential worker.
To take best care of machinery, livestock.
To produce essential commodities to the limit, for need rather than profit.
To abide by necessities of rationing, price control.
To raise enough food for farm family.
To adjust operations to unavoidable marketing difficulties.

What Uncle Sam expects of town and city folks:

To help farmers to get in their crops where possible.
To grow what they can in the backyard, in community gardens.
To learn how to buy, cook for good nutrition.
To eliminate food waste.
To refrain from hoarding.
To use ration coupons wisely, according to supplies.
To report rationing and price violations to the local price ration board.
To use least possible tires in going shopping (sharing trips, planning ahead.)

Services Held For W. Walrod Wednesday

Death Occurred Suddenly Saturday

Funeral services were held at the Fulton Funeral Home Wednesday for Wm. O. Walrod, 52 prominent Iowa horseshoer, who passed away suddenly last Saturday about 10 o'clock in the evening. Mr. Walrod, who, until about six weeks ago, had been employed in the Coast-to-Coast store in Belmond and because of failing health had been unable to continue his work.

Mr. Walrod had been down town Saturday afternoon visiting with friends and came down again that evening with his son-in-law, Wilbert Hanson of Alexander, and was waiting in the Coast-to-Coast store for a ride home when he suffered a heart attack and died immediately.

"Bill," as he was called by everyone, was well-known among horse breeders and others of his trade throughout Iowa and the middlewest. He traveled for one year with Ringling Bros. circus, attended every sizeable fair and horseshow in the large mid-western cities and was constantly on call by breeders of show horses who would have no one but Bill shoe their stock.

He leaves his wife and ten children, including five sons who are in the armed services, to mourn his death. One child preceded him in death in infancy. An obituary will be published next week.

Ford Is Making Tanks For Army Now Instead Of Cars for Civilians

Ford assembly lines which for several months have been turning out 32-ton tanks for the army instead of Ford Motor Cars for civilians, are also producing many of the new M-10 tank destroyers, the "fighting man's" gun carrier, Ford Motor Company officials have announced.

Widely acclaimed as the weapon which stopped Marshal Rommel in North Africa, the M-10 has the speed and maneuverability of a light tank and the firing power of a heavy tank, is faster than the M-4 medium tank with the same engine.

A new three-inch gun using a high velocity armor-piercing rifing range than the medium shell gives the M-10 far greater tank. More hitting power for the crew also is provided in the .50 calibre machine gun turning on a swivel at the top of the turret.

More Than 400 Pounds Per Cow Produced By 16 Farmers

Farmers Creamery Company of Belmond has just completed a survey based on the butter-fat sold to the creamery by each patron during the first two weeks of March.

The average butter-fat produced per cow over a year's period was determined, using the estimate that the average farmer markets 80% of all the fat produced by his herd. The average production in this territory was found to be 229 pounds of fat per cow per year, an average slightly higher than that for the state of Iowa as a whole, which is approximately 200 pounds.

Of the 329 patrons cooperating in this survey, 16 had herds which are producing over 400 pounds of butter-fat per cow per year. These 16 farmers are as follows: Clarence Kirkendall, Joyce Boelman, Mat Street, Arthur Skouge, Kenneth Hardy, Herbert Hill, W. J. McLaughlin, Donald Baker, C. E. Tourtelotte, J. B Sheffield, Lynn Thompson, George Polmateer, W. C. Tyrrell, Ben Heginger, Henry Halfwassen and Ralph Baker.

This survey was made in co-operation with the Iowa State College Dairy Extension Service and the U. S. Deparment of Agriculture as a nation-wide effort to increase dairy production. Each patron is being sent a bulletin giving valuable information on the care and feeding of dairy herds to increase production. Farmers whose herds averaged over 250 pounds per cow received a letter from Floyd Johnston, Iowa State Extension Dairyman, asking "Can you milk more cows?" Those whose production did not reach 250 pounds per cow received a letter asking, "Are your cows producing all they can?"

Lieutenant Governor Blue

Given Historical Gavel

Doorkeepers are Donors

Lieutenant Governor Robert D. Blue of Eagle Grove, President of the Iowa Senate, was presented with a gavel of historical value on Monday, April 5, by doorkeepers Frank Goodale of Eagle Grove and Victor E. Lindquist of Chariton. Their presentation included the following historical information about the gavel:

There are many kinds of wood, some more valuable than others, some for their texture and some for their historical value. We, the doorkeepers of the Senate, were fortunate enough through Senator Hill to secure two pieces of wood of historical value, one of walnut and one of oak. We thought this wood deserved a better fate than it was getting and have had it fashioned into a gavel in order to preserve it for posterity.

The walnut in this gavel was obtained from a piece of wood taken from one of the doors of the first Court House built in Wright County, Iowa, at Goldfield in 1865.

The oak in this gavel was taken from one of the early pioneer homes in Wright County constructed by Robert Rowen. The lumber for this home was taken from timber in that vicinity and was taken by ox teams to the mill and sawed in the town of Alden, Hardin County, Iowa.

This home served as a pioneer hostel known far and near as the "Traveler's Rest" and was a regular stop in the stage line serving this area. Many prominent Wright County families spent their first days in the county in this home. In this home was born four sons to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rowen. The oldest son, John Rowen later occupied a seat in the Iowa Senate. Another son, Robert, Jr. gave his life in the service of his country in the Civil War.

This home is still in the possession of the Rowen Family and is occupied by Charles Rowen, a grandson of Robert Rowen, who has presented the oak used in this gavel.

This gavel was turned out by Earl Anderson and Bill Myers, seniors in the Chariton, Iowa, High School, under supervision of Mr. A. H. Crocker, manual training instructor.

And now, Mr. President, it gives us great pleasure to present it to you from the Senate Doorkeepers of the 50th Iowa General Assembly as a token of our esteem and appreciation of our associations with you.

MORE ABOUT TAXES

We learn from recent news comment that while our Congress continues its delaying arguments over a pay-as-you-go tax plan, our neighboring ally, Canada, who also has problems of taxes, war debts and the need of raising billions of dollars to help carry on the war this year, has already enacted a pay-as-you-go plan that is working.

With the greatly increased number of Federal income tax payers in 1943 over 1942, Congress would do well to make an early decision about this matter. It seems to us the question is not "How much will we lose by foregiveness of all or part of 1942 taxes?" but rather "How much will we gain?"

Even Congress, which can find more ways to "beat around the bush" in settling some questions that seem quite simple to just ordinary citizens like you and me, should realize that many of the new taxpayers in 1943 may not have the wherewithal to contribute to government finances a year or two hence, in spite of the law and its penalties.

BETTER THINGS, AND CHEAPER

It is good news to women to learn that hosiery manufacturers are being instructed by the War Production Board to make women's hosiery which will wear longer.

It is quite possible that the American standard of living can remain high after the war is over, even if incomes may suffer some reduction, provided that industrialists—either by their own voilition or by some means of government control,— will produce the best possible quality of merchandise at a reasonable profit to themselves with allowances also for wholesalers and retailers .

Hosiery is really only a small item among the numerous things we need in our habit of living, although quite a big item on a woman's clothing budget.

But hosiery isn't the only thing being revolutionized. We are now told that the American home of tomorrow will not only be built better and more convenient but with less cost. And what is true of hosiery and houses should also be true of other things.

BEFORE AND AFTER

It isn't too early for U. S. voters: state, national and local, to be keeping their eyes open for the right kind of men and women to fill vacancies in our congressional and legislative bodies a year or two hence.

Because ! ! On the wisdom, good judgment and common sense of such people will rest the future security of our country and the whole world. Those men and women who will be elected to positions of grave responsibility in our next eletion, together with those holding office at the present time, will have bigger problems to solve than have ever arisen before.

Now is the time for us—every man and woman—to make known in a decisive manner that we are interested in what goes on at the state capitol in Des Moines and at Washington, D. C. and that we expect—yes demand—to have a voice through our representatives in the plans that are made for the future.

It will be a long, hard row if we expect to weed out all graft and greed and selfishness that seem to get into government agencies, from time to time, but the only way it can ever be done is with constant pressure from every eligible voter at election time and his continued active interest after election time.

4-H CLUB HONOR

Wright county received an honor last week when Maurice Miller of Clarion was named 4-H Holstein Club member for the state of Iowa.

Now 20 years of age, Maurice has made an income of $25,000 on 4-H Club projects covering a period of 11 years, but his experience has been valuable in more ways than financial returns. At present he is farming in partnership with his father, which farming operations include the milking of a herd of 26 purebred Holsteins. He has also gained recognition serving in various capacities in local and state 4-H club organizations.

4-H clubs are constantly proving their value, not only to individuals, but also to our country. They have played an important part in recent years in training our younger generation to be better farmers and in doing so have accomplished a two-fold purpose: Bigger individual gains—Bigger national production.

A deep, low rumble coming out of southern Iowa, sounds like the warning of an approaching land boom. A farm, not too good, in that region sold recently for $100 an acre. The owner, a year ago, refused $50, but offered to let it go for $60. Other instances are reported of poor land which a year ago did not attract buyers at any price, are now being picked up. Iowa farm land can be stepped up several notches before the boom stage is reached. It has been on the bargain counter about long enough. — Cresco Times

When Uncle Sam broadcasts the information that, say one billion dollars has been expended on airplanes during a certain period, the German mathematicians can soon figure out approximately how many planes have been produced. All they have to do is divide the one billion dollars by 10, in this case that would amount to $10,000.000. As it costs the United States about ten times as much as it does Germany to produce airplanes the Germans would be given an idea of the number of planes produced, as they know how much planes cost them. And what is true of planes in this respect, is true also of tanks, big guns and munitions generally.—Webster City Freeman.

Isn't it reasonable to suppose that some former new deal editors are actually seeing things in a different light of late? Isn't it likely they have come to realize how fast this administration of ours is slipping toward a new conception of government entirely foreign to what it was intended to be and has been during all its years of unequalled progress?—Northwood Anchor.

It is one thing for government to broaden individual opportunity and provide a maximum of care for the needy. It is quite a different thing to build up government to where it dictates to the individual in the commonest affairs of life. The first type of government is what our boys are fighting to preserve. The second type is what they think they are fighting to prevent coming to America.—Nora Springs Adv.

After all, isn't there a lot of satisfaction in planting seeds and providing food for one's own table from a flourishing garden? By raising gardens we can aid American agriculture to supply food for freedom.—Greene Recorder

Dont' make the mistake of placing government benefits above personal liberty. Don't think you can improve the condition of the worker by tearing down the employer. Industrialists should be forced to earn their profits decently, and workers be compelled to do an honest day's work for an honest day's pay.—Wright County Monitor.

POWER FAILED

An estimated loss of $5,000 was suffered at a hatchery in Bigelow recently when a sleet storm caused the electric lines to break. Eggs totaling 100,000, in different stages of incubation, were destroyed when the power was off from 10 p. m. Monday until 5:30 p. m. on Wednesday. Mardell Beneke spent a week end recently visiting her husband, Cpl. Donald G. Beneke at Camp Custer, Michigan. She says, "Now I spend my leisure time counting the days and hours until I can make him another visit. Mardell doesn't have a great deal of leisure time, however, for lonesome thoughts. She keeps busy at the Belmond hospital where not only her nursing skill but also her cheerful manner makes sick folks feel better quicker.

:-The "Crow's Nest"-:

By George C. Hansen, A. S.

March 24

This week is about over, and we have been here 19 days. My arm surely is sore tonight, as we had shots again today.

C—N

March 25

I imagine Dick was quite excited about the Blessed Event. When I get extra time I shall drop him a line. Just getting ready for bed. It is 7:30. My friends in Belmond would be surprised at my hours. I generally hit the hay at about 8:00 o'clock.

C—N

March 26

I passed the 75-yard swimming test today. It really is hard. If anyone thinks it is easy when your arms are sore from shots, he is misinformed. We also had to jump into water with the new life savers. They are supposed to hold you up for 48 hours.

C—N

March 27

I dropped Miriam and Dick a card congratulating them on their new boy. Of course, I am sure he will never he the man Jeff will be! ! Question for argument here.

C—N

March 28

I understand that by 1944 Camp Farragut will be one of the largest Naval Training Stations in the world. Since we came here a month ago as Company 153-43, there have been 59 new companies formed in the base, which includes six camps. The new companies represent over 6,000 men, and there are civilians coming in as recruits every day. I sometimes wonder where they are all coming from. Captain I. C. Sowell in charge of all camps here at Farragut, is an old-time sailor and has seen plenty of action at sea.

C—N

March 29

Today we had our examinations, and I didn't think they were so tough. In the army they have only 150 questions. We had 50 words in spelling, 100 O'Rourke Intelligence Test questions for selections, 50 English questions and 25 mathematics problems.

Anyone who wants to take a vacation would enjoy a drive through Idaho, Montana and Washington. (When the war is over and there are tires and gasoline for such things). The country is really beautiful out here. However, I would always take Iowa as the best place to live.

Prittle... Prattle....

I know of some Belmond families who enjoy popcorn and candy for their Sunday night suppers and when the sugar rationing began that put a stop to the candy. Now that butter rationing is here popcorn is out unless they'll do like we're doing at our house go without that extra slice of bread and butter several times during the week.

P—P

Of course we all know what kind of a spring we're having here but the boys in the armed services might like to know that it is still blowing hot and cold. One day the wind is in the south and the next in the north. Some of the early gardeners were out the first day of April getting in the peas and onions and quite a few already have the lawns raked and that includes yours truly who is among the firsts on that score for the first time in his life.

P—P

Other signs are youngsters on roller skates from after school hours until late in the evenings, groups of boys playing marbles, getting out the fishing tackle and oiling up the reels and probably our mayor, Ed Kennedy already has had a few of the local citizens jumping him about cleaning up the streets and alleys. Although I must say that they would have to be pretty early to beat Ben Smith and Al Luick since they've got main street and some of the side streets swept clean of the winter debris. All that remains is for the fire company to get out some evening and wash them down with a two and one half inch stream of water.

P—P

Noticed an ad for a theatre in one of our exchange papers the other day announcing that Dorothy Lamour was coming to their screen in the picture 'They Got Me Covered." That's something new for Dotty. Now if the producers would just bring her out in a picture, "They Got Me Silenced," yours truly could enjoy the show without fear that she will break out in a singing rash at every other take.

P—P

Two little girls were overheard discussing their Sunday school, one which believed in teaching the shorter catechism rather than telling Bible stories.

"How far have you got?" asked the first.

"I'm past original sin," was the proud reply.

"Oh, (contemptuously), is that all? I'm beyong redemption."—Marengo Republican.

P—P.

And here's a story on the big girls:

Girls who were raised on cod liver oil have legs like this ! !

Girls who ride horses have legs like this ( )

But gals at night club bars and roadside tavern who keep saying "Here's how" have legs like this) (

P—P

Our scout brings in the information that 'Andy' Lieuwen's spring chores have started. Andy and his tractor were called out late Sunday evening to lend assistance to a driver of a car when the car became mired in the grove that borders on his farm. Just as sure as robins and little fish in the spring, Andy can depend on a few such calls at this time of the year, every year.

P—P

And that dear students is the end of the class discussion for this week. The class will meet again at the same time next week and you are requested to come prepared to discuss the best methods of compounding an antidote for the bite of the springhousecleaningbug.

PLENTY OF TURKEY

Delos W. Mott of Hampton is going to see that at least some people are going to have plenty of turkey, at least for Thanksgiving. He recently had 7,500 turkey eggs placed in the incubators of a local hatchery.

QUALITY IS THE WATCHWORD

And quality in Baby Chicks doesn't "just happen". It has taken careful, painstaking work to build up our flocks of the various breeds for our hatching eggs. But the results were well worth the effort, for we offer you SUPER-QUALITY CHICKS, bred and hatched for Victory.

Our eggs are scientifically incubated in modern equipment to produce chicks that live, grow and mature into profitable fowls. We set only large, uniform eggs, of standard weight and good shell texture.

But brother—that punch has got to start from your pocket! And now's the time to let it go!

Uncle Sam is asking you to back them up. He's asking you to lend the money they need by investing in War Bonds.

In the next few weeks, you may be visited by one of the thousands of volunteers who are giving their time and effort to this Drive.

But don't wait for him. Today—now—go to your nearest bank or Post Office or place where they sell War Bonds. And for your Country's sake—for your own sake—invest all you can!

THE HOME FRONT IN IOWA

Food in frozen food lockers may be used by farmers and other consumers without rationing restrictions, OPA has stated. The total amount of perishable food stored in lockers in private homes, on farms and in commercial plants is considered too small to justify the inconvenience it would cause all consumers either to have this food declared or to place any legal restrictions on its use.

Back To Farms

The War Department has announced procedures by which soldiers, as individuals, may obtain discharges from the Army to return to their farms. Soldiers on active duty in the continental United States, who are 38 years of age or over, may be discharged upon favorable consideration of written applications submitted prior to May 1. These requests must be accompanied by a letter or statement from local farm agents that the soldiers will be employed in essential agricultural activities if discharged from the Army. Such requests are made by the soldier to his immediate commanding officer. A soldier meeting these requirements will be discharged promptly unless his release will seriously affect the efficiency of his unit.

Not So Good!

Hampered by snow, ice and subzero temperatures, Iowa only shipped 9.5 per cent of its iron and steel scrap quota the first month of 1943. Chairmen of county salvage committees have perfected plans, however to get the state out of cellar position in the region now that spring is here. The government needs copper, brass and bronze scrap as well as iron and steel. That old unserviceable tractor in the farm yard will furnish a lot of vital materials.

Farm Machinery

The government freeze on the last item of farm machinery needed for food crop production has now been lifted, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Distribution directives for all haying and harvesting machinery are expected to be issued to manufacturers before April 15. Approximately 75 per cent of all types of rationed farm machinery, which was frozen Nov. 1, 1942, has now been freed for distribution and local rationing through county war boards.

More Frozen Foods

E panded facilities for producing quick-frozen foods are expected to bring total frozen vegetable production to over 200 million pounds in 1943.. The increase in output will be primarily for the purpose of meeting expanding requirements of the armed forces. Approximately 30 per cent of the production increase, however, will be available to civilian consumers, and will give them a total of about 180,000 000 pounds—nearly 20 per cent more than in 1942.

Pressure Cookers

Some 150,000 pressure cookers will be produced for this year's canning season. Although that will be twice as many as were made in 1942, it is believed that demand will be far in excess of the supply. tI is uncertain, however, whether more than 150,000 can be produced this year because of the scarcity of critical materials required in manufacture, such as metals and synthetic rubber rings required to seal pressure cookers.

Recapped Tractor Tires

Farm tractor and implement tires will be recapped hereafter only with a material made almost entirely of reclaimed rubber, and replacements will not be issued for tires that are recappable, the OPA has annoucned as part of a rubber conservation move.

Keep The Stub

Oil-rationed householders have been cautioned by OPA to preserve the identity stub of their heating ration, as it will be required when next winter's rations are issued.

Buy War Bonds

Marshalltown recently staged a two-day Victory Salvage Drive sold $400 worth of donated scrap and invested the sum in war bonds as a fund for a memorial to Marshall county's men in the present war. Forty-eight trucks manned by school students, business men and civic club members collected the scrap.

County Salvage Notes

E. S. Foster, Lucas County chairman, has completed plans for an intensive scrap drive during April, with local clubs, farm groups and business houses co-operating. Theme of the drive is "Praise the Lord and hunt the ammunition.'

Thomas Epperly, Butler county chairman, has set April 30 as the grand collection day for scrap. A special letter went to every farmer in the county along with copy of a letter from a local boy, Bob Scott somewhere in Africa.

Mrs. H. D. Makeever, women's chairman for Cerro Gordo county, has enlisted the aid of Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts for a house-to-house collection of fats and greases the first Saturday of each month. These groups use the money received from the sale of these materials for Junior Red Cross and other war work.

Grand Kelley of Wayne county and George Schweizer of Des Moines county are two chairmen, who are completing plans for an all-out scrap collection.

Hugo A. Holm, Hardin county chairman, is staging a drive with the help of all township officers, schools, Triple A, local business men and surap buyers.

Bremer and Buena Vista counties will stage drives April 29. O'Brien County's campaign is set for April 15, the same date as Woodbury. Warren county will go out after scrap on April 22, while northern Lee county will collect April 17.

This leading men's and boys' clothing store will help you keep your shirt on by selling you high class clothing and accessories at low prices. Dollars work miracles in this 48-year-old citadel of thrift. Come in and see for yourself how reassuring it is to get that $1.00 worth for which McGuire's is famous.

C. C. McGUIRE

One of No. Iowa's better stores for men & boys

"I'm Helping My Folks With Their Chickens!

I'TS OUR JOB TO KEEP 'EM FED

"That's what my brother says and he's in the Army!
"I'd go if I could, but I'm not old enough and anyway he says some of us have got to grow the food!
"He says it takes a lot of food to keep his outfit going and that it really gets you to see how hungry the kids are -- over across -- and he wishes Mom could set 'em down to a big plate full of scrambled eggs.
"After that letter came Mom said I'd better feed the chickens extra good. We've been getting more eggs since then and the young chickens are growing faster, too."
28% more chickens, 8% more eggs are needed this year. That's a big order, but we can fill it!
Raise better chicks...raise more chicks, but raise them in two lots rather than crowd them...grow your springs heavier...keep your hens well fed...take care of your eggs.

LONG WAY FROM HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sackett, Stone City, learned recently that two of their sons in the army, now stationed in Africa, had spent two days together. The two boys were filling their canteens at a small canal when Walter recognized his brother, Willis, standing just ahead of him in the line. The parents had not heard from Willis for some time and were glad to receive word that the two boys had seen each other.

Eagle Grove voters approved setting up an Airport Commission and building an airport by a vote of 995 to 162 in a city election held Monday, March 29.

No opposition developed over the airport. The procedure now will be for the mayor to appoint an Airport Commission of three, who will have charge of all details in connection with the project. At the proper time they will buy the site, supervise the grading, building the runways and erecting the necessary buildings. If the government wants this done right away, the commissioners will proceed at once. Otherwise the tax may be spread and collected and used when the favorable time arrives.

"The shacks being built for workers in the south are not fit to house Iowa hogs and cattle, say nothing of human beings. Hello to everybody in Belmond."

Get Ready To Black Out On A Moment's Notice

Advance Warning Will Not Be Given

Ed Kennedy, civilian defense chairman for Belmond has just received word that a surprise blackout or daytime alert can be expected some time within the next few weeks.

Mr. Kennedy will appoint an air raid warning controller in the near future who will be in charge of air raid precautions to be taken in this vicinity. In the first practice black out held in Belmond, one long whistle of the fire siren was the warning for blackout or alert. Two short whistles meant all clear. These signals will remain the same until further notice.

Ward Wardens in Belmond include Ed Chapman, Ward 1; C C Christie, Ward 2; Fred Fulton, replacing George C. Hansen, Ward 3. As there will be no advance warning it has been suggested that ward wardens check their wards to see that every block has a block leader, since some people have no doubt moved since the first practice blackout held several months ago.

George L. Kyseth, County Defense Council Chairman, says, "The tests will be timed to discommode the civilian population as little as possible. Yet these tests must, of necessity, involve people in their homes, on the streets, and at work. Everyone should acquaint himself with the alarm warning signals in his community so as not to confuse them with the fire alarm signals.'

Mr. Kyseth states further, Wright county had an exceptionally good record during the December blackout, and it is hoped that these surprise blackouts and daytime alerts will be equally successful.

Lyric And Community Club Sponsor Copper And Brass Scrap Drive

School children may take their scrap metal to the school house and have it exchanged for a theatre ticket for this movie.

The Lyric Theatre and the Belmond Community Club are urging all citizens in the community in the next few days to look up scrap brass and copper to be turned in next week.

Don Finn Has Been Places In South Pacific

Is Home Now On 23-Day Leave

Although it doesn't seem that long, it was just a year and eight months ago when S. E. Spriggel, recruiting officer for the Fort Dodge area, first interested Don Finn in enlisting in the U. S. Navy. And on September 2, 1941, Don, who thinks navy life is swell, was sent to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station for seven weeks boot training.

Those are the memories that were brought back to us as we interviewed Don this week, during his 23 day furlough with his father, Jack Finn of Belmond. Don, a member of the gun crew aboard ship in the southwest Pacific area, has visited Australia, New Zealand and countless south sea isles a number of times. He has experienced the terrifying thud of an enemy torpedo as it struck the hold of his ship. His recollections of the high winds and heavy seas in the "Roaring Forties" are far from pleasant. Yet all things considered he'll take the Navy every time.

As Don talked, he recalled the first weeks of training that led up to active service on the high seas. Seven weeks at Great Lakes, six weeks at the destroyer base gunnery school in San Diego and six weeks more in advanced study on Treasure Island in San Francisco. In just nineteen weeks he became a full-fledged sailor and found himself a trainer in a gun crew on a transport bound for parts unknown in the southwest Pacific.

Seaman Finn has seen a lot of Australia and compares the terrain and climate to that of the United States as about the same. "The style of dress is the same as ours," said Don, 'and all they lack is the 'Zoot suit for our drape shape with a stuff-cuff and a reet-pleat'." He has ridden a train through part of Australia. The food is substantial but not very tasty and the bread is so thin that it seems it never had a chance to rise.

"I've heard the sound of a good many guns fired but nothing to compare with that of a torpedo filled with 600 pounds of cast TNT," said Don. But it is just one of those things we've learned to expect and take it as part of our job.

Hunter Loses Billfold Hunting — Farmer Finds Billfold While Farming

The lost billfold advertised in the Independent on March 18, has been found, and Independent 'lost' ads in the classified section are still working 100%.

The billfold, belonging to Fred Robinson of Fairfield, Iowa, was lost during the pheasant season in March and was found a week ago last Saturday by Ivar Oppedal, farmer living northwest of Belmond. Mr. Oppedal was seeding oats at the time and noticed an open billfold lying on plowed ground near a fence. About eight feet away lay a dollar bill and part of another one dollar bill that had been badly gnawed by field mice.

Having seen the ad in the Independent, Mr. Oppedal brought the billfold containing the money, a ring and Mr. Robinson's licenses and other identification cards to this office. They were mailed to Mr. Robinson on the same day.

Need More Old Hose, Tin Cans Kitchen Fats

Committee Says Need Is Acute

Mrs. J. K. Hilton, Chairman Wright County Women's Salvage Committee and Mrs. H. L. Gowdy, local chairman are urging women to turn in more waste kitchen fat, tin cans as well as silk and nylon hose.

The need for kitchen fat, which is wanted for the manufacture of explosives, is growing more acute and officials say they have reason to believe many people are being lax about saving it.

The meat departments of the local stores and the locker plants are all prepared to buy the waste fats. They should be strained into any clean wide can and kept in a cool place until a pound has been accumulated. The fat is then gathered up by rendering companies who render the fats into tallow, with the waste materials going into dog food, livestock and poultry feeds and fertilizers.

The tallow goes to soap companies who in the process of soap making extract the glycerine, which is turned over to Uncle Sam. About 93 per cent of our glycerine comes as a by-product of the soap process. Waste kitchen fats yield 10 per cent glycerine, one of the most vital war materials. Fat salvage is one of the most concrete ways of participating in the home front battle of production.

Tin cans are as badly needed as ever. Depots have been set up in each town and city in the county where the cans—with labels removed, both ends cut out and thoroughly washed and then pressed almost flat—may be deposited.

Women who are lucky enough to have any silk or nylon hose left should remember that the worn out ones are still needed for the manufacture of gun powder bags and parachutes among other things. Through recently perfected processes almost 100 per cent of the silk and rayon content of these discarded hose can be reclaimed for war production uses.

In response to requests for instruction and disposition of salvage of all kinds the following information has been prepared:

Rubber, rags, iron and steel may be sold to the local junk dealers; door keys, ship to Baker Paper Co., Cedar Rapids, Iowa; dental instruments, ship postpaid to Dr. Harry Hurd, % Iowa Health Dept. Des Moines; physicians' and surgeons' instruments, ship postpaid to Dr. Robert Parker, % Iowa Dept. Des Moines; tooth paste tubes to be turned in to druggist when purchasing a new tube of paste—tin foil should also be taken to the drug store.

HEY! DON'T CUT THAT ROPE!

With The Boys In Service

We were given the following letter by Mr. D. D. Pals, which he recently received from his son Carl, somewhere in Africa.

March 12, 1943
Africa

Dear Mother:

I got your letter today. I have gotten about four since I got here and a few papers. I am feeling just fine and am getting along O. K.

The cablegram I sent before Christmas was a long time getting there, but I guess better late than never.

So Roy is in now too. I suppose it is cold where he is. I don't suppose he likes it, does he? I guess a lot of them have left by now.

I suppose you know by now that I am somewhere in Africa, but I can't tell you where. I am sending a picture, don't know if they will let it go through or not. It isn't very plain but it's the only one I have.

They use buggys for taxis here as gasoline is hard to get so they don't use cars.

Well, mother, there isn't much I can write about so don't look for many letters. You know I am all right so you don't have to worry about me. I'll get along alright.

Well, can't think of any more to write for this time so will close for now.

With love,

Carl.

My address is: Cpl. Carl Pals, 17017307
APO. No. 3 A. T.
New York City, N. Y.

Tyrrell Comments On Legislative Session

313 Measures Passed Out Of 905 Bills

State Representative W. C. Tyrrell, Jr. returned home Saturday, April 10, after the adjournment of a 90-day session of the State Legislature. The 1943 session was the 50th Iowa general assembly, and Mr. Tyrrell's first experience as a legislator.

Mr. Tyrrell reports that while in session the Legislature passed 313 measures: 304 of them bills and nine of them joint resolutions having the same force and effect as bills. These measures which were favorably acted upon, were selected from 905 bills introduced during the session.

Among 10 different committees on which Mr. Tyrrell served, he indicated three which seemed most important: Agriculture, Appropriations, Ways and Means. "I am sure that no legislation was passed which will hurt the farmers. On the other hand, some legislation was passed to help them," is one of Mr. Tyrrell's statements.

Regarding the "Time Bill" over which there had been considerable discussion and agitation, Mr. Tyrrell gives us some information. The original bill never passed the Senate, but a joint resolution was passed by both houses requesting the Governor to proclaim business houses and social institutions to regulate their time one hour later during the months of June, July, August and September to comply with farmers' hours. Mr Tyrrell says, "I am confident the Governor will perform his duty."

Investigation showed that three-fourths of Iowa's population live in cities and towns, including a good many war workers. Mr. Tyrrell explained, "Inasmuch as the time of government-controlled defense plants, railroads, buses, and the radio could not be changed, it was decided that Iowa should not be an isolated state on "Sun Time" with all surrounding states on "War Time."

Cooperating To Solve Farm Labor Problems

HATS!!!

C. C. McGuire has cooperated with the local Red Cross chapter so frequently, by donating the use of his store window for displays, that we thought another such display might be attracting attention there this week when we first noticed a striking card-board replica of a beautiful American girl in a red, white and blue costume, right in the middle of things.

But we were mistaken. The window was not filled this time with knitted woolen helmets for soldiers and sailors but rather with Easter hats for Belmond men in every size, color, kind and description. It will be surprising if many of the men who do the most razzing about the varying styles in ladies hats, do not do more than take a peek at the spring models for men in McGuire's window.

SMALL GARDEN PLOT

It doesn't take a large garden to have fresh tomatoes even in late winter. Mrs. Ed Lockner of Spencer has learned. Mrs. Lockner has a small tomato plant in a flower pot from which she has picked six large tomatoes and the plant still has green tomatoes on the vines.

Government Agencies In Wright County Will Work Together

All government agencies in Wright County will cooperate in the farm labor man power problem now facing some farmers, which may become more acute later in the season.

A County Farm Labor Advisory Committee has been authorized, consisting of representatives of the County Extension Service, County AAA Committee; Farm Security Administration, the County Draft Board Clerk, United States Employment Service, Office of Civilian Defense, a school superintendent and a representative farmer.

On the advice of the County Farm Labor Advisory Committee, local Farm Labor Committees will be appointed in the larger centers of the county to survey labor available for farm work, establish a labor supply center and to recruit labor. Local agents appointed by the U. S. Employment service will be used wherever possible. The suggestions and cooperation of all local agencies will be solicited in determining how the surveys are to be made in recruiting labor to assist on farms, either as full time labor or as seasonal emergency labor for special crop work.

All Farm Worker Volunteers and requests for farm labor will be registered in the County Extension Office and in the local center where the registration was now from farmers wanting farm made. There are more requests help for full time employment. Any men wanting to work on farms should contact the County Extension Office at Clarion or their local agent for the United States Employment Service.

Horses Are Absorbing Interest In Hunt's Life

Belmond Stables Include Prize Stallion

F. A. Hunt, owner-operator of the Case Hotel, has another business, or maybe it should be called a hobby because he enjoys it so thoroughly—the training and gaiting of saddle and show horses.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt came to Belmond from Lansing, Iowa, May 1, 1942, having bought the Case Hotel on the 20th of April. A short time later he brought his string of horses to Belmond.

At the present time Mr. Hunt has 21 head in his stables at the east edge of town, which include eight being trained for other owners. Those being trained at present come from Clear Lake, Mason City, Hampton, Garner, Goldfield, Webster City and Sheffield. Asked how long it takes to train a horse, Mr. Hunt replied 'About 30 days for ordinary riding. It takes 60 to 90 days to finish a horse to show.'

Mr. Hunt's interest in horses and his training of them dates back a long time. He has been training and gaiting saddle horses ever since he was a kid. He no doubt gained much of his information and knowledge about horses from his father who was an auctioneer and horse buyer.

Mr. Hunt wishes it were not such a problem to get help in these days as he would like to enlarge his stables and be in a position to train more horses. He says "More and more people are riding now for pleasure. In the cities especially, I have noticed that many who used to spend their leisure time on the golf course are now seen frequently on bridle paths." He also tells us about a group of farm women in the vicinity of the Greyhound Station near here, each of whom owns her own saddle horse. These women have formed sort of a riding club and get together on Sunday afternoons for cross-country riding.

Mr. Hunt expects to have several gentle horses available at his stables for anyone wishing to ride, all during the summer.

Last November, Mr. Hunt was offered $1000 for Golden Carnation Rex, his prize four-year-old chestnut stallion, whose ancestry and record as a sire were shown in last week's issue of the Independent. He expects to show both the stallion and Melba Bourbon, his 2-year-old filly, probably at Ft. Dodge, Mason City and at the Cattle Congress at Waterloo, if such expositions are held this year.

ENCOURAGES MORE PRODUCTION

During last month the Farmers Creamery Company of Belmond made a survey in cooperation with the Iowa State College Dairy Extension Service and the United States Department of Agriculture to find the average butterfat production of Belmond Creamery patrons' herds.

Our local creamery is to be congratulated on its records which show that the average butterfat production here is 229 pounds per cow per year compared to the average for the state of 200 pounds.

The United States Department of Agriculture is doing what it can to bring up the butterfat production of this country to an average 250 pounds per cow. It would seem to us that if this could be done, the problems concerning the rationing of butter and other dairy products would be greatly reduced.

Furthermore, if all dairymen could produce what 16 Belmond farmers have been producing—over 400 pounds of butterfat per cow per year—there probably would be no need to include butter and cheese in our rationed foods or to reduce the richness and amount of ice cream on the market.

REMEMBER THE LITTLE BUSINESSMEN

Lots of people feel that they can tell the government what to do and that their ideas are better than those that are being put into effect. Some suggestions that are made from day to day by ordinary civilians are really good ones.

Here is one we should like to offer. Let the government now profit from its experience with a new procedure started some years ago when it inaugurated the AAA to help financially distressed farmers who were having a h—— of a time making both ends meet when they could raise only 10 cent corn.

It seems to us that now is the time for the United States Federal government to fet busy, and quickly, to save the necks of some thousands of our little business men, not because they are harassed by selling their merchandise at ridiculous low prices, but, because of government control at present, they cannot secure sufficient merchandise to sell in order to pay rent, light, heat, salaries, insurance, interest and still have enough left to live decently, pay taxes and buy war bonds.

The government should not forget the little business man. He is just as necessary to the prosperity and welfare of this whole country as is the farmer or the big industrialist or the congressman.

FOR OUR SCHOOLS

Last weekend the Iowa State Legislature was putting in some overtime, cleaning up odds and ends of work and trying to come to a decision in the senate on the School Code Bill, which was passed by the House of Representatives earlier in the week.

From the information we had gathered about the bill in the daily newspaper, it seemed to us that its passage would have done much for the promotion of a better, all round educational system in the state of Iowa. However, even though the Senate did not pass the bill, its decision to appropriate $750,000 for the equalization of school costs in Iowa's 4,869 districts is a good move and should have far-reaching effects. The wise distribution of such an appropriation among Iowa's poorer school districts would do much to give all Iowa school children more equal educational opportunities than they have had up to now.

STRETCHING THE RATION BOOKS

Prof. H. G. Helyar of Rutgers university has taken the time to report that a 25 by 50 foot victory garden will produce a minimum of 2,772 ration points at current food ration rates. According to this Rutgers professor, a simple 25 by 50 foot victory garden will yield 3 bushels, or 54 quart jars of tomatoes, 1,481 points 1 bushel, or 16 quarts of snap beans, 358 points; 1 bushel, or 18 quarts of carrots, 256 points; 1 bushel, or 16 quarts of beets, 256 points; 1 bushel, or 9 quarts of lima beans, 274 points.

Those who have already tackled the spade work for a victory garden might keep this goal in mind. If a victory garden, 25 by 50 feet, will yield 2,772 points, it means 58 weeks of food rationing points for a single person, based on the present allotment of 48 points a month.

The whole victory garden movement is eloquent testimony to the ability of the American people to help themselves.—Mason City Globe - Gazette.

Prittle... Prattle....

Wouldn't want to say who it was, but the story about an usher in one of the local churches is too good to keep.

A deaf lady entered a church in Belmond carrying an ear trumpet. One of the ushers tiptoed to her side and said, "one toot from that horn lady and you're out."

If you are interested in first graders like we're interested in first graders then this story will tickle your funny bone.

"One of the best true "kid stories we have heard for a long time is the one about Dick, small son of Capt. and Mrs. A. H. Dulmes, former Klemme residents, but now residing at Brigham, Utah," relates Jergie Jorgenson in the Klemme Times. The tale was told by Dick's teacher to his parents.

"Dick is a pupil in the first grade and one day the teacher thought she would entertain the little tots by reading a story. Evidently the story was a bit long and not too exciting, as she noticed that Dick let out a couple of deep sighs, in a rather bored manner.

She read a bit more and then decided that perhaps the children possibly were a bit tired of the story, so she closed her book and remarked, "now children we will relax for a few minutes." Dick looked relieved and blurted out, 'Right now I could go for a beer!'

That remark really 'floored' the teacher. She had to leave the room for a good hearty laugh.

Down in Muscatine, where I stopped the other day," says Les Tebbe, "the restaurants lock the doors on you while you're sitting at the counter waiting for food." Les walked into a cafe about six that evening, gave his order and while waiting for his food noticed one of the waitresses locking the front door. He was informed the cafe was out of food for the day and just those already inside would be served. Our local coffee clubs are still functioning and fortunate to have a place in which to function. In some towns, according to our exchanges, restaurants are not even making the effort to stay open part of the day but are locking up for good.

Attending the funeral for his father, Joseph West at Meservey, Saturday was a son of Mr West, who, with his wife left by plane from Boston and was scheduled to arrive in Des Moines in time to get to Belmond before services started at the Fulton Funeral Home. However, two hours were lost in Chicago when the plane was grounded and they were delayed just long enough to miss the services in Belmond. As the procession of cars came to a stop in Meservey, Mr. West and his wife joined it.

Rommel and Ruml—those two names so much in the news these days—are mighty confusing to everybody, but especially to youthful newspaper readers and radio listeners.

For instance, there's the case of one Mason City sixth grader who came to her mother the other day with this complaint: "The radio announcers don't pronounce that word the same way twice. Sometimes they say Ruml and sometimes they say Rommel"

"Well," explained the mother, "There are two different persons. You know who Rommel is don't you?"

"Sure," replied the sixth grader. "He's sure paying as he goes too." From 'Straws' in the Globe-Gazette.

We had Physical Fitness this morning at 10:20, and was it ever tough. Really, some good exercises, but they are very strenuous, and I got tired. Then I had to take my platoon out and drill them after chow tonight.

We also attended a movie at 8:30 this morning on U. S. Navy Ships, which explained the various types of ships, etc. Another movie we saw this afternoon was called "Nazis" Strike." They are really getting us in the mood, and how!!

I would like to have a half dozen packages of cough drops as I have had a sore throat since I have been here. I don't want to go to Sick Bay, as I am one of very few who haven't been there from this company. Outside of my throat I feel very good. Of course, I have a few new muscles I didn't know I had.

These Sundays are surely lonesome, but if we can get this war over with, it is worth it. I will look for Bud Dorr. He may be sent to another camp at Farragut. However, they are not far apart. I'll have to get his addrress so that I can call on him. He won't be allowed to call on me for over a month, but I can pay him a visit now.

Starting Monday, our company goes to the rifle range. I hope we have a good company record. It means a lot on our record at graduation time.

THE 2nd WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

How to invest in "fighting dollars!"

UNITED STATES TREASURY WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

"Lend more money to help carry on the fight!" That's what our Government is asking you and all the rest of us . . . asking us to lend it 13 billion fighting dollars in the next few weeks! 13 billion extra dollars—over and above all regular War Bond buying!

We can do it . . . we must do it . . . we owe it to our boys who are fighting overseas. For their sake. . . .

We've got to build more ships! We broke all records last year when we built 8 million tons of shipping. This year, we're building 18 million tons . . . but still it is not enough!

We've got to do more fighting! More and more of our soldiers and sailors are going into actual combat . . . requiring more equipment, and more supplies. We cannot let them down!

We've got to buy more War Bonds! To help pay for the things our fighting men need . . . we've got to buy War Bonds as we never bought them before!

In the next few weeks you may be visited by one of the thousands of men and women who are giving their time and effort to the 2nd War Loan Drive. Welcome these patriotic workers if they call . . . buy from them all the War Bonds you can!

Better still, don't wait for them. Go to your nearest bank, post office, or War Bond booth, and invest more fighting dollars now! It's the least you can do to help those who are fighting and dying overseas!

Among the 7 different kinds of U. S. Government securities is one that exactly fits your own particular purse and requirements. These securities are the finest investment in the world . . . bar none! For your Country's sake . . . for your own sake . . . invest all you can!

THEY GIVE THEIR LIVES . . . YOU LEND YOUR MONEY!

Grow VICTORY GARDENS THIS SUMMER!

RAISE MORE FOOD—and Save All We Raise!

Here's the most important community job outside of our War Bond drive that we've undertaken since the war began. It's our big community Victory Garden program. We're all putting our shoulders to the wheel. Our goal is a Victory Garden for every family.

Everybody must cooperate in this vital work. Plan your gardens now. Make them as big as you can handle efficiently. If you had a Victory Garden last summer, have a bigger and better one this year. You'll be doing the patriotic thing and you'll cut your food bills too. You'll have fresh vegetables for your table all summer and food stored away for winter.

Victory Gardens mean Health, Economy, and practical PATRIOTISM. If you have any questions about vacant lots, size of garden, plowing of ground, what vegetables to plant, etc., see any of the local civic organizations. This year everybody will be gardening. We're all working together to produce enough food so nobody in this community will go hungry.

Have a Victory Garden, for your family, for your country.

Power Politics — AMERICAN STYLE

The frenzied paperhanger from Austria must now be suffering from acute insomnia. His vision of world empire is fading. His armies, once believed invincible by many, are beginning to know defeat. Many of his "supermen" are now tired and disillusioned.

And while Herr Hitler tosses sleeplessly, we wonder whether he realizes the enormity of his mistake in neglecting his railroads. For even in a land of "supermen," rolling stock must be kept in condition; engines should be periodically overhauled; roadbeds must be maintained; bombed railway centers must be given instant attention. The Nazi overlord has neglected these things. In doing so, he has violated a war principle as old as war itself—to maintain lines of supply and transportation so that armies may have quick mobility.

How thankful America should be that management foresaw the necessity of modernizing the nation's railroads. They are now in "fighting trim," and we are determined to keep them that way. ROCK ISLAND, for example, has for years pursued a comprehensive Program of Planned Progress. We have invested vast sums every year to make it one of the nation's modern rail systems, and we shall continue to keep it so.

Ours is the herculean task of moving fighting men and the materials vital to victory. War found us ready, and we shall carry on until victory is ours.

The Tip

The Tip by Goodell Schools

ANYONE CAN BE WRONG

Many people seem to think that they can never be wrong, but by this I do not mean all, but a great many. Many people can prove to others that they are right and the other person is wrong, but even the other will not admit that he or she is the one who has the wrong idea of a certain thing. Take school for an example, the teacher sometimes will not admit to the student that he or she is the one who is wrong; and this may mean something much greater in the life of the student than can be seen right at the present time. Everyone makes mistakes, whether they are teachers or anyone else. No one should form the idea that they are always right, unless, of course, they have proof for every word that they say. Some people have this, and it is a very good thing to know all of those things; but most of us do not have the time to spend on it. So, now, let us not all think that we can never be wrong.

Farm Machinery

To meet the farm equipment situation, the last remaining items of farm machinery needed for spring work on farms have been released for sale. Since no farm machinery repair and replacement parts and supplies were affected by the "freeze" and rationing program for machinery, these can be obtained from any dealer without any formalities. Nevertheless, new farm machinery will still be scarce enough to require pooling of machines wherever possible.

April 17 Deadline

Iowa shoe retailers have until April 17 to file an inventory of their stocks with their local ration bank or district IPA office. After that date it will be illegal for shoe-store operators to do business unless they have complied with the federal regulation.

Fencing Available

Fencing of all types has been removed from the list of rationed products by the federal Department of Agriculture. The action was taken because of inability of many local agricultural war boards to act promptly upon applications, and because of WPB regulations allowing sales to others than farmers. The WPB has granted permission for the manufacture of a wide style of poultry netting not previously permitted under regulations.

Farm Butter

The OPA has placed farm butter under price ceilings comparable to those for creamery butter. The OPA said that retail prices will generally not be changed by the order.

Need Officers

The U. S. Maritime Service has embarked on an all-out drive to procure officer candidates for service in the Merchant Marine. Stationary engineers, machinists with engine experience, college engineers as well as men with at least 14 months' experience in the merchant service, navy or coast guard are eligible. Recruiting offices are located in Minneapolis, Minn., and Omaha, Neb.

Only One-Third

Donald M. Nelson. chairman of the War Production Board, reports that only about one out of three housewives is turning in waste kitchen fats to the war program. If this situation holds true for Iowa, since 118,373 pounds of fat were contributed during February, then if every housewife would save one tablespoonful a day. this state could supply 355,119 pounds of waste fat each month. Waste kitchen fats yield 10 per cent glycerine, which is one of our most vital war materials. By-products of waste fats are used in making dog food. livestock and poultry feeds, and fertilizers.

Women and War

If we are to win the war. and win it more quickly, we must find a way to get more women into war work. Eighteen million women will have to be in war jobs in 1943. That means at least six million additional women to be recruited this year. Only about one out of four are needed for work in war plants. The other three are needed in necessary civilian services to take the place of men who have gone to the front. Women are needed to work in laundries to drive needed to work in laundries, to drive trucks and busses, as waitresses and store clerks. Sixty thousand teachers are needed, and 100,000 women are needed in transportation jobs alone.

Save Those Tubes!

Don't forget to turn in those old toothpaste and shaving cream tubes. During March, Iowa shipped 6,031 pounds of this salvage material, while the national total for the month was 522,359 pounds. Collections are shipped to the Tin Salvage Institute, 411 Wilson Ave.. Newark. N. J.

Hosiery Salvage

From Nov. 16, 1942, to March 15 of this year, Iowa has contributed 21,152 pounds of silk and nylon hose to aid in the manufacture of powder bags, parachutes and other vital supplies. This put our state in twelfth place in the nation's collection record. The national collection of 880,000 pounds represents approximately 18 million pairs of discarded stockings.

County Activities

In Dubuque county the YWCA shipped 100 pounds of silk and nylon hose during March and one of the stores 276 pounds. Girl Scouts are gathering fats on a house-to-house drive. Miss Esther Fritschel of Dubuque is the county salvage chairman. The Business and Professional Women's Club, Girl Reserves and Girl Scouts are aiding the tin can collection program.

Mrs. Everett Ferguson of Lisbon, chairman of Cedar County women's unit. reports 375 pairs of stockings shipped and more ready to go. Boy and Girl Scouts have collected tin cans in many towns of the county.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM OWEN WALROD

William Owen Walrod was born Sept. 24, 1890, the son of Fred and Idabel Walrod at Lake View, Iowa and passed away Saturday evening, April 3, 1943, at the age of 52 years, 6 months and 19 days.

At the age of 3 years he moved with his parents and family to Carnarvon, Iowa, where he grew to young manhood.

When 13 years of age, he began to help his father in the blacksmith shop, shoeing horses and assisting in the veterinary work of which his father was a doctor of veterinary.

In 1906 he went to Galva, Iowa, where he worked in a blacksmith shop.

In January 23, 1908, he was united in marriage to Jennie Mikelson of this place. To this union there were 11 children born. Ten are now living, with one child dying in infancy.

They have lived for 21 years in Belmond. The last 5 years, William, better known as "Bill" to his many friends, has confined most of his work to shoeing show and race horses, his work taking him into several states.

About a year and a half ago his health began to fail, but he was able to do light work at the Coast-to-Coast store. For the last five months he has been confined mostly to his home. On Saturday evening he had gone to town and was sitting is the Coast-to-Coast store talking to some of his friends when he suffered a heart attack. He passed away a few moments later.

He leaves to mourn his departure his wife; seven sons, Clayton of Pittsburg, Penn. Charles, Gerald and William, Jr., who are serving with the U. S. Navy, Laurence with the U. S. Army, Douglas and Dale at home; three daughters, Mrs. June Hanson of Alexander, Mrs. Lois Hanson and Mrs. Helen Busick of Liberal, Kansas; six grand children; five sisters, Mrs. John Meehan of Dayton, Iowa, Mrs. Frank Beck of Wall Lake, Iowa, Mrs. Ida McBride, of Iowa City, Mrs. Francis Thorpe of Carnarvon, Iowa, and Miss Lola Walrod of Carnarvon, Iowa; and four brothers, Charles Walrod, Alberta, Canada, Fred Walrod, Morris Plains. N. J., Homor Walrod, Carnarvon, Iowa, Adam Walrod in the army in Australia; besides other relatives and many friends.

Town Loses Families

Population Is Lowering

School Loses Students

That Belmond's population is diminishing as a result of wartime shifting is indicated by a report prepared this week by Supt. Johnson on the loss of school pupils since September, 1942.

This report shows that by far the greatest reason for pupil "drops" is moving out of Belmond and the surrounding area. Of the 53 children who have dropped out of the Belmond schools since September, 35 have left the community. This number represents 21 families.

During the same period of time 16 new pupils have enrolled, reducing the net loss to 37.

Of the pupils who dropped for reasons other than moving, 9 quit to take full-time employment, two joined the armed forces, one was forced to leave because of sickness, and six simply "quit school".

Totals for the entire school show that 479 pupils were enrolled in September as compared with 442 this week. High school suffered greater casualties per grade than the elementary school, grades 9-12 showing a net loss of 19 pupils compared with 18 for the other 9 grades. The large September junior class of 52 has shrunk to 44 and the freshman class has been reduced from 61 ao 55.

In table form the enrollment

Grades	Drops	New pupils	Net loss
K-6	24	10	14

Ed Jenkins Originates "Gang" Letter

Training With Navy Now In New York City

Ed Jenkins, a Belmond boy, started a service which has been increasing in value rapidly, when he originated the "Gang" letter for WSUI radio students, former students and radio personnel a few months ago at Iowa City.

By the end of last year, members of the WSUI personnel were corresponding with former students all over the world. That is how Ed Jenkins happened to originate his WSUI "Gang" letter.

With the help of present and former WSUI staff members he incorporated the news, which came in letters pouring in from everywhere, into a mimeographed letter (six pages, single-spaced) and sent it out to all the members of the "Gang" whose addresses were known. There were 82 of them December 12. On March 17, Jenkins wrote his second letter, and this time it was received by 140 former students, including radio workers all over America and service men in 27 states, Africa, Alaska, Hawaii and the Atlantic and Pacific fleets.

Editor Jenkins himself will now be on the receiving end of the gang leters. He has recently been inducted in the U S. Navy and is at present located at the U. S. N. R. Midshipman's School in New York City. He writes his mother, Mrs. William S. Jenkins of Belmond, "So far, so good; and if it continues I shall like it swell."

Easter services at 11 a. m. At this service Holy Communion will be celebrated. Announcement will be received on Good Friday.

On this glorious day of Easter triumph, now can we, with human voices, restricted vocabularies, limited minds, shortsighted vision, sin-swept lives, passion-swayed hearts, ever worthily thank God the Father, whose power ordained the Easter victory; God the Son, whose self-sacrificing love completed the Easter glory; God the Holy Spirit, whose enlightening help reveals to us in faith the eternal comfort of Easter truth? O triune God of power and love and enlightenment how—and were we to devote our entire lifetime, waking and sleeping, to Thy never-ending praise—can we sufficiently praise Thee that through faith in the resurrection of our Savior our deaths are changed from gruesome failures to eternal triumphs, and our graves, instead of remaining the cruel evidence of everlasting decay, are to witness the supreme glory of all existence—the resurrection of our decayed bodies and the bestowal of life everlasting? May the cleansing Spirit of God touch our hearts with the refining fire of faith!

Soup's On! OPA Cuts Point Values In Half

Frozen Fruits-Vegetables Also Changed

By order of the office of price administration, point values of canned and dried soups, all frozen fruits and vegetables will be drastically cut, beginning today, and black eyed peas removed from the ration list.

The reductions in most cases cut the coupon cost of the affected items by half or more. They were designed to encourage people to buy more of these items.

Danger of spoilage in warm weather was a factor in the changes on frozen foods and dehydrated soups. Sales of frozen foods have been slow and supplies have been filling up a considerable quantity of the available refrigerated storage space at a time when room was needed in the coolers for the new packs.

The cut on tomato soup was in line with a recent reduction on tomato juice, and the other soups were reduced because of generally slow sales.

OPA officials also announced they would consider cuts in the ration point values of luncheon ham, other types of ham and possibly an increase in the value of hamburger. These changes, if made, are expected at the end of the month, in line with the OPA plan to adjust coupon costs of different kinds of meat in relation to how fast or slow they sell.

Ham is about the highest item on the OPA chart, costing in some cases as much as 11 points a pound. The only thing higher than ham on the chart is dried beef—12 points a pound. Canadian bacon, 11 points a pound, may also be reduced.

To compensate for any point cuts, however, officials warned something else would have to be increased, probably beef hamburger which most people have considered a relative bargain at 5 points a pound.

Ann Goplerud Is In Africa With Red Cross

Says She Is Having Time Of Her Life

Ann Goplerud music instructor in the Belmond schools two years ago, writes her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Goplerud of Osage, glowing letters of her work somewhere in northern Africa in a Red Cross service club, and she says no one needs feel sorry for her as she is having the time of her life.

Miss Goplerud, a graduate of Grinnell college, was an insrucort in music at Ames before she was selected to do service work for the Red Cross. She took her preliminary training in Washington, D. C.

Her parents received two letters from her on April 10, which is the first word they had heard directly from her since she left New York. She left in a convoy which was taken part of the way by plane.

In the Red Cross service club where she is located, she states there are three units—one for Negroes, one for men of the allied nations and one for the enlisted men and the marines. She is with the latter group. The building is very large, housing all types of amusement for the boys.

The boys who have been "out" are thrilled to have tha opportunity of seeing and talking with American girls she states, as it is the first time for a long time that many of them have heard English spoken by girls. They are thrilled to have the unit with them and have been awaiting, anxiously, their coming.

Miss Goplerud says the boys love to hear the recording machine and to have music of any kind—they are hungry for entertainment and are so grateful to the Red Cross for providing the building and the service unit.

She says that if people could but know what the boys are going through they would be amazed and thrilled. She is happy to be able to provide a bit of entertainment for the men who are fighting for our country and says that the Red Cross as a whole is doing a marvelous piece of work.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Schram, Mr. and Mrs. Beade and Miss Haugh of Titonka were visitors at the Harold Neilson home Sunday.

Irene Thayer of the Waves Is Stationed At Washington, D. C.

Word has been received that Miss Irene Thayer, y 3-c of the WAVES was graduated from Milledgeville, Georgia, on March 15 and is now stationed at Washington, D. C. where she works with sailors, civil service girls and other WAVES.

Miss Thayer reports that her work, which includes filing, typing and abbreviations, is very interesting, and she indicates that one day she noted the names of Dr. Sam Leinbach of Belmond and Dr. Ray Bird of Clarion in the files. She also chanced to meet Duane Whipple of the U. S. Navy and she says, "It was nice seeing someone from the old home town."

Irene lives at special headquarters for WAVES and her working hours are from 8:00 until 4:30 o'clock. Her address is 1809 G. St. Waves Headquarters, Room 213, Washington, D. C.

Clarence Petersen and family spent Sunday with friends and relatives at Manson.

Lieut. Finn Writes Home

Adventures In Pacific

Fought at Guadalcanal

Last week Mr. and Mrs. James Finn received a thrilling letter from their son, Lieut. Clair V. Finn, who is with an artillery battalion of the U. S. Marines, in which he describes both the pleasures and displeasures of his trip across the Pacific and the fighting in which he participated on Guadacanal.

Lieutenant Finn says, "Our trips seemed to all of us more like a pleasure trip than anything else. Of course, we had a few duties like standing the gun watches once a day and occasionally catching the ship's guard. The rest of the time was like riding in a very nice, comfortable yacht. Had our own little cabins, good food, a library, and plenty of time for sleep. The nights were like they tell about in those 'True Romance' stories. Our gun watches were up on the bow where we could get the full appreciation of the fresh spray of salt water and the new, life-like smell of the South Pacific atmosphere. It was heaven on those trips.

About the fighting on Guadacanal, Finn says, "We went from position to position day in and day out, firing 75 millimeter ammuition all the time. It was a glorious feeling to realize that the commands that were coming to me and passed on to the men at the guns were the commands that will help bring peace again to the world some day. One fellow at one of the guns made the remark, "It feels great to be the last American to handle the one simple case and projectile that will bring pain to those little pests.'"

Lieutenant Finn gives due credit to the infantry troops and the air forces, but says the artillery units are essential to the success of the other two. He compares the artillery to the linemen on a football team. They don't get talked about, and get the glory of the boys in the backfield who carry the ball, but they are necessary to a winning team.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION ENDED

Belmond's W. C. Tyrrell Jr. finished a busy session as Representative from Wright county at the Iowa State Legislature last week.

Our conversations with Mr. Tyrrell from time to time, since he has been in Des Moines helping to make and revise Iowa laws, have convinced us of his sincerity in connection with his job during the past 3 months as a public servant. It is our impression that Mr. Tyrrell has given careful thought on all questions which came before him and that he has voted wisely.

Apparently Mr. Tyrrell has kept in mind two things which should be uppermost in the minds of legislators: Passing legislation which will do the most good for the state of Iowa and all its citizens. At the same time keeping in mind the problems involved in passing such legislation with the least amount of hardship on taxpayers who are so heavily burdened already.

WE INVITE SUGGESTIONS

Your local newspaper is a business organization composed of people who, like all other business men, have a primary purpose in the operation of their business: that of making an honest living for themselves and their families.

But as far as the newspaper itself is concerned, its main purpose is service to the community and to its patrons: those who subscribe, those who advertise, and those who make up the news which is printed each week.

The editors try to keep up with modern trends, try to print all the news and try to follow a safe and sane policy in all respects. If we slip up some times, such errors are unintentional.

In this issue we should like to invite our patrons to feel free at any time to give us suggestions for making the Belmond Independent a better newspaper. We shall happily welcome such suggestions and weigh them carefully as to their value in increasing the service of the newspaper to the community and individuals alike.

DILLY! DALLY!

Our Congressmen in Washington are going to spend so much time arguing about the details of changing the present draft law that before they know it weeks and months will have rolled by and possibly a million or more married men with families as well as financial and business responsibilities will have broken up their homes to enter the armed service, while thousands of footloose, carefree, independent, single men are still enjoying the safety, comforts, and luxuries of civilian life.

One of last week's daily papers carried a story about the proposed Kilday bill which has been passed by the House but which is being looked over with uncertainty by the Senate. This bill would provide for the drafting of men according to marital status and dependency on a state-wide basis rather than on the basis of quotas set for individual draft boards. The news account indicated that "the selective service objects to the Kilday bill on the grounds it would be too difficult to administer."

We grant that changing the draft law would make a considerable amount of work for somebody, but it seems to us this point is negligible compared to the good which would be accomplished in helping to keep intact as possible the structure of American life., which is built around the home.

—V—

WITH OTHER EDITORS—

Kay Kyser, when informed of the decision of the draft board, said that he was not only ready but willing and "rarin to go". It would be our guess that some of the other high lights in the entertainment world also have the same attitude as the band director, but their full story has probably not been told. The organizations for which they are employed are probably making a great deal more effort to get deferments than are the entertainers. — Allison Tribune.

—V—

There are a lot of old men and women on pensions who can still do a fair day's work. A majority of them would like to do it, too. That is one potential source of labor to be found in every community. —Clarion Monitor.

—V—

When General MacArthur was asked to comment on the order barring army men from bcomeing candidates for political office, his answer was characteristic of the fighting general, who is interested not in politics but in bringing to war to a successful conclusion at the earliest possible moment. The general's sole comment was: "Let's get on with the war."—Cherokee Times.

Unrationed food must be conserved as well as rationed commodities if America is to win the battle of food supply. Should the 1943 growing season be a poor one, the increased production goals cannot be met. One carrot left to shrival, one apple allowed to rot, one slice of bread allowed to grow moldy may not seem like great waste, but multiplied throughout the nation's 34 million families, a waste would be created which could supply nourishment for many families of workers an for many fighting men. Once America was known as the land of plenty and full garbage pails. Today the full garbage pail is a stigma equal to flying the Nazi crooked cross from the front porch.—Odeboldt Chronicle.

Noting that some of the Iowa legislators think it time that a wan who drives an automobile should be required to carry liability insurance, an exchange says "the insurance companies would oppose such a bill." We cannot see why the insurance companies would object, as a law compelling all drivers to carry liability insurance would bring them more business, and of course they would agree on premium rates and see that they were plenty high.—Webster City Freeman.

—V—

More plans to win the war and less talk from nudealers about the fourth term would suit the people a lot better at this time.—Webster City Freeman.

—V—

Thinking people generally agree that, if no sound plan for peace is devised before the war ends, the planning after the war is apt to be so colored by the hatreds and jealousies of the nations concerned that it will be doomed to failure, a condition which will in turn doom the world to another total war.—Atlantic News Telegraph.

—V—

After the break our representative to Russia made the other day about the Russians not appreciating the aid we were giving them, it is about time a new man should be sent there. If he was speaking for the administration in Washington, then it is high time we had a new administration. Peace cannot be kept with foreign countries by criticizing their attitude toward us no matter what we think about it. — Dumont Journal.

Classified ads and Ralph Christie are a jinx to this paper. Last year, Ralph Baker put in a classified, advertising that he wanted to buy some sows and the ad got in over the name of Ralph Christie. Ralph Christie gets a statement later for the ad, comes in and pays it and then discovers it was Ralph Baker's ad he paid for.

P—P

Last week Ralph Christie wanted to sell some milk cows and clover hay. The linotype has been getting the c's and s's mixed up all that week and Ralph's ad was just about the last three lines set on the machine for the paper that week and since it was time to go to press no proof on the last few lines was read.

P—P

Before the office force had a chance to read the paper Thursday morning, the gang at the postoffice nail yours truly to the wall with the question, "wonder if the milk sows belonging to Ralph Christie can produce milk to drink and pork chops to eat at the same time?" The ad read, FOR SALE—Two milk sows and some clover hay. Haven't asked Ralph about it but bet they were sold.

Our file of clippings comes to the rescue with the story taken from the Webster City Freeman-Journal of several weeks ago. Although it is a little late it is still a good yarn. We quote:

"This story appears in this column instead of in the news section because it happened so long ago that it isn't 'news' any more. But it will be news to many of you and it is one of those 'natural' stories every newspaper man wants a chance to write sooner or later. When it happened last fall, I heard about it by accident but promised not to reveal the facts until it was O. K. with everyone concerned. Now I've got the 'go ahead' signal from all the boys, so here's the dope:

P—P

It happened late last summer while they were getting ready for the big open tournament at the Webster City country club. Working on the grounds was a group of four local men. It had been pretty wet, and they found it necessary to move several trees to higher ground.

P—P

At the southwest corner of the links, at the edge of the trees, there was no dry spot available, so the group started to dig a trench to drain away the standing rain-water. It was Paul Swope whose spade struck a board and, when he tried to pry it out of the way, discovered it was the top of a small box.

Not until the quartet tried to lift it out of the way did they become definitely interested in the box. It was of such heavy construction, though only about a foot square, that it took the combined efforts of the four men to lift it. The men were still joking about their 'prospecting' ability—until they pried the box open.

P—P

Tightly packed inside were 14 leather and buckskin bags. And each bag was packed with gold and silver coins. There were nine bags of silver and five of gold and the coins were all stamped between 1870 and 1905. One of the untold secrets of the quartet has been the actual amount, but it is known to have been between $6,000 and $7,000.

P—P

Theories were numerous, but the best guess was revealed in the newspaper files which told of the robbery of an express car on the Burlington railroad, just east of Council Bluffs, in 1908. It is believed that the robber crew carried the loot this far in their getaway, and buried it at that spot and failed to return for it. The erosion of many years brought the box of riches near the surface, where it was found by the four golfers.

P—P

The men made honest efforts to find the owners but there was no establishment of proof of ownership so the four men took legal possession. Only now that final disposition has been made is the lucky find to be made public.

P—P

In case optimists have hopes of finding further spoils in that district, it is only fair to warn them that the ground has been thoroughly covered for several hundred feet and by use of scientific gold-finding instruments, to no avail.

P—P

Perhaps the strangest feature of the bizarre case is the fact that there is not a ward of truth in the entire story. Just an April Fool tale.

You will be surprised to hear that I went to Bible class last night and the Chaplain asked me to lead a discussion on Thursday.

Today we went to ahe rifle range, and I got 141 out of 150, not so good but I think I will do better next time.

April 8

We spent much of the day in drilling. Since I have caught up on all the details that have happened, I find it difficult to write much about the camp, since life here has settled into pretty much of a routine.

April 9

With the change of weather out here, it reminds me of the song, "When It's Springtime in the Rockies". It really is lovely here today. One can still see a little snow on the mountain tops.

April 10

For some time I won't be able to write very well. We had orders to take out all tables and benches from the barracks as a health measure while in quarantine so that I must write on the bunk. We haven't done very much today except march and decorate our yard.

Tomorrow we get our final shots and I am glad of it.

ALEXANDER

The senior class play, "Mystery at Midnight" by Mabel Conklin Allyn was given before a large audience Friday evening, April 16, in the Alexander gymnasium-auditorium. Loren Tinkey portrayed a sophisticated, black,hearted murderer who had kidnapped the baby of his wealthy aunt 18 years ago, and was now planning his aun't death so that he might fall heir to her money. He unexpectedly and very unwillingly acted as host to a group of people who were forced to beg his hospitality because of a severe blizzard. The first to arrive was the missing daughter, played by Billye Seals, identified by the locket which had belonged to her mother, played by Dorothy Bell. She was followed by the man who had been hired to kidnap her and kill her years before, Wilbur Pletsch, and the woman she thought was her aunt, Eleanor Loeffler, but who really was the woman paid by the kidnaper to take care of the child until she became of age. Then he intended to marry the girl and come back to blackmail the man who had hired him to commit this dreadful deed. A young lawyer, Marvin Blau solved the mystery, and won the love of the daughter. BUY COAL NOW!

The Dept. of the Interior urges all home owners to fill their bins early this season. Shortage of manpower and transportation facilities make it impossible to supply heavy coal demands in the fall and early winter.

H. A. Gray, Deputy Fuel Coordinator states that if home owners do not heed the warning much discomfort will result in not being able to secure coal when it is needed.

We urge our customers to place orders now so that we may avoid a serious shortage this fall.

"One of No. Iowa's Better Stores for Men & Boys"

THE HOME FRONT IN IOWA

Iowa retailers, who have had some difficulty in obtaining certain brands of coffee, will find that the new federal regulations requiring coffee roasters and wholesalers to move their stocks more promptly will soon relieve the shortage according to the Des Moines District Office of Price Administration. Many food stores have complained that after tying up their coffee ration coupons in orders placed with certain roasters, they have been unable to get delivery for periods as long as eight weeks and without their coupons, were then unable to place orders with firms which could make prompt delivery. Roasters and wholesalers have blamed help shortage for the delays. New OPA rules require the coffee suppliers to share with other roasters any overstocks of their workable inventories if the extra coffee is not moved in 24 hours.

Plan For Canning

Plans for the rationing of extra sugar for canning purposes are being studied by the Des Moines District Office of Price Administration, which has jurisdiction over 66 counties in Iowa. No definite ration allotments can be made until further instructions are received from Washington headquarters, OPA officials said. Last year Iowans received an average of 14 pounds of canning sugar per person, while the fruit canning average was 58 quarts as compared to the national average of 36 quarts Iowa ranked among the first five states in the 1943 sugar allotment for canning purposes. OPA officials said they expect an even greater demand for canning sugar this year because of the rationing of processed fruits.

Ration Banking

Some 450 of Iowa's 655 banks have signed up in the federal ration banking program, the Des Moines district OPA reports. OPA ration banking officials said the new federal regulation eliminating from ration banking the food retailers who have an annual volumn of less than $2,500 will greatly reduce the retail work required of ration banks. Shoe dealers, however are required to service their ration accounts at ration banks regardless of their business volumn.

Corn Moving

Iowa farmers who have hung on to their stored corn are beginning to sell to take advantage of the market which shows the effect of the new five cent increase in the federal price ceiling, OPA price control officials in Des Moines report. Many farmers held up corn sales anticipating a raise in price with the passage by Congress of the Bankhead bill, which the President later vetoed. Since a maximum price on corn has now been fixed, there now exists no reason for withholding corn sales, it was pointed out.

Plea To Markets

The salvage division of the Iowa War Production Board is issuing a plea to all meat markets in the state to handle contributions of waste fats and grease brought in by local residents. The need for these waste materials is rapidly increasing, the WPB said. Markets can turn over the collected fats and grease to their nearest renderer, who will gladly call for the supply. The WPB also urged housewives to increase their saving of waste fats and greases, and stressed the importance of putting only the pure wastes into containers to turn over to their local market.

Fish Is Popular

Des Moines fish markets report the demand for fish is double that of the available supply since meat rationing has gone into effect. They expect the supply will be greatly increased when the fishing season gets under way in both oceans provided labor shortage in fisheries does not cut down the volumn. Most popular of the fish family in Des Moines today is the ocean perch, with whiting a close second and halibut in third place.

Last Chance

Retailers of processed foods who have not registered with their local rationing boards and filed item inventories are being given a final chance to get in under the wire by OPA officials in Des Moines. Dead line for filing was April 10, with inventories calling for reports as of March 31. OPA food rationing officials warned all food retailers who have failed to register to secure form 1302 from their local board either by mail or by calling in person. Later the OPA legal department will consider the cases of unregistered stores.

Nearing Completion

A total of 34,227 War Ration Books II were issued in Iowa during March, bringing the grand total to 2,316,110 as of April 1. Since the population of Iowa in 1940 was listed as 2,535,430, OPA statisticians incline to the belief that registration for the ration book is pretty well completed, deducting for Iowans who are away from home in the armed services or other branches of war work.

Turn In Books

OPA statisticians in Des Moines reported that 4,229 ration books were turned back to local rationing boards during March. The majority were returned by men who were being inducted into the army and navy, in accordance with federal rules.

He Sold Fast

This Iowa storekeeper moved a little too fast for OPA. He put out handbills that he was going out of business and urged the people of his community to buy from him and not only save money but also 'save ration stamps." When Des OPA officials learned the merchant planned to sell rationed goods without the required ration stamps they hurried to stop the sale along the advertised lines. But it was too late! The merchant had sold his entire stock when the OPA arrived. Now the legal department is studying the matter .

Mrs. L. C. Dean of Glenwood, Mills county women's chairman, reports 860 pounds of waste wit reports 860 pounds of waste kitchen fats collected, a 100 pound shipment of stockings and all depots located for tin can collections.

Two other active women's chairmen are Miss Ruth L. Dawson of Marengo, Iowa county. and Mrs. Matt Conway of Creston, Union county. Both are reporting splendid results in the various salvage collections.

SELL

Perhaps it is an old dresser or table that you no longer are using.
Or maybe you have an extra stove you don't need, or a set of books you would like to get rid of, it might be something big, like a house or lot, or farm.
Or possibly a cow, horse, or flock of chickens.
Or it could be that you need something and would like to buy it, but do not know where it can be found.
Possibly it is an electric refrigerator, or a length of rubber hose.
Or a good used automobile tire or bird dog.

APRIL 16, 1943 CARRIE L. COURTNEY, Clerk.

THE 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

Come on, Let's WIN this war!

If we should lose the war, life would not be worth living.

"But we won't lose it," you may say.

Listen, brother—in this world nothing's sure, unless you make it so.

This month it's up to us here at home to do our part, and then some, to make Victory surer—and quicker! To do it, we've got to lend Uncle Sam 13 billion extra dollars.

It isn't easy—but war isn't easy and Victory isn't cheap. It takes money—and more money—to buy planes, ships, tanks, guns and a million other things our boys must have to deliver that final, paralyzing knockout punch.

And it's a whale of a lot easier for us at home to lend our money than for our boys to fight through the hardships and dangers of deserts, swamps, jungles, ice-fields and sub-infested seas!

Just think! Every extra bond you buy will help provide the weapons to save the lives of many American boys! Isn't that alone worth every effort, every economy you can make? You bet it is!

There are 7 types of U. S. Government securities to meet the needs of every purse. They offer the finest investment in the world—liberal interest, plus securities guaranteed by Uncle Sam himself.

A volunteer worker for the 2nd War Loan Drive may visit you soon. Welcome this unselfish patroit—and buy all the bonds you can. But don't wait for that call. Go—today—to your bank, investment dealer, broker, post office or bond booth and invest to your uttermost limit. Even if it hurts, it's nothing compared to the agonizing impact of a bayonet thrust, a flesh-tearing torpedo fragment or a bone-crushing bullet.

So dig deep, brother, and do it NOW!

There are 7 different types of U. S. Government securities—choose the ones best suited for you!

THEY GIVE THEIR LIVES... YOU LEND YOUR MONEY!

SCHOOL DAYS

The younger generation is at the present time answering the call of the school bell. The young men and women who are just a few years older are answering the call of Uncle Sam. That is a very good reason for the younger generation to make the best use of their school days and get the most out of them that they possibly can for they may need it when old enough to answer the same call as the people who are now serving their country.

The Seniors feel proud to occupy the seats which were last year occupied by the '42 graduating class. Many of the pupils who are in the Senior class will depart for service or advanced education, but everyone hopes that whatever anyone of them chooses they will find it suited to their personality and also helpful to their country.

Everyone who thinks that he is just enojying himself is doing it at the cost of someone else and so he should get busy and help himself along.

Group action is being studied in psychology, and the different degrees of thinking are very puzzling.

The senior class is working on their class play. The title of it is "Don't Darken My Door". The cast of characters has been chosen, and everyone has started to learn their lines.

Freshman and Sophomore News

The English class is still reading short stories, and they are all very interesting. "The world wide advance of European Civilization" is the main topic in history. Banks and banking are being studied in business law. Projection and related theorems are taking up most of the time for geometry.

FARM LABOR—

the United States Employment Service, School Superintendents, local OCD chairmen, mayor and representatives of the local businessmen's organizations.

The urban committee will have charge of making the local rouse to house survey of all men, women, boys and girls available for emergency and full time farm work and also to assist local representatives of the United States Employment Service in filling requests for farm labor.

Local School Survey

Local school superintendents will be asked to make a special survey of students who will be available for full time or emergency farm labor from the high school Victory Corps. The survey to be conducted in urban centers and all schools do not promise employment nor bind one to accept employmet offered. The purpose is to have ready a reserve pool of available farm labor. It will be urged however, that everyone cooperate in this program and accept farm employment if not essentially employed now.

Wage Agreement

The County Farm Labor Advisory Committee did not go on record suggesting any definite wage scale for either full time or emergency farm labor. Definite arrangement as to rate of pay is to be left to the employer and employee.

Wright county's request for emergency labor is expected to be high because of demands for detasseling corn, sugar beet workers, potato field workers and extra help needed by farmers at harvest time. Probably competing with the demand will be the construction of the hemp plant at Eagle Grove and the new egg freezing plant at Clarion.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

We have noticed considerable publicity recently to the effect that Iowa cities are becoming increasingly aware of juvenile delinquency. We have also noticed that several of the larger cities are attempting to do something about the problem.

In each case where juvenile delinquency has been investigated, the interested individuals, committees or organizations have reported that the blame rests on the home, and the opinion seems to be that the presence of members of the armed forces in a community cannot be blamed for social evils that have always existed there. Dr. A. Ben Colyar of the Broadlawns General Hospital in Des Moines, who was a member of a recent panel discussion on juvenile delinquency has this to say, "If you have brought up your boy right, you don't have to worry about his being affected by contaminating influences he may meet in the armed services."

Now Belmond is not a city like Des Moines with the same kind or quantity of temptations for young people, necessarily. But neither is Belmond immune from evil influences that beset young people everywhere. It is not our wish to offer advice or suggest any solutions to the problem. However, in a town like Belmond, it would seem that parents should keep such problems in mind and that discussion groups might do some good as a preventative measure rather than a corrective one.

—V—

BIG STAKES

If it hasn't occurred to you, or if you haven't taken time to think much about it yet, let us remind you that Belmond is playing a big part in this war and is holding big stakes in the fighting that is going on.

Of course, we can mention many examples that prove this is so, including the thousands of dollars of war bonds purchased by our citizens, the considerable amount contributed by the prosperous taxpayers of the community to the big national war budget, the volunteer work done by the local draft board, the rationing board, the Red Cross and many other war-time agencies and organizations, as well as the longer, harder working hours put in by our farmers and our business men due to present labor scarcity.

But all of these things, important as they seem, are small indeed compared to the biggest stake of all—our men and women and boys from this community who are giving loyal, unselfish service to their country, with some of them making the supreme sacrifice of life itself. Our soldiers and sailors and flyers are facing the same dangers that are besetting other fighting Americans. There is hardly a week passes any more when we don't hear of someone from Belmond or Wright county who has been chilled with fear at the thud of a torpedo, scared speechless when the machine gun fire of a pursuit plane comes too near, or gets boiling mad when he sees the suffering and sorrow inflicted on helpless women and children by inhuman war lords.

Yes, we do have big stakes in this war, and somehow we will protect those stakes, no matter what the cost may be.

WISE MOVE

Paul McNutt, war man power commissioner, backed by the authority of President Roosevelt, made a wise move—and it came none too soon—when he clamped a modified job-wage freeze order on approximately half of the nation's civilian workers, an action which will affect about 27,000,000 persons employed in essential industry and agriculture.

Frequent changes of jobs, whether for increased pay or for some other reason, do not make for efficiency, and if there ever was a time when the United States needed the utmost in efficient labor, it surely is now.

—V—

WITH OTHER EDITORS—

Every farm family is keenly aware of the difficulties of farming in war time. Maybe farmers should stop once in a while and count up the advantages, too. Talk to city workers, and farm people will find reason to be thankful for the following:

1. Point rationing does not apply to the shelves of canned fruit and vegetable in the cellar. And there's a big garden coming on soon.

2. Empty butcher shops don't mother a farmer with ham and bacon in the smoke-house and with frozen meat in the locker. Voluntary meat rationing is no handicap when there is plenty of unrationed chickens and eggs.

3. Milk delivery troubles in the city don't hinder bringing a pail of milk from the barn to the house. There's plenty of milk for the children on the farm.

4. Even tho farm people are working harder than usual, they are working at the same job, in the same place. They don't have to pack up and move a thousand miles to find a new job, as many town people have done.

There are plenty of other advantages, but these are enough to start with. Count them over when the going gets rough.—Wallace's Farmer.

—V—

We doubt very much that the allied armies will have to force their way into Berlin. As soon as the leading war lords realize that Germany is licked and that an invasion is just around the corner, they will wilt and surrender, just as they did on November 11, 1918, the Kaiser scooting to Holland to escape the wrath of his own people. That's the way cowardly leaders always perform when confronted with tests of their courage. None but cowardly men would treat helpless people in their power as Germany has treated the inhabitants of the subjected countries of Europe, also the Jews, even in Germany.—Wemster City Freeman.

—V—

At a time when other forms of transportation are being curtailed, the continuance of the railroads' safe and dependable service, and also their payrolls and purchases in the state, are of great benefit to Iowa merchants and producers. — Nora Springs Advertiser.

California has one man who is prepared for anything the war may bring. Emil Soeth, a squatter of Woodland, Cal., has for 17 years lived only on walnuts, raw fruit and jackrabbits and during that time has never bought a single item from a store. With more like him, our resources could go 100 per cent into the army and navy, and we might lick the world. But nobody would make any money. Or have any fun. And who wants to fight for a walnut and a jackrabbit?—Oelwein Register.

—V—

Iowa hasn't done so badly with war bond purchasing, folks! The old Hawkeye state leads every state in the union in percentage of increase in 1942 purchases over 1941, we notice by The Minute Man. Iowa's percentage of gain was 399—not bad! The nearest state to us was Alabama with 244. Hawaii was way above all of us, though. The Hawaiian islands showed up with a percentage of increase of 1,394 and the Canal Zone was next with 840.—Storm Lake Pilot Tribune.

How's this for an all around utility vegetable. It is called Celtuce by Burpee, the Philadelphia seed man, who imported it from western China in 1938. After four years of experiment, he is now selling the seed on a commercial basis, at 35c for ¼ ounce.

Celtuce is a combination vegetable. When young, the light green leaves may be used as lettuce or boiling greens. Three months after the seed is sown, the stalks look like little palm trees. The outer skin is peeled off and the heart is eaten either raw or cooked. The taste is suggestive of lettuce, celery, asparagus, broccoli, zucchini and summer squash. That's what Burpee says.

A man can do some things just as well as a woman, if not better. If a woman gets interested in serving a good meal, she's likely to give more attention to the linen, silver, glassware, and flowers than she does to the food.

Not so a man.

A man likes to eat right alongside the kitchen stove. Then he can eat one course while another is in process. If still hungry after eating what was cooked, he can open the icebox and extract a bowl of fruit or a cheese. While consuming these he can start the coffee.

Under the man's plan there are few leftovers, usually none. The supply of food is geared to the appetite. Except that someone later must clean the kitchen floor, stove, table, sink and wash the dishes, the man does a good self-service job.—(Imperial Magazine.)

Where to stick stickers has stuck many serious students of sticker sticking. The law of the land says that a series of stickers must be stuck on the car. Most motorists stick their stickers on the windshield, but the increase in number of stickers has more or less stuck the sticker stickers. Of course, stickers may be stuck on the rear window, but too many stickers stuck on them will be as inconvenient and dangerous as the motley array of stickers now stuck by the stickers on the windshield.

Ebenezer D. Buskin, the bucolic wizard who is attempting to cross celery with asparagus so the former may be eaten as noiselessly as the latter, believes that he has a timely solution to the problem of stickers who are stuck on where to stick stickers. He proposes that the entire windshield be covered with stickers.

Each car will carry a periscope through which the driver will peer. It will, according to Ebenezer, have one safety advantage that present cars lack. The driver will be able to see in all directions—with rear-vision mirror attachment. Still, even this ingenious device is cold comfort to an A-card driver with 20 miles to go and a teaspoonful of what it takes.—(From a Letter to The Christian Science Monitor.)

:-The "Crow's Nest"-:

By George C. Hansen, A. S.

April 11

Here it is the end of five weeks, and I sure am homesick tonight. It seems like a long time that I have been away from Belmond, even though the time has gone fast. Our company has only one more MUST to make and that is the gun range, outside. We also have interviews coming up about placement after "boot" training, which are for the benefit of individuals.

—CN—

April 12

It is kind of difficult to get accustomed to the weather here. It doesn't rain, but we have a lot of heavy dew. Of course, when the sun is out, it is really beautiful on the mountains and the pine trees, and in the day time it gets quite warm.

—CN—

April 13

We have started on our sixth week, and Company 153-43 is one of the oldest in the camp. They are bringing lots of new men in each day.

—CN—

April 14

Our company received orders tonight that we go on Rebimental Guard duty for five days. That means everyone in the company. This is one thing everyone has to do before graduation. Some of the men will stand three different guards in 24 hours. I have two.

10 of us were picked as Regimental Messengers for Camp Scott. My hours are from 4:00 p. m. to 8:00 p. m. After that I go on as C P. O. Guard from 10:00 until midnight for five days. This will mean covering Camp Scott in two hours and seeing that all guards are on duty and that everything is properly secured after which I make my report to headquarters. There are something like 36 buildings as well as 50 guards to check. We don't have any other duties or drilling while on this guard duty, but must take the usual care of our barracks.

—CN—

April 15

The various buildings at Camp Scott are all contsructed around a central Drill Field. At one end of the field is the Mess Hall which is 300 feet long (about a block), in which 450 men can eat at one time. The food is served cafeteria style.

At the other end of the field is Ship's Service where we can buy ice cream, malted milk, cigarettes, stationery, etc.—But not enough candy to satisfy our craving for sweets.

On the south side of the field is the Drill Hall which is about 350 feet long, and on the opposite side are the barracks and wash buildings. The barracks have an average capacity of 300 men, and one wash building serves two barracks. A road encircles the entire camp, and on three sides of us we can see the Rockies.

Grade School Circus Well Attended

A large crowd attended the grade scrool circus in the school gymnasium last Thursday evening. The blanket of mystery, which had covered this show from the time the date das announced to the public, was lifted by Supt. Miller's announcement that the evening's entertainment was to be an exhibition of the accomplishments of the physical education classes under the instruction of Miss Jean Brandt. Somersaults. backward somersaults, cartwheels. pyramids, are only a few of the many acrobatic stunts the boys and girls performed, and the older ones exhibited the more difficult stunts. The acts by the students were interspersed with the comical antics of five clowns, Miss Brandt, Miss Slusher, Mr. Harris, Mr. Harnack and Mr. Hutchins. The audience was also amused by a donkey act of three donkeys (six boys) with Mr. Harris as trainer. The Boy Scouts showed how easily and quickly a seven-foot wall could be scaled using the correct technique and Miss Slusher performed a bit of magic by causing Miss Brandt to float away through the air with absolutely no human help. The high school band provided music for the circus.

Nelson-Olson Nuptials

In a beautiful candle light ceremony performed at the Badger Lutheran church, Badger, Iowa, Miss Laurine Joyce Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Olson of Thor, became the bride of Mr. Herbert B. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nelson of Belmond, on Saturday evening, April 24, at 8 o'clock. Candalabra, palms and mixed flowers formed the setting of the double ring ceremony read by the Rev. A. B. Olsen of Badger.

Mrs. O. N. Siverson who played the wedding marches also sang "O Promise Me" preceding the ceremony accompanied by Mrs. W. Thorson. Nuptial music was softly played during the exchange of vows. She also sang 'The Lord's Prayer" as the bride and groom knelt at the altar.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a lovely white slipper satin gown cut on princess lines with full gathered sleeves and train. The sweetheart neckline was outlined in tiny seed pearls and she wore a finger tip veil with a coronet halo. She carried a bouquet of Easter lilies and her only ornament was a lock and chain, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Clifford Nelson served her sister as matron of honor, attired in a blue chiffon gown and carried a bouquet of red snap dragons. The bridesmaid, Mrs. Clifton Courley, sister of the groom wore a red taffeta gown and carried a bouquet of yellow jonquils. The rings were carried in cala lilies by two small boys, Charles O'Brion of Fort Dodge and Arthur Hopkey of Alexander. Little Phyllis Gourley of Mason City scattered rose petals in the bridal path. The groom was attended by Clifford Nelson and the ushers were Elmer Olson Jr. and Melvin Nelson.

Mrs. Nelson is a graduate of the Eagle Grove high school and has been teaching in Webster County rural schools. Mr. Nelson is a Belmond graduate and attended the Lutheran Bible Institute in Minneapolis. At present he is at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in Illinois where he will return Sunday. His bride will join him in several weeks.

Better Iowa Gardens

In early spring, when moisture is plentiful and the soil temperature is low, seed is planted shallower than later in the summer when seeds are planted deeper so they will come in contact with soil moisture. Seeds are planted deeper in sandy soils, which dry out more quickly than heavier ones.

Very small seeds are covered very lightly, while larger seeds are planted more deeply. In general, plant seeds at a depth of about 6 or 8 times their diameter. Follow the directions on the planting chart or the seed packet to be sure.

Most gardeners sow seed too thickly. Small seeds should be sown as thinly as possible; even then it will be necessary to pull out excess seedlings to allow room for plants to develop. Each plant in the row should be given the recommended distance from its neighbor in order to develop really good vegetables. Large seed, such as that of the bean, should be placed at the recommended distances for the plants to develop. No thinning should be necessary with the large seeded crops.

Often a heavy rain after seeding will pack the soil and form a surface crust that seedlings can not grow through. Break up this crust with a rake, but be careful not to injure the seedlings underneath.

Asparagus that has been established does not transplant satisfactorily. The asparagus planting that has been doing poorly and has thin spears should be discarded and a new planting made with year-old nursery-grown plants. The same is true with rhubarb. Rhubarb plants should be lifted and separated into small divisions transplanted every 4 to 6 years.

Cabbage plants and all plants transplanted to the garden should possess strong root systems. The plants should be strong and stocky —not spindly. Cabbage and other plants should be set only a little deeper than they stood in the seedling plot. Tomato plants are an exception and should be set deep. Only a few inches of the top need be above the soil. Tall spindly tomato plants should be placed in a trench and covered, allowing a few inches of the top above ground. Rooting will take place along the stem, producing a stronger plant.

Roots of transplants should not be allowed to dry out. A good amount of soil should go with each plant. Some gardeners make a mud bath in a pail in which the roots can be kept from drying out.

NOW

IS A GOOD TIME TO LET PEOPLE KNOW YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO SELL

SELL

Perhaps it is an old dresser or table that you no longer are using.

Or maybe you have an extra stove you don't need, or a set of books you would like to get rid of, it might be something big, like a house or lot, or farm.

Or possibly a cow, horse, or flock of chickens.

Or it could be that you need something and would like to buy it, but do not know where it can be found.

Possibly it is an electric refrigerator, or a length of rubber hose.

Or a good used automobile tire or bird dog.

ALWAYS REMEMBER -- Whatever it is you would like to sell, there is a buyer for it.

And if there is something you want to buy, you can often find a person with that same thing to sell.

THE HOME FRONT IN IOWA

The Des Moines District Office of Price Administration has been rceiving reports that some customers havng red and blue ration stamps in excess of their needs are giving these stamps to retailers and in some cases to other consumers. The OPA calls attention to the fact that the transfer of stamps, except for actual purchase of rationed commodities, is an illegal practice that could endanger the rights of offenders to all ration privileges. Retailers who accept ration points illegally are also liable to penalties under the raw.

Such illegal transfer of ration stamps, OPA points out, results in some consumers getting more than their fair share of essential, scarce commodities, and officials warn that should the practice become widespread, the entire rationing program would be endangered or might result in a forced decrease in the per person allotment of rationed goods.

Housewives are urged to destroy any unused stamps in their possession at the end of a ration period, or x them out with ink if they are left in the ration book.

Must Register

All firms producing rationed meats, fats, oils and canned fish from non-rationed livestock, cream, vegetables and fish will be required to register with the Office of Price Administration as primary distributors under the meats and fats rationing program. Such registration must be completed within 15 days after April 30, the Des Moines District OPA office announces.

A wide variety of processing firms and individuals will be required to register, including creameries, cheese factories, meat packers, local slaughterers, butchers, meat processing and curing plants, extractors of vegetable oils and farmers who sell butter, meat, lard or cheese.

Primary distributors transfering rationed commodities worth $2,000 or more per month or who use ration points for securing rationed items will register with their district OPA office. All others will register with their local rationing boards. Ration boards have the forms for both classifications.

Now's The Time

Iowans are urged today by the Des Moines District OPA office to "get ready for winter while the sun shines." Now is the time, the OPA pointed out, for persons who burn oil to get that insulating job done, put in some weather-stripping, get those storm windows and doors made, and thus be ready to cut down on fuel next winter. OPA officials said they can foresee little indication of increased fuel oil allotments ahead.

Exchange Is O. K.

A consumer may ask his retailer to exchange a cut of meat that was bruised or otherwise unfit for use when it was purchased, the Des Moines OPA points out. The customer may then receive other meat of the same point value. Certain defects in meat are detected only after the meat is inspected at home, and in some cases, only after it has been cooked. In no case, it was emphasized, can the butcher refund ration stamps to the customer, although any difference in money price may be adjusted as necessary. Similar regulations apply to other rationed commodities.

Face Questioning

Holders of B and C gasoline ration cards who went pheasant hunting more than 45 miles away from their home territory may be asked a few embarrassing questions when they apply for a renewal of their ration before their local rationing board. Only 90 miles of non-occupational driving is permitted on B and C gas cards, and OPA officials warned pheasant hunters of the consequences before the season opened if they strayed too far from the home base. Reports have been received in Des Moines that some 50 car license numbers were filed with the local boards as having been seen '.out of bounds."

To Move Scrap

The salvage division of the Iowa War Production Board plans immediate steps to move scrap piles which have been accumulated for months and have never been collected for disposal to the war effort. The WPB points out that uncollected scrap piles have made some patriotic citizens feel lukewarm toward the scrap drive, and is urging all county salvage chairmen to clean up old piles in their localities.

Passes Million Mark

Marshall county reports 1,322,800 pounds of scrap collected to date in the spring drive, or better than 57 per cent of their six month's quota. In Linn county the entire county is divided into four-mile areas in each townshp in the hunt for farm salvage. The goal in each Linn community is to secure enough donated scrap to buy a jeep or any of the many other army items which costs $200 or more.

THE 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

The Command has Come—

"Attack!"

THE big push is on! This is the fateful summer that we have been waiting for. Hitler knows he must win before another winter rolls around, or face inevitable annihilation. And you can be sure that he will hurl everything he has—every gun, plane, soldier and tank—into the summer struggle that is even now rising in tempo on every front.

And when the command goes out to our fighting men to ATTACK—you can be sure they don't look for excuses. They don't hesitate. They strike fast and hard—as they did at Guadalcanal, in Tunisia and in the skies over Europe.

NOW the command has come on the home front to attack! To attack with the dollars that buy the weapons of war our boys must have to meet the last desperate assaults of Hitler. Your government asks you to lend it 13 billion dollars during this drive. And this historic 2nd War Loan Drive, which started April 12th, is the most urgent appeal America has ever made!

The time is short—act now!

When you attack with War Bonds you don't suffer pain or anguish—you don't risk your limbs or your life as millions of our boys are doing every day. All you do is make an investment—the safest in the world. You help to secure Victory now—and your own financial security.

During this drive if you are visited by a volunteer War Bond worker, welcome him. He will explain the 7 different types of U. S. Government obligations you may choose from. But don't wait for his call—go at once to your nearest bank or Post Office or place where they sell War Bonds. And answer the command to ATTACK by buying more War Bonds—and still more War Bonds!

THEY GIVE THEIR LIVES...

The Right To Worship As We Please

The church, to the enemies of America, is a monstrosity to be destroyed. They would padlock its doors and send our children goose-stepping in search of new gods. They would substitute pagan rites for the simple, sustaining beauty of our commemoration of the birth of Christ.

So today America is at war—a war we're going to win. We are determined that our church bells will never be stilled, that every American shall have freedom to worship God in his own way; that Christmas and the spirit of Christmas shall never die.

That is the solemn pledge of fighting Americans on the war fronts and working Americans on the home front.

Everyone knows that the world will enter upon a happier and a brighter era when Victory comes—an era in which there will be a new concept of the majesty of the soul and the real meaning of "peace, good will toward men".

That Is Worth Fighting For!!

Give Suggestions About Destruction of Moles

Moles are swinging into their spring offensive in lawns, heaving the grass and working under the borders of perennials. County Extension Director Aaron R. Bowman suggests three different ways ot getting rid of the pests.

The quickest method is to use either calcium cyanide dust in a dust gun, or car exhause gas introduced by a hose on the end of the exhaust pipe. Work must be done rapidly and the hose should be injected every 10 feet along the runway. This method probably will have to be repeated at least twice for complete results.

Mole traps are effective, but a bit of advance preparation is necessary. Tramp down all runways, then observe which runway is reopened first. Do this another time or two until you are sure which one is always opened up first, then tramp down again and put the trap there.

The third method is suggested if you don't have moles in your lawn at the moment, but usually are bothered during the summer. Scatter lead arsenate over the lawn at the rate of one pound per 100 square feet of surface, then soak into the ground with water This method of mole prevention was developed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife at Lafayette, Ind., and has proved effective in all parts of the country.

The lead arsenate doesn't kill the rodents, but will keep them off the lawn from 1 to 5 years. Lead arsenate should not be placed on any soil being used for strawberries, however, or on land where strawberries will be placed in a year or so.

Teacher Turnover This Year Is Unprecedented

Belmond Has Thirteen Vacancies

Thirteen vacancies in the teaching force of the Belmond school for next year represents what is probably the largest turnover in teachers in the history of the school. At the present time none of the vacancies have been filled although several contracts have been offered to applicants.

A variety of reasons for leaving the local school have been given by the teachers who do not plan to return, including matrimony, health, and the expectation of going into other lines of work or finding better paid teaching positions.

The School Board voted at its April meeting to increase teachers' calaries in Belmond approximately 15 per cent, but in spite of the increase a large majority of the teachers rejected their contacts.

Those from last year's staff who have signed contracts to return are Principal F. I. Wagner; Miss Adelaide Anderson, high school mathematics; Miss Lois Deleplane, girls' physical education; Edith Jensen, instrumental and vocal music; Mrs. Viva Parker, fourth grade.

"One of the most difficult positions to fill will be that of athletic coach, inasmuch as men are very scarce and particularly men in this field," is the opinion of Superintendent Johnson.

Boys Reach 18 Years And Registered In Month of April

Seven boys in Wright County reached the age of 18 years in the month of April and will be registered for selective service. They are as follows:

William A. Parker, Belmond, Iowa.

Robert La Don Brady, Belmond, Iowa.

Earl Maurice Simmerman, Goldfield.

James Walters Clagett, Eagle Grove, Iowa.

Russell Francis Martin, Clarion, Iowa.

Wayne Eugene Vandervort, Dows, Iowa.

Roger Kenneth Hanson, Belmond, Iowa.

Beekeepers Suffer 50% Loss During Winter

Suffering the heaviest loss in 20 years, Wright County Beekeepers at their annual meeting in Clarion on Tuesday evening, announced the failure of nearly half of their colonies of bees to survive the winter. There are 75 beekeepers with nearly 2000 colonies of bees in the county.

Gerhard Thompson of Norway Township was elected president of the Wright County Beekeepers replacing Raymond Jones of Goldfield. Forrest Coulter of Goldfield was re-elected secretary .The new officers with the unanimous approval of the other beekeepers at the meeting made arrangements for continuing the Bee Inspection Service to control foul brood in Wright County.

The state bee inspector will start this service in Wright County the second week in May. Beekeepers who are missed in this inspection should notify the county extension director or offices of the Beekeepers Association.

SUCCESSFUL CHURCH YEAR

Tuesday evening, April 27, the members and friends of the Alexander Reformed church had an evening's program celebrating the fact that the new church building dedicated April 28, 1942, was completely paid for by December, 1942.

A program was given consisting of a ladies sextet who sang "Drifting." A mens group and boys group each sang two numbers and two girls gave a dialogue. Slides were shown of the pictures taken during the time the church was constructed and the church history was read by Carl Barkema. The pastor was given an increase in salary as recognition of his work. Lunch was served by the Ladies' Aid.

Telegram

Urge Farmers To Raise More Food

The following telegram from Chester Davis to Wright County farmers received at the office of the county agricultural agent, indicates the urgency of his appeal for increased food production.

"This is the most important planting season in American farm history. We can still increase the number of acres we plant. In a very few days it will be too late. The War Food Administration is asking the farmers to plant to the limit for critical war crops, food crops, and feed for livestock. In the drive that has been made to increase the acreage of beans, potatoes, and oil crops, there was no intention to minimize the importance of other essential crops. Expanded production also of feed grains and hay is vitally necessary if we are to continue our record heavy production of livestock and livestock products. The War Food Administration is organizing the country's latent labor resources to help with the harvests this year. Acting with manufacturers and with other agencies of government, we will do our best to see that more harvesting machinery is ready by the time it is needed. We will work for continuing price supports at fair levels in order to minimize risks in the market place. We ask farmers, on their part, in the days that remain of spring planting, to take an extra degree of chance this year for their country—to plant in full the acreage they can expect to handle under the most favorable circumstances."

WAACs Train T-Sgt. McLeese In Radio Work

Many Seeing Action In Air Corps

A leter from Juanita McLeese, Technical Sergeant with the WAACS, indicates that she is finishing a thirteen weeks' radio mechanics course this week at Kansas City, Missouri.

Miss McLeese has been a member of the WAACS since January and began her training at Fort Des Moines. She was a teacher in the Belmond schools last year.

About her experiences with the army she has many interesting things to report. She says, "This should give you a laugh. I'm tired of school, so I join the army, and they send me back to school. Believe me, this is by far the toughest piece of schooling I've ever received. Since I have been here I've constructed a five-tube superhetrodyne receiver and made it work. Yes, it surprised me too."

Sergeant McLeese says that all of the girls who have gone out from the radio mechanics school are now stationed at air bases throughout the United States, that they go on routine flights and are working on transmitters and receivers in the planes, with some of them making parachute jumps. She says, "We are all pretty thrilled and anxious to get out and try to apply a little of our newly acquired knowledge. The only thing that worries me is that I don't know just how much I have acquired."

Regarding the lighter side of life in Kansas City, she has this to say, "When I first came here there were about 500 WAACS and 4300 soldiers attending radio school, and now there are 1,000 WAACS and 7,000 soldiers. Nice odds! ! "

Schoolhouse Safe Is Robbed Over Weekend

Loss Estimated Between $75.00 and $80.00

A loss of between $75.00 and $80.00 in cash and war stamps is estimated in the robbery which occurred at the school house some time between 6:00 p. m. Saturday night and Monday morning.

Superintendent Johnson had done some typing about 6:00 o'clock Saturday evening, but no one had been in his office after that until the robbery was discovered by Chris Groen, janitor, Monday morning when he found the lock had been broken and the safe entered.

Sheriff R. E. Wilson was called immediately for an investigation, and he is working on the case at the present time. As yet he has no theories to offer.

Aside from the broken lock, no other destruction or damage has been discovered. All pennies and all checks were left behind. Nothing else was taken that can be determined.

Belmond Makes Survey To Locate Farm Labor

Be Ready For Surprise Blackout By Knowing Signals - Precautions

Thomas Hood, Air Raid Controller for Belmond, has announced signals which will be used locally in case of a surprise blackout.

The signal for Blackout will be one long blast of the fire whistle, and two short blasts will be the signal for All-Clear. In order that blackout signals may not be confused with fire alarms, the whistle will be weaved up and down in case of fire.

Other suggestions made by Mr. Hood regarding blackout precautions include: stopping of all traffic, both pedestrian and vehicle in case of a day-time alarm and no use of telephone service during a black-out or a day-time alert. Mr. Hood reports that only two telephone calls were made in Belmond during the first blackout some months ago.

Block wardens are instructed to turn in reports after a blackout to the City Hall.

JOYCE ANDERSON PLEDGED TO ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA

Miss Joyce Anderson, Belmond student on the campus of Coe College in Cedar Rapids, will be pledged to Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary scholastic fraternity for freshmen women, on April 29. Only those women with the highest scholastic attainment are recognized by this national organization since a grade point of 2.5 maintained for at least two quarters is necessary for membership. Miss Anderson, a member of Kappa Delta sorority, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orphie M. Anderson of Belmond. Her brother, Kenneth, graduated from Coe last spring.

Is Part of County-Wide Effort

Local school and house-to-house surveys of urban centers are under way in Wright County to locate full and part-time farm labor.

In Belmond the survey was planned by a committee made up of C. C. Benson, United States Employment Service representative; Stephen Hardwick, Ed Kennedy, C. C. Christie, Supt. Theodore Johnson, H. H. Mennenga and R. H. Gowdy. The survey is being made in the town by the block wardens, who are filling out information cards on all available labor—men, women, boys and girls—and also listing all men between ages of 18 and 45 in the town.

The surveys suggested by the Wright County Farm Labor Advisory Committee are being undertaken to tap all resources, men, women, boys and girls in this county to relieve the present full time requirement for farm labor and the expected emergency demand for part time labor during corn detasseling, weeding and turning of sugar beets, hemp turning and to supply the extra help needed by farmers at harvest time.

Local farm labor committees have also been organized in Belmond, Clarion, Dows and Eagle Grove. Local farm labor committees will be selected in the other urban centers in the county within a short time.

Local school superintendents are making a special survey of students who will be available for full time or emergency farm labor.

Survey cards filled out in the house-to-house survey and the school survey will be placed in the hands of the local United States Employment Service representative who is working with the Extension Service in filling requests for farm labor. Farmers needing additional help should contact their local United States Employment Service representative and if the request cannot be filled locally it will be passed on to the County Extension office at Clarion who might fill the request from some other portion of the county, or if no farm workers are available, pass it on to the District United States Employment office.

With The Boys In Service

The following letter was recently received by Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Pals Jr. from their son Johan, somewhere in the south Pacific:

March 30, 1943.

Dear Folks and Bros.:

I got your letter and Alvin's last night. Sure was glad to hear that you are still well and getting along okay. I'll write Alvin one of these days. Some of the other people there wonder why I don't write to them more. Just tell them that I wait until I get a letter from them first and then I answer it right back. What do they expect of me just to sit down every day and write them a letter when it's so hard to write a letter and not much of anything to write about? I manage to write home every week and sometimes twice.

Another day and it will be April fool's day, time is sure going by.

The mosquitoes are quite thick and big over here and we have to sleep under a net every night.

Are you going to raise any of that new crop they call "hemp?" Also read that you can raise all the corn you want and soy beans this year. You farmers just keep up the good work and raise all you can of everything because we sure need it, we need your cooperation.

That will be all for this time so will close with my best wishes and good luck to you. May God be with you and protect you.

With love
Your son and brother,
Pfc. Johas L. Pals

Mrs. Ethel Quandt has recently received word that her son, Rudy J. Quandt, Aviation Machinist Mate stationed at Jacksonville, Florida, has received the rating of 2|c Petty Officer. Rudy is checking planes to make sure of no defects before they are sent out.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Kinseth received a night letter from their son Pvt. Reynold Jr., who is stationed at Camp Haan, Calif., stating he had a week end sight seeing tour of Los Angeles and Hollywood. Pvt. Kinseth also enjoyed dancing at the Pladaium at Hollywood, where Glen Grey's orchestra was playing.

Chief Petty Officer. Harold R. Sorenson, on leave from the Navy is visiting his wife, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sorenson. Sorenson has seen service with the Navy for over eight years. At the end of his leave he expects to return to San Diego where he has been assigned as an instructor in a submarine school.

Klemme

Pfc. Frances Pearson of Camp White, Medford, Oregon, arrived home Saturday evening on a 14 day furlough. Mrs. Frances Pearson and Lydia, Herbert and Melvin Pearson met him in Ames.

Alexander

Pvt. Jerry Stoffer wrote another letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Stoffer, that he was moved to a different location of the islands. He said that the weather is wonderful, and he likes it there very much.

Mo. M. M. 2c Robert Rodemeyer wrote home that he is very pleased to be receiving mail again. He has three letters from home since March 17, but all letters written during the months from December to March returned to the sender after being literally all over the world.

Goodell

Corporal John Hubbard who is in the Medical Corps in Fort Riley, Kansas, surprised his parents Sunday and came home for a three day furlough. He had taken a patient to a hospital in Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Chelsvig received word Monday from their son, Raymond, who is in the navy. He is at Bremerton Wash., and will be home for a furlough this month. They had not heard from him since last June.

Sorenson Says Sub Duty Is Best Job In Navy

Has Been On Active Duty Since 1939

Chief Petty Officer Harold Sorenson, now home on a visit with his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Sorenson, states that he wouldn't trade his job as Chief Electrician on a submarine for duty on any other type of ship in the navy.

Harold explains, "Aside from the many advantages one has on submarine duty, there is a feeling among the men that if they are going to get theirs, they will get it quick, without the chance of being crippled for life."

Sorenson enlisted in the Navy eight years ago and from 1935 to 1939 received training for submarine duty. In 1939 he was placed on a submarine for active duty and has been on that type of ship up to the present time.

He tells us that life about a submarine is as normal as could be expected. The men have hours on duty and off duty. The food is of the best, although they are unable to store fresh fruits and vegetables which are replaced with dehydrated foods. Living quarters for the crew of 46 men on Sorenson's ship were comfortable if somewhat cramped. Shaped like a barrel the acutal living quarters are approximately 22 feet in diameter and 36 feet in length. This space contains the bunks, refrigeration, main switch board, oxygen tanks, storage battery, cooks galley and lavatories. In some ships there are bunks in the torpedo room.

Sorenson was on active duty when war was declared and since that time has been all over the south Pacific area making contact with such places as Shortland, Island, St. George's Channel, Australia, Solomon Islands and New Zealand. He says "Nothing makes a submarine crew feel better while in port than to see other submarines coming in with small flags painted on their conning towers, each flag representing an enemy ship destroyed."

Each submarine operates more or less as a lone-wolf, covering a certain specified area and staying out for a period from four weeks to two months, depending upon what action it sees. Sorenson's job is at the diving station of the ship—taking the submarine up or bringing it down at the command of the Skipper.

MOTHER'S LOVE

Her love is like an island
In life's ocean, vast and wide,
A peaceful, quiet shelter
From the wind, and rain, and tide.

'Tis bound on the north by Hope,
By Patience on the west,
By tender Counsel on the south.
And on the east by Rest.

Shine faith, and truth, and prayer;
And through the changing scenes of life,
I find a haven there.

SHOES!!

The American women, who have demanded a great deal of ingenuity on the part of style experts in planning a wide variety of clothing to suit their needs and tastes, haven't anything on a large percentage of American men these days.

We are referring to a recent story in the Des Moines Register which gave some statistics about shoes for Uncle Sam's army which, since Pearl Harbor, have been made in 32 different types and 249 different sizes ranging from 3½ AAA to 15½ EEE.

If feet can be used as a measuring stick, this goes to show that all types and sizes of American men are helping to successfully wage war against the Axis, whose soldiers are not nearly as well provided for as ours, especially in footwear. "No other army in the world provides its soldiers with so many sizes in shoes," said Lieut. Col. John T. Curtis, director of procurement, adding that the German army had less than one-third as many sizes and no half sizes.

TO HELP THE FARMER

One of the most worthwhile projects that Wright county has undertaken in some time is the survey of all possible farm labor, full-time or part-time, the purpose being to find available workers to help our hard-pressed farmers during the busy planting and harvesting seasons which lie just ahead of us in the next few weeks.

The city of Belmond is giving its hearty cooperation in this project by making a complete survey of the town for available labor, and it is our opinion that this project should be effective in bringing together with the least amount of effort the men who want and need work and the farmers who need workers.

HEADACHE!

Here is something else to give Hitler and Hirohito a headache. We are told that in 1943 U. S. Airplane production will reach nearly 100,000, which is nearly double the production of 1942. 50,000 planes built in a year looked like a big order when it first came out, but American industry has gotten the job don.e And what is true of airplanes is true of other things: ships, tanks, guns.

WITH OTHER EDITORS—

An editorial appeared in a weekly paper about a month ago which stated that after the war the allied nations should gather the iron left on battlefields. This would consist of guns, tanks, cannons, and other weapons of war. The iron could be placed in one large pile to be ready for use at a future time if such ever was necessary—and which is hoped by the entire world it never would be touched. This would assure us of plenty of iron and at the same time our enemies could never use it against us at a future date.—Thornton Enterprise.

It's certainly a remarkable tribute to the Red Cross that when it asks for money the people turn in and more than double quotas. That's one branch of human activity that politics has never gotten into. The names of political "big shots" are scarcely ever mentioned in connection with the Red Cross; which is doubtless one reason why the great organization holds the confidence of the world.—Algona Advance.

To supply man power for the farms yank 'em out of the defense plants and put 'em back onto the farms from whence they came, hoping to get more money and maybe escape going to the army. Fill their places in the defense plants with women or from the tremendous pool of unused man power made up of those who are not subject to military service but don't do anything but go fishing, although well able to work.—Fairmont Sentinel.

A public spirited citizen here realizing the increasing menace of labor leaders, suggests: Permit labor to organize but put a low and strict ceiling in membership dues. A good suggestion. This plan would allow workingmen to organize for their own protection, without being forced to pour the flow of wealth into the pockets of labor leaders that is giving them a dangerous amount of power. In other words, the plan would tend to take the "racket" out of workingmen's unions.—Emmetsburg Reporter.

—V—

In other years a meeting of Hitler and Mussolini meant two weeks of fanfare and bombastic expressions for the ears of the world and in reality, much ado about nothing. In contrast, the latest meeting of the two axis leaders rated no advance fanfare and they really had something to talk about, but there is no special enjoyment of talking about a noose that is tightening around one's neck.—Osage Press.

Wendell Willkie's book, "One World" is already a financial success. It has brought the former republican candidate for president again into the political limelight. Mr. Willkie does his own writing, employs no ghost writers. Publishers say advance sales were nearly 55,000 copies, total sales already 310,000. It is the biggest initial sale since "Gone With The Wind", which eventually reached 1,250,000 sales. — Marshalltown Times-Republican.

—V—

After this war is won, this country is going to have more crackpots telling us what to do than ever before in the history of this nation. Some of our leaders, even today, seem to worry more about what is going to happen to the heathen than to our men in uniform. We have said it before and will say it again—Win the war right now and quickly. Let us cross the bridge of what is to happen, after we come to it.—Monteduma Republican.

—V—

The Emmetsburg Democrat is a war casualty. It has temporarily suspended because of difficulties arising from war conditions. Its name implies that its editorial policy was founded on democratic party faith. We regret to see democratic papers die out. As it is, they are limited in number in Iowa. Their continuance stimulates interest in all party movements. It guarantees freedom of discussion of political differences. We are of the opinion that as party opposition fades the zeal of republican workers also tends to weaken. We believe in the maintenance of the two party system, the editorial rivalry of partizan newspapers and the active participation of partizan workers. A strong republic of representative government was built upon those foundations. —Lake Mills Graphic.

Prittle... Prattle....

Every business man faces certain disagreeable aspects of dealing with the public that make life unpleasant. Perhaps a banker's peeve is the continual explaining he is required to do about bank service charges.

P—P

Here is a suggested schedule of new bank service charges which came to our attention this week: Charge for entering bank: front door, 50c; back door, 25c.

Charge for spitting on bank floor: plain, 10c; tobacco juice, 25c.

P—P

Charge for asking for your bank balance: in civil manner, 50c; in quarrelsome manner, $1.00; second time, $2.50; third time, $5.00.

Charge for cussing a bank officer: president, $1.00; cashier 50c; teller ,25c; any vice president no, charge.

Charge for leaning on teller's window: one elbow, 50c; both elbows, $1.00; for leaning on president's desk, $5.00.

P—P

Charge for requesting a loan: hopelessly, $1.00; persistently, $2.50; profanely, $5.00.

Charge for telling a joke to a bank official: clean $1.00; dirty, no charge.

P—P

Charge for keeping a date in bank lobby: with brunette, 50c; with blonde, $1.00; with red-head, if you introduce her to the bank gang, no charge.

Charge for keeping president from golf game: $100.00.

Charge for interfering or delaying president's fishing trip: confiscate all their funds currently in the bank.—Sheffield Press.

It was on. April. 8 that our Mayor published a notice over his signature requesting those who owned dogs to keep them on their property. Seems like that is a reasonable request and most important this year with everybody babying a garden. Dogs are all right in their place but their place certainly isn't in your neighbor's garden. Rabbits are bad enough.

P—P

Wouldn't mind having the same arrangement about our fomily garden that Clarence Petersen has about his. This last warm evening we had, remember, Clarence and Florence were more than giving the black soil the works. Florence said if her husband would help put in the garden she would take care of it. Pete said it was a deal and what businessman wouldn't?

P—P

If you haven't thought about it, then it's time to count 'em up and give credit to at least 50 women in 35 Belmond business firms who are helping to maintain our city's reputation as a good business town.

P—P

War has taken their husbands and their husband's clerks, but business still goes on much the same as usual. A good many of them are getting a new perspective on life on Main Street as their husbands saw it—. Probably a good many of them now realize why it was so hard to get hubby to help with the spring housecleaning—mowing the lawn and many of the other jobs that are always waiting to be done around home. They weren't kidding when they said they were too tired.

P—P

The Greek, our local candy merchant, has gone into potato farming. A bunch of the boys were kidding him about the hard work he would be letting himself in for.

"Shucks," said Pete, "I was born on a farm, not in a candy case."

This afternoon we had another swimming test, more instruction on life-saving, preparations for abandoning ship, what to do about sharks and oil fire on the water. It was all very interesting but not so easy. For instance, if you have to abandon ship, sailors should stay close together, and splash water to cause a disturbance in case they should sight a shark. All of our company had to remain in 15 feet of water 40 minutes with no rest and no life jackets.

April 21

This morning we had a lecture and demonstration on 30 caliber Browning water-cooled machine guns. Some piece of fire arm! I think Claude and Roy would enjoy practicing on it. These guns shoot 530 shots per minute and are accurate at shooting at a three-mile target. In practicing we shoot only about 120 a minute, which isn't so hard on the barrel of the gun. The barrel is water cooled and the tank holds 7 pints of water. We also had a lecture on 45 caliber machine guns, which will hit accurately on target at a distance of four miles.

April 22

I am listening to the George Burns-Gracie Allen program. This is the first time I have listened to a radio since I came here.

I am pretty tired again tonight. We stayed in 15 feet of water agoin today with out rest. Folks back home would be surprised at the things we have to learn about handling ourselves in the water.

HAVING FUN

Jerry Hickok, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hickok of Hayfield, found a shotgun at his grandfather's home and proceeded to shoot it. He found some shells and loaded the gun. He went into the yard and discharged both barrels at the same time. The boy came out of the scrape with a skinned and bruised cheek, caused by the recoil of the gun.

Oscar Hensel Says....

IT'S HAPPENING EVERY DAY

Yes, it's happening every day, just like I told you it would; people are coming in every day asking for baby chicks and we are having to turn them down, because we are sold out on the day they want them.

It's going to be just as difficult to get CHICKS later unless you have a definite order placed, therefore, if you want June chicks place your order now, so we can plan and set so they will be hatched at the time you want them. Don't forget it takes three weeks to hatch baby chicks, so we will be setting for June hatches very soon.

Regardless of where you are going to buy your late chicks, place your orders NOW.

THE HOME FRONT IN IOWA

Food rationing officials in the Des Moines Office of Price Administration believe the public can help restaurants and hotels unmeasurably if they order meals which do not require ration points in the purchase of the food served. One official says he usually eats a dinner like this: He starts with head lettuce and any kind of prepared salad dressing, and follows with fish or chicken, potatoes, a fresh vegetable of some kind, milk or tea, bread and butter and tops it off with jello if he wants a dessert. "In that meal butter is the only rationed item, except for the shortening or cooking oil used to fry the fish or chicken." he points out. There are many other unrationed items which can be added to the menu, and eating establishments would get a real "break" if their patrons would try to help them now and then by ordering an "unrationed" meal, he suggests.

Enlarging Ration Boards

Iowa ration boards are rapidly being increased to a membership of 12 to 15 public spirited citizens who are aiding the war effort by giving their services without pay to carry on the huge rationing program. The original ration boards consisted of three members, whose chief duty was the rationing of tires. Now it is the plan to have a panel of three members to have jurisdiction over each commodity, dividing the work so that the public will receive more prompt service. Membership of the 95 boards in the Des Moines district is rapidly approaching the 1,000 mark, OPA officials estimate. Each board also will have a member designated as the "community service member," who will issue information to the local press, trade groups and business institutions regarding the rationing program.

Plan Meetings

The Des Moines district Office of Price Administration will hold educational meetings throughout the 66 counties in the district after the new over-all food regulations have been announced. Announcement of the new regulations is expected shortly, OPA officials said. They are intended to simplify procedure of arriving at ceiling prices on all foods.

Just A Rumor

Rumors that fuel oil tanks can be filled during the summer without ration coupons are erroneous, the OPA at Des Moines points out. The new winter fuel oil program will, however, permit summer fillings, and the OPA expects to start soon, perhaps in June, to register applicants and issue the necessary coupons. Summer purchases do not mean that additional rations will be allotted the OPA said, but merely gives the consumer an opportunity to get his fuel oil in the tank before winter sets in. Iowa's fuel oil quota for next winter has not been allotted to date, so officials could not say whether or not the state is facing a cut in the ration. Meanwhile they urged that all consumers do everything possible to increase the efficiency of their heating facilities.

A Good Record

Iowa was in tenth place in the nation's standing on April 15 in the collection of silk and nylon hosiery for war purposes, the salvage division of the Iowa War Production Board announces. Collections in Iowa from Nov. 15 to April 15 amounted to 36,524 pounds. During that period, 1,239,050 pounds were collected in the entire nation.

In Second Place

Waste kitchen fats collected in Iowa during March totalled 116,963 pounds, putting Iowa in second place in Region 6. The state turner 42.7 per cent of its monthly quota. The national collection for the month reached a new high of 7,312,617 pounds or 43.9 of the quota.

Rubber Ruling

The salvage division of Iowa WPB has been notified by the Rubber Reserve Co. of Washington, D. C., which handles scrap rubber collections, that effective May 1 it will only purchase from dealers the following grades: tires, miscellaneous inner tubes, tire parts with the exception of beads, tread buffings, airbrake hose and clean solid tires.

Don't Detach Stamps

Pre-detached ration stamps and coupons cannot be accepted by retailers, the Office of Price Administration warns all consumers. Under the regulations, stamps must be detached from ration books by consumers in the presence of the retailer or one of his agents. The rule was made, the OPA points out, to prevent counterfeiting of stamps and coupons, trading between consumers, and sale of stamps to others by persons who find that they have a surplus.

Perhaps it is an old dresser or table that you no longer are using. Or maybe you have an extra stove you don't need, or a set of books you would like to get rid of, it might be something big, like a house or lot, or farm.

Or possibly a cow, horse, or flock of chickens.

Or it could be that you need something and would like to buy it, but do not know where it can be found.

Possibly it is an electric refrigerator, or a length of rubber hose.

Or a good used automobile tire or bird dog.

Miss Cook, of Marengo, was singing her first solo when a storm put the organ out of commission. This did not keep Miss Cook from completing her solo. Later, she was highly complimented by her music instructor for composure under the circumstances.

Scott Davis Residence Is Damaged By Fire

Belmond Fire Department was called to the Scott Davis residence in southeast Belmond late Saturday afternoon.

When the fire trucks and company arrived, the rear of the Davis residence was enveloped in flames, caused, it is thought, by an overheated oil stove. Most of the home was saved, although it was badly damaged by fire in one part and by water and smoke in the rest of the residence. The house was covered by insurance.

Part of Graduation Issue

"Hoofbeats" Is Printed

Find It On Page Eight

For the past several years, Belmond business and professional men have offered their congratulations to members of the graduating classes of Belmond High School through the medium of the Belmond Independent.

This year the publishers of the Independent started out in the usual manner to plan for the graduation issue, but they found the response of the merchants so cordial and hearty in regard to this matter, that it was soon found necessary to increase the normal size of the paper in order to carry all of the CONGRATULATIONS.

Then at a late hour, another idea presented itself. The newspaper, could not, of course, replace the high school annual "The Bell," which is not being published this year, but perhaps it would provide a means for the seniors to record some of their high school and senior events that are of special and lasting interest to them. Consequently, the Belmond Independent, in this issue carries a special page called "Hoofbeats" which is in reality a printed last edition of the school paper for this school year. This section was made possible by the cooperation of the staff of the school paper.

"Hoofbeats" may be found on pages seven and eight, and here you will find news stories about graduation events yet to take place: Baccalaureate Service to be held Sunday, May 16, in the auditorium with Rev. H. J. Knoploh as speaker; and Commencement on Thursday, May 20 in the school auditorium with Bob Burlingame, radio news repoter for station WHO in Des Moines, giving the address.

Other features of the school section include a story on the Junior-Senior Banquet, reviews of the Senior Class Play "The High Srhool Mystery" and high school athletics for the year, a record of the Seniors activities, bits about the high school faculty, as well as copies of the senior class will and prophecy.

"Blowing Our Horn"

Occasionally the Belmond Independent feels that it is entitled to "blow its own horn" about the value of advertising, in view of the results such advertising brings.

Last week Herman Schultz, local druggist, informed the Independent that he had received a C. O. D. order for merchandise advertised in the Independent's classified section from a subscriber in Wichita, Kansas.

Another Belmond business man, Don Harris, of the Belmond Greenhouse, reports unusually good Easter and Mother's Day business, with orders coming from coast to coast, both east to west and north to south and several from overseas. Mr Harris attributes this business to two things: advertising in the local paper and his connection with the Florist Delivery Association.

Central Iowa Farmers Make Crop Summary

Production And Returns Increase

Famers in the Central Iowa Farm Business Association in 1942 put still another acre of their land into crop although cutting down their total average acreages, and their increased food production brought them a higher net return. The average member put 209 acres into crop, although he reduced his total from 284 to 278 acres.

Returns on each $100 of feed averaged $193, $21 more than the 1941 figure of $172. The average member weaned 10 per cent more litters of pigs than he did in 1941 and thus made a big contribution to the wartime food program while at the same time carrying on a project profitable to himself.

Those are figures released by William J. Conover, fieldman for the association. Farm operators in the association were out ahead of the rest of the country in increasing production of livestock and feed in both 1940 and 1941, so during the past year most of them were near their peak production and were unable to expand their farm units as spectacularly.

The more than 150 members of the central Iowa Farm Business Association are located in Franklin, Wright, Hardin, Story, Polk, Hamilton, Boone, Dallas, Greene, and Webster counties. Records kept by members were analyzed by Iowa State College. The Association members of Wright county will hold their spring record analysis meeting at Clarion, Monday evening, May 24th, according to Conover. The association members of Wright county will be given individual interpretation of their operations at their spring record analysis meeting, accoding to Conover.

Farmers in the association increased their number of hens in laying flocks 8 per cent along with a big increase in hog production. but the average number of dairy cows dropped from 9 to 8. Crop value per acre harvested was $38.-83 compared with $30.60 a year ago. Higher yields coupled with higher prices and a greater acreage of soybeans caused the big boost. The number of crop acres per man was 104 for the average member.

He kept 162 hens under his increased poultry production program, and weaned 32 litters of pigs.

Management return for members of the Farm Business Association was $7,567 on the average, compared with $5,254 in 1941. Management return is the net farm income less the normal return on invested capital and wage payment for the farmer and his family. And while farmer income was up association members also paid their share in taxes, the summary reports show.

Mr. and Mrs. George Elder went to Correctionville to spend the week end with their daughter and son-in-law.

Ration Board Tells How To Get Canning Sugar

May Get Maximum of 25 Pounds Per Person

Must Can 4 Quarts Fruit For Each Pound

How consumers may obtain sugar for canning and freezing this season's precious fruit crop was announced today by Mr. C. C. Benson, chairman of the local War Price and Rationing Board.

Mr. Benson said: "Sugar for canning is being allotted on about the same basis as last year—that is, one pound for each four quarts or eight pounds of the finished product. A top limit of 25 pounds per person is set in the new regulations to be granted only in relatively few cases where a large amount of fruit will be canned and preserved. Within the 25 pound per person limit, any family can apply for sugar to put up jams, jellies and preserves at the rate of five pounds per individual. This is more generous allowance than last year, when sugar for preserves was limited to one pound per person."

The applicant must furnish the following information:

War Ration Book 1 for each person for whom home canning is sought must be presented with application.

The total number of quarts or pounds of finished fruit to be put up.

The amount of sugar to be used for making jams and jellies. (Not more than 5 pounds per person, within the 25 pound over-all maximum.)

"Applications are not expected before May 20. No special form is required unless it is planned to sell the home product. Then application may be made in person or by mail. The board will record the number of pounds of sugar granted each person on the cover of the War Ration Book No. 1."

Board 99-3 covering Norway, Belmond, Pleasant, Iowa and Blaine Townships will announce next week various locations where applications may be filed. Dates and hours these boards will be open will also be announced.

Canning sugar will be handled with only one application for the season, not two as in 1942.

Art Hill is slowly recuperating after a five week's ailment.

TO HOLD RUMMAGE SALE, AND CAFETERIA SUPPER

An all day rummage sale will be held at the Congregational church basement Tuesday, May 18. Beginning at 5 o'clock p. m. a cafeteria supper will be served. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Local Farm Labor Survey Brings Results

Urge Block Wardens To Finish Reports

C. C. Benson, United States Service Representative in Belmond reports that although the local Farm Labor Survey is not yet complete, it has brought results already.

Mr. Benson is head of the local committee which started a survey of Belmond for full-time or part-time farm labor, in cooperation with the county-wide effort under the supervision of the Wright County Farm Labor Advisory Committee.

The reports turned in so far by block wardens who survey the town, reveal four men who are available for full-time farm employment, one of which has been placed. Seven will be available for part-time work and three school boys for full-time immediately after the close of school. One man said he would go out and work full-time five days of the week, Monday through Friday. Two Belmond business men have already started a schedule whereby they can finish their own jobs in the morning and go out and plow for farmers in the afternoon. [illegible] help of this type is available.

The school survey is still incomplete and some of the block wardens have not yet turned in their records. Mr. Benson urges them to do so as soon as possible. He also suggests that men who may not be available for farm work now and may be at a later time should come in his office and register.

"HAS BEENS!" OUR CONGRATULATIONS

Next week a certain percentage of our high school students will enter the old school house for the last time as students. After Thursday, May 20, they may go back again, but in a different way. They will no longer be students. They will be alumni—has beens.

"Has Beens" isn't always as bad as it sounds.

Seniors! If, in your high school days you have laid a good foundation of learning, the fact that you will soon be a "has been" of Belmond high school will be to your credit and a boost on the road to success in the future.

Seniors: If, in your high school days you have learned the value of friendship and have started to develop some of the qualities necessary for living and working harmoniously with your classmates, then being a "has been" will be a pretty good guarantee of future happiness and satisfaction in your contacts with people.

Seniors: If, in your high school days you have learned the value of loyalty to your teachers, to your fellow students and to your family, then being a "has been" will be proof that your friends, your business associates and your family and loved ones can depend on you for loyalty in the future.

Seniors today — Alumni tomorrow—we congratulate you and wish you success and life-long happiness.

TIGHTEN YOUR BELT

We have been hearing the past few weeks that even with increased production of food in 1943, we Americans are going to feel the pinch of rationing more and more. Now a report from Washington, D. C. paints the picture of the future in even less attractive colors. We learn that numerous agricultural areas in the United States show a considerable lack of rainfall this spring with the results in some localities even reaching drought possibilities.

It is our earnest hope and prayer that such a catastrophe as a general drought will not occur but, in any case, the American people should be prepared to tighten their belts a little more than they have been in the habit of doing in a long, long time.

—V—

WHEN THE TIDE TURNS

About as heartening as the victories and advances of our allied armies in Africa in the last few days was the viewpoint expressed by Italian prisoners in retort to American soldiers who were making wisecracks about them. One of the Italians who spoke perfect English said, "Why are you laughing at us? We're going to New York; you're going to Italy."

Such confidence placed in America by just an ordinary enemy soldier is proof enough that once the tide starts turning too swiftly against their leaders, the common people of not only Italy but also Germany will yield and probably welcome the change in their living conditions which will be brought about by a victory of the United States and United Nations.

PRICES STILL GOING UP

Ceiling prices were placed on a large number of commodities some months ago, but still prices have continued to rise on many items. We wouldn't mind that so much, but even with constantly climbing prices, we all too frequently receive quality that is inferior. And all the time inflation tendencies are gaining momentum, in spite of the fact that all sorts of talk has been circulated and some action taken to curb these tendencies.

What we don't understand is the fact that ceiling prices seem to be working out on some things while on others they are having no effect.

THE POCKETBOOK of KNOWLEDGE BY TOPPS

By George C. Hansen, A. S.

April 25

Today we drilled and had a lecture and pictures on Outlook Guard. We were shown how to give positions and relative bearings of enemy ships, submarines and aircraft. It is necessary to know all this, as every man in the navy gets a chance to stand guard. There are three watches: sky for aircraft, horizon for ships, and surface for submarines. They surely do jam this stuff at us and expect us to know it. I have to study before I go to bed tonight.

—CN—

April 26

Starting tomorrow we go on Work Company for one week, and I expect to be very busy. I go on at Ship Service at 8:00 a. m. and work until 4:30 p. m. in the cafeteria. I think I will be helping to prepare sandwiches and other food. Some of the boys work in the mess hall, some on rifle range, some in the drill hall and various other places around here. This is going to be a tough week because we have to keep up our barracks and get some drilling done as well.

It started to rain yesterday noon and is still raining this morning. I guess this is what they call Idaho weather.

We enjoyed a good show last night made up of camp talent and three bouts of boxing.

I certainly appreciated receiving a letter from Dr. McBurney, who as usual had a good story to tell, which is as follows:

Hitler was on the long distance wire calling, "Hello, is this Moses,"

Moses, "Yes."

Hitler, "The Moses that took the Jews out of Egypt from bondage:"

Moses, "Yes."

Hitler, "Say Moses, this is Hitler. Do you know what became of the wand that you used to divide the water of the Red Sea? If you still have it, I will pay you any price you ask for it."

Moses: "I know where it is, but don't think it is possible for you to get it."

Hiler: "You tell me where it is I can get anything I go after."

Moses: "Well I still think you will not be able to get it if I do tell you."

Hitler: "Don't bother yourself about my not being able to get it. Where did you say it is?"

Moses: "I still have my doubts. The wand is in the British Museum."

May 1

Monday we have a test on three rules of discipline.

1. Obey orders cheerfully and willingly.
2. Obey last order received from any responsible authority.
3. Show respect to your seniors at all times.

We must also know 11 rules of sentry and be able to name all officers of Camp Farragut. I must study all day tomorrow.

May 2

Tonight our company must report at drill hall as the rigging company for the show. We have to line up chairs and get the place ready. The show is "Commandos Strike at Dawn."

Prittle... Prattle....

I saw a suggestion somewhere the other day that a better test of "freshman inelligence" than the one contained in the New York Times' recently publicized set of questions would be to ask the youngsters to write one page of legible handwriting, read one page of printed matter aloud in an intelligent manner, define a hundred words used in common conversation among cultured people and add up three columns of figures accurately. And perhaps, it was suggested further, if the same tests were applied to the parents of these children, we would discover why the education of freshmen is so far short of ideal. 'Eye Observing', in the Mason City Globe-Gazette.

The remark by one of the bystanders in a local bistro Satur day night, "if you want to fight, why don't you join the army?" "and caused by a quick one-round knockdown probably hurt the youthful participant in the squabble more than a weak left to the jaw.

It gives an amateur gardener a pretty good feeling when an experienced tiller of the soil, like his mother, admits that her son's garden looks better than hers. Shucks, I've never known her to tell anything but the truth.

Belmond has a right to be proud of its Scout troop whose record for the past 12 months was revealed by the splendid showing at the Court of Honor held here two weeks ago. Fifteen members of the troop of 25 Scouts received 56 awards, including second class badges, first class badges, merit badges, apprentice air scout badges and life scout badges. The troop has really been active and much of the credit should go to its scoutmaster and assistant, Clark McNeal and Duane Dorr, who faithfully spend one night regularly each week as well as several other odd minutes and hours during the week. Scouting is really a good investment in the future of Belmond.

We've a couple of new organizations in Belmond, Pork Production, Inc., and the Amalgamated Association of Potato Growers. The first named group consists of such prominent citizens as L. B. Mackrill, H. J. Johnson, A. W. Johnson, Jim Mariga, R. G. Crabtree, Clarence Petersen and Ben Blake. The membership in the spud group are Ed Riggs, Ed Obrecht, Lawrence Gealow, Glenn Rierson, Mike Luick, A. C. Hanson, George Baxter, and 'Potato Pete' English. Looks like we'll be eating pork and potatoes this winter.

Years ago Arnold Bennett summed up the matter when he said that "most people do not want success." He meant, of course, that most people were unwilling to pay the price which success demands.

We hope that the Class of 1943 will prove the happy exception, for America needs badly, successful men and women in every field to help win the war and win the peace. Furthermore, we BELIEVE that the Class of 1943 will prove the happy exception.

In this fact the boy and girl graduates of 1943 may see mirrored the value of the diplomas they have just received. It would, indeed be difficult to over-estimate the importance of this event in your lives.

To all these very important young people, who are graduating this year, we say "bon voyage."

Pierce-Linaweaver Nuptials

In a beautiful candlelight ceremony performed at her home at Rowan in the evening of May 5, at 8 o'clock, Miss Shirley Linaweaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Linaweaver became the bride of Sgt. Floyd Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pierce of Grinnell, Iowa.

Baskets of snapdragons and carnations and pink and white candles in a candelabra formed the setting for the single ring service read by Rev. H. E. Harvey of Klemme, an old friend of the family. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Evelyn Hanson of Belmond. Rev. Harvey sang "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony and Miss Helen Baxter sang "A Boy in Khaki and a Girl in Lace" following the marriage vows.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked lovely in an aqua silk suit trimmed with a white lace collar. Her sister, Marilyn, acted as her bridesmaid and was attired in a rose silk dress. Both wore corsages of red roses. The groom wore his service uniform and was attended by Don Ramsey of Mason City, an uncle of the bride. The ring was carried on a white satin pillow by a cousin, Beverly Lewis of Mason City. Following the congratulations and opening of the gifts, light refreshments were served by aunts of the bride.

Mrs. Pierce is a graduate of the Rowan high school and is now a student nurse in the Deaconess hospital at Marshalltown, where she will finish her training Sept. 1st, after which she will join her husband. Sgt. Pierce is at present a mechanic in the armored division at Ft. Riley, Kansas, and before entering servise worked on a farm and as a mechanic.

Slusher-Jurgenson Say Vows

At a pretty ceremony performed in the Horican Church of Christ, Westfield, Minnesota, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mildred Jane Slusher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Slusher, Walker, Kentucky, became the bride of Dr. G. Earl Jurgenson of Meservey. Rev. Leland Tyrell of Sheldon, Iowa, officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Mildred Wendel of Meservey presided at the piano and solo vox and played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin for the processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march for the recessional. Preceding the ceremony Jean Brandt of Decorah, Iowa, friend and fellow teacher of the bride sang 'I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Wendel wore an aqua formal and Miss Brandt a pink formal.

The bride, given in marriage by C. J. Wendel, wore a white satin gown made with a sheer overskirt and train. Her veil was fingertip length and she carried a sheaf of white roses. She wore an oriental pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. Mrs. Ralph Jurgenson was matron of honor and wore a gown of aqua. Frances Wendel was bridesmaid, and was attired in a gown of pink. Mary Ann Leonard and Phyllis Jurgenson were ushers. The brides acting mother, Mrs. Homer Achenbach of Hazelton, Penn., wore a navy blue suit with blue accessories. Ralph Jurgenson, brother of the groom was best man and Alvin Jurgenson, a cousin of the groom was an attendant. The wedding breakfast was served at the Hotel Augusta, Fairmont, Minn., to about forty guests.

The bride graduated from the Redbird Mission high school at Redbird, Kentucky, and from a two years teachers' training course at Western Union College, has taught the last year in the public schools at Alexander. Dr. Jurgenson graduated from the Truman high school in Minnesota and from the Still College of Osteopathy in Des Moines.

After a charivari in the evening, the couple left for a short wedding trip. They will be at home in Meservey after June 1.

Annual Junior-Senior Banquet Social Hi-Light

Largest Audience In Five Years

In keeping with the annual custom, and despite the obstacles faced because of the war, the Junior Class again sponsored the Junior-Senior Banquet for the benefit of the graduating class. The banquet was a formal affair held Saturday evening May 1, at the I. O. O. F. Hall, with the Seniors, the members of the Board of Education and their wives, and the faculty, as special guests.

The guests assembled in the upper rooms of the hall, and at seven o'clock, they were shown to the banquet room by the welcoming committee of the Junior class. A throng of spectators witnessed the parade of gay formals in the processional to the banquet room which was decorated in red and white, with the motto of the banquet "Keep 'Em Flying" in a red and a white banner displayed across one end of the room. The tables were arranged in a square around the four pillars of the hall, and through the center of the tables were red and white runners. The pillars, too, were wrapped with red and white streamers, and at an equal distance from each pillar in the center of the square hung a model airplane.

After the banquet was served by the waiters and waitresses dressed in the uniforms of pilots and stewardesses, the guests were welcomed by the Junior class president, Don Burrows. Following the response by the president of the Senior class, Delos Eggers, Superintendent Johnson gave a short speech directing the Seniors along the right path after graduation. The group was then entertained by the Girls' Trio composed of Lorraine Quigley, Mary June Kinseth and Arlene LaValle. Philip Covington then read the class will, followed by the class prophecy read by a Junior representative, Kathryn Palmer. Miss Jensen then favored the guests by a vocal solo, following which the Junior class closed the event by singing to the Seniors a song especially prepared for the occasion.

Saddlescoops Of The Athletic Year In BHS

Sports Summarized By Senior Athlete

The final curtain has rung down on the Belmond High School Athletic arena for 1943. Three spectacular acts have been concluded and the critics say "Well done, athletes."

The first act began in September of 1942 when a group of 22 or more eager youths tanned by the summer sun reported at the new dressing room to a new coach. Coach Nus immediately began the regimentation of these spirited boys. After two weeks of hard fundamental drills, through the uncertainty of the time could be seen the development of a small yet mighty Bronco football team.

With only three weeks of practice this group of fighters took to the field against a decidedly larger Clarion Eleven. Those Broncos couldn't be stopped; they scored twice, but one was recalled and they left the field with the score tied at six even.

The Britt Eagles postponed their game and it was never played.

In a driving snowstorm, the Broncos downed the Northwood Vikings 6-0. The Cardinals from Garner met with a 27-0 defeat on the Belmond gridiron. At Lake Mills, the conference champs had their first touchdown of the season scored on them by the small Bronco aggregation.

The final score favored the opponents 27-7.

One defeat followed another and the Forest City gridders barely downed the locals 14-7.

Hitting their stride again the Broncos downed Dows easily 26-0 and then dropped the final game 7-6 to Buffalo Center.

There were seven seniors on the team. They are: Co-Captains Philip Covington and Bob Brady who passed the season at halfback posts; Don Norris, fullback; Delos Eggers, quarterback; Daryl Dillon and Glen Bier, tackles, and Harold Loats at a wing position.

The second act presented a badly scrambled basketball season. The North Iowa Conference met the war-time driving challenge by revising their schedule to eliminate unnecessary driving.

Two sets of four games each were held at Forest City. After a preliminary victory over Rowan on the home court, and a defeat by Klemme on the same floor, the constantly changing Bronco squad went to the first victory match. There they fell by heavy scores to the Forest City Indians and the Northwood Vikings. They returned to Belmond defeated but not broken and followed up by a trip to Garner where they defeated the Cardinals. Defeats by Clarion, Britt, and Lake Mills were closely followed by victories over Dows, Kanawha, Forest City and Buffalo Center.

Belmond was chosen as the site for the sectional basketball tournament. In the first round, the Broncos met and overcame an easy foe, Kanawha. In the second round, they won a thrilling overtime game from Clarion. In the semi-finals, they dropped a hard-fought game to the Britt Eagles. The Senior representation on the squad included Eggers, Loats, Meints, Norris and Covington. With this we leave the inside set and change to the outdoors as the curtain ends Act II.

Act III saw the innovation of track in the extra-curricular activities at BHS. This sport was new, and not much attention was given to it. However, the close of the season saw many accomplishments to the credit of the Broncos.

On the sixteenth of April, they entered a quadrangular meet at Clarion with Clarion, Eagle Grove and Webster City. Shahan took second place honors in the 100 yard dash, and fourth in the 220 yard dash. Eggers placed second and Holgate fourth in the quarter-mile run, and Classick rated fourth in the discus throw. There, at Clarion was discovered a brilliant relay team as that group took second place honors.

A week later the Bronco Tracksters entered the Cowboy Relays at Clarion. Shahan took fourth in the century dash and the relay team took seconds in the 440 and 880 relays. This team, Eggers, Campbell, Brady and Shahan went to the Iowa district track meet at Fort Dodge, May 7. There they took fourth in the 880 and ran a nice fifth in the 440, turning in their best times of the year. Seniors on the track squad are Brady, Eggers, Norris, Covington and Holgate.

Thus, finis is written to another year of athletics at Belmond.

WE SALUTE YOU, SENIORS

This is our way of saluting you Senior boys who will no longer be able to put on those shoulder pads, those knee guards, or those track shoes for the purple and white. Many of you will not see many more athletic games because you will be part of a much larger game—the game that is being played on the far-flung corners of the globe, the one that is played from Alaska to Chile and from San Francisco to Belfast. This is not a game for fun; it is a weird game, one of grief and sorrow, then later, one of joy. It is a game of freedom of speech. press and religion, and more than that, democracy. Here we pay tribute to those mighty senior boys who are about to leave B H S — Bob "Sadie" Brady, Delos "Eggs" Eggers, Glenn "Honas" Bier, Daryl "Barney" Dillon, Don

Senior Class "Play" Draws Record Attendance

Affair Carries Air Corps Theme

Excitement! Thrills! Humor. Murder! These were all the elements contained in the Senior Class play of 1943. It was the type of production that held its audience guessing the entire time.

The first curtain revealed a stormy evening when all the tempests in the heavens had gone wild, just the night for murder! Raul Butler (Bob Brady), his daughter Lita Mason (Gloria Madsen), together with their Aunt Emma (Bernadine Barry), have come to an idle mansion to escape from some threatening menace. Their maid Jenny (Dorothy Soma) is just to be murdered when a member of the cast faints; and to the audience's surprise, the drama coach, Miss Fielding (Mary June Kinseth) jumps up from her seat in the audience and calls for her assistant Miss Jefferies (Arlene Mehl) who is also seated in the crowd. The two teachers ascend to the platform to discover the difficulty and straighten out the "bad spots" of the play. They again resume their seats in the audience and the previous play continues, introducing the villain Victor Reed (Harold Loats).

The second act begins with the two teachers arranging the stage while their students are changing costumes. With the help of Joe Burroughs (Bill Parker), who is the stage manager, the scene is finally prepared for the original cast. This act is interrupted, however, by the presence of Mrs. Reed (Earlene Finn) who has come to take her son out of the play because Miss Fielding has taken her daughter out of the leading role. Victor refuses to leave and his mother storms out of the auditorium in a rage. Another interruption comes when Jack Howad (Phillip Covington), the author of the play pays the cast a visit. His quick departure causes some of the members of the cast to become suspicious of his character. The performance is resumed, however, and the audience is comfortably resting in their seats when a loud scream is heard and all the lights in the auditorium go out. Miss Fielding and Miss Jefferies rush to the stage. The lights come on to reveal the fact that Laura Crowder, the heroine has disappeared.

The secret panel suddenly opens and Mr. Howard is thrown through it. Joe Burroughs examines the body and exclaims, "Say! This man is dead!

Third act shows everyone beside the body, and Miss Fielding discovers his heart is still beating. Members of the cast hurry to make him comfortable, and to call the doctor and sheriff. The sheriff (Donald Norris) finally arrives, bringing with him Laura Crowder, who states that she was carried outside and after she screamed her abductor fled. Mr. Howard regains consciousness and warns everyone that a maniac is loose. Just as he finished this revelation, a hideous laugh comes from the back seats in the auditorium. The maniac (Glenn Bier) runs round the back of the auditorium and the boys of the cast are quick to pursue him. He is finally apprehended by the hero (Conrad Meints). Miss Fielding dismisses the cast which concludes the production.

The play drew one of the largest crowds in five years, according to Supt. Johnson, and those who did not attend missed an unusual presentation.

Miss Ruth Muyskens, the drama coach, directed her cast into a splendid piece of work. Also contributions to its production were made by the stage crew, Delos Eggers, Ruth Johnson and Marilynn Benson; and Mr. Wagner who constructed the secret panel. Hanson's Furniture Store made possible the stage properties. Miss Anderson, Miss Schade and Miss Jensen assisted with the make-up.

Entertainment between acts was provided by a vocal solo by Lorraine Quigley and an instrumental number by the brass sextette.

Senior Class Prophecy

Today's Graduates Ten Years Hence

As prepared by Kathryn Palmer and Larry Jones, Juniors

The author of this fantastic bit of information is a spinster maid who has nothing to do but spend money and locate the whereabouts of acquaintances and friends. She tells of the time when she and a life-long friend meet some of their former classmates.

Ten years have elapsed since the class of '43 has abandoned the halls of Belmond High School.

Quote: While a friend and I were traveling on a round-the-world tour, we crossed the ocean where the wilds of Southern Africa confronted us. Here we ran across Richard William Holgate, an elephant hunter. Rich informed us that his guns were supplied by Albert Julian Benson, inventor of firearms. As we ventured farther into the deep dark interior, we stumbled upon a native camp of which the witch doctor was a white man who, we later discovered, was Daryl Paul Dillon retired from all active work.

Following our escapade in the jungle, we boarded an ocean liner captained by the sea-faring veteran, Robert LaDon Brady. One of the many passengers on board was the Most Reverend Conrad Luke Meints, foreign missionary returning to the United States.

The Statue of Liberty loomed ahead on the rorizon, we were pulling into New York Harbor. That evening we witnessed several well-known radio programs—such as the Grape Nut Flakes program on which Philip Marcus Covington was the comedian, attended by his negro valet, Delos Heath Eggers. Another was the Philip Morris program, Johnny's place having been filled by William Alfonso Parker.

While leaving the studio, we noticed a multitude gathering at Studie's recreation hall, now located in New York City for the convenience of the Belmond boys who reside there at present. The occasion of the gathering was an exhibition match between Andrew Harold Loats and Willie Hoppe (World Billiard Champion).

Feminine taxi drivers now being the style, we were taxied out to the airport by Earlene Evelyan Finn at sixty per. We then boarded an airliner piloted by Ward Allen Palmer, accompanied by his stewardess, Bernadine Gertrude Barry. We landed in Pittsburg, where we visited a large steel mill. Mable Arlene Benson was employed there as welder.

Two or three hours later we arrived at Miami Beach, Florida. Since it was a very lovely day, we went to the beach for a swim. While we were resting Marilynn Louise Benson came over and told us she was living happily in a nearby cottage for two. We continued by plane to New Orleans. Arlene Wilma LaValle was working as a cigar girl in the Tuileries night club. While we were traveling through Texas, we stopped at an oil well owned by Kenneth Dale Modderman. This prosperous owner invited us to be his guest for the week end. Reminiscing about old times, Ken informed us that his former classmate, Marion Lois Green was an experienced cobbler in Dallas, Texas, and that Laura Marie Hunst was gaining a fine political experience by running for state representative for Oklahoma.

We left Mr. Modderman's farm and continued north toward Oklahoma. Just outside Oklahoma City we paused at a large well-known dude ranch at which Mary June Kinseth was guest for the summer.

Next we flew to San Francisco, where we found, believe it or not, Dorothy Nordine Soma appearing as a burlesque dancer in a night club.

During our excursion along the west coast, we entered the Paramont studio where Ruth LaVonne Johnson and Glenn Weston Bier were taking the leading roles in the re-issue of the "Black Swan."

In Portland, Oregon, we met Donald Ellis, a Prince Albert salesman. Just outside Seattle, Washington, we stopped at a large country estate. This was occupied by the widow, Mrs. Luther Johnson, formerly Marjorie Idaleen Roshiem and her maid, Valva Lucille Chapman.

We went by train to International Falls, Minnesota, where we watched a big WPA construction gang at work. One of the common laborers was Donald Allen Norris. Between International Falls and Rochester we went through a lumber town. We saw a billboard just outside town advertising "Good Grub" prepared by Lucille Harriet Dickinson. In Rochester, we stopped at the hospital and saw Avis Joan Ellingston, a registered nurse. Our trip almost having been completed, we approached Belmond. Coming through Goodell we had car trouble on Boller Boulevard and were forced to pause to DAYBREAK . . . heavy guns moving into position for action on the African Front . . . planes returning from a night "bombing party" over Axis territory. And, on the home front, loaded munition trains whistling shrill warnings as they approach slumber-wrapped towns in Kansas, Massachusetts, Texas—everywhere. It is WAR—war with its toil and tears, its heroism and sacrifices.

BUT SOME DAY WILL COME ANOTHER DAWN—a sunrise that will light up a world at peace. Then trains will speed across the nation carrying ration-freed foods for America's pantries; materials for its home builders; tools and implements for its farms, factories and professions; and peace-time necessities for all!

Now we are engaged in war. America's railroads—all vital units in the transportation army—are performing a patriotic service. Theirs is the hauling job of the nation. And what a job they are doing—41,000,000 tons of army freight carried in '42—11,600,000 troops transported during the first year of the war!

ROCK ISLAND'S Program of Planned Progress, begun seven years ago, is being carried on even in the midst of the war. For when the new day dawns America will demand the best in rail transportation. While today it isn't possible to buy all of the equipment and materials required, we must have the revenue now for the great backlog of purchases that some day will be released. And think of the many jobs this will make available for our boys now in uniform!

As yesterday—and today—so tomorrow ROCK ISLAND'S sole purpose is to provide the finest in transportation.

The football squad well remembers how Nook and Honas used to get along in football, the way Hiram Loats used to pull those rebounds off the bang board in basketball. VACATION AND THE WAR

Everyone hopefully looks toward vacation and think of the good times that they are going to have. They are usually ready to relax and enjoy themselves. This year vacation will be different from the ones which have passed; instead of relaxing, people will be busier than ever working harder than ever before. Vacation is the time during which a person seeks recreation and rest from work. All vacations must not be just for this, but we must be happy in our work. Why? Because the soldiers are willing and giving their lives, so let's work and lend or money for bonds and stamps. Let's work to stamp out the Axis.

FACTS ABOUT THE SENIOR CLASS

The Senior Class play, "Don't Darken My Door" was presented at the Community Hall Wednesday evening, May 12. The play went well and the preceeds were very satisfactory to all concerned.

The Baccalaureate sermon will be given to the Seniors by Rev. H. R. Knight Sunday evening, May 16 at 8:00 p. m. in the United Brethren church.

Commencement takes place on Monday evening, May 16 at 8:00 p. m. with Judge Clock of Hampton as the main speaker.

The Junior-Senior banquet was held in the English room of the Green Mill Cafe at Mason City, May 1. Dick Nysteun acted as toastmaster. Lula Peterson gave the welcome, and Edward Albers gave the response. All then sang, "Down by the Old Mlil Stream" and "School Days." Supt. Nysteun gave a talk, and Mr. Rosenberger gave a serious talk which was followed by a more light and numorous one by Miss Kennedy. Evelyn Montgomery then gave the class prophecy, and Earlene VanBuskirk read the class will. The program was closed by singing "Auld Lang Syne." The girls found white sweetpea corsages by their plates. The center piece was a bowl of white roses, the senior class flower. After the program was finished, the group enjoyed a movie at the Cecil Theatre.

The Seniors chose blue leatherette covers with white satin lining for their diplomas. The class motto is: "Build for character, not for fame." White rose is the class flower.

The members of the graduating class are Edward Albers, Howard Boller, Delores Burnett, Lloyd Halfpop, Evelyn Montgomery, Grace Thoreson, and Earlene VanBuskirk.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR NEWS

The Seniors have finished the play and have started again on their literature wnich will only last a few days since they will not come after Monday. The Juniors have been reading poems in this class, during the time that the Seniors spent on their class play.

The typing classes have again gotten back to typing business letters, and they seem to have fewer errors since they took corrective drills.

Music, art, and literature and emotional interest in them has taken up the time spent on Psychology for the past week, and since the course is nearly ended the class does not think it is bad as they did when they began.

Positions concerning aurenotics have been discussed in pre-flight class, and they seem to interest most of the boys.

—TIP—

Cleola Boller seems to be sentimental about the graduating class for she has been writing short paragraphs concerning them:

"There will be more tears at graduation this year—For the boys and girls who are standing there so young and proud have a big job ahead—the job of making this world a decent place in which to live. At this time, you will want to show them the love, the pride, the deep feelings you hold for them.

We Can't Help Noticing

The absence of Miss Guth from play practice May 6 as prompter. (She said she enjoyed herself.)

That there were only three pupils in geometry class the otner day. Where were the rest?

That certain young man standing across the street from the hall on certain nights. And it isn't Mr. Rosenberger either.

The expressions on the faces of those who were at the banquet on Friday night when Mr. Rosenberger was speaking.

How drowsy some boys felt the day after the banquet. It couldn't have been from sitting at the show now, could it, boys?

That the boys have been playing kittenball with the girls lately. We're pretty good, aren't we boys?

How anxious the Seniors are to find out whether or not they are going to have to take their semester examinations.

That the state has child labor laws, but yet we have to work so hard in school. Especially on tests given by certain teachers that are too hard for any in this school.

The tickets that the Seniors received from the Surf Ball Room.

The boys that Mildred wouldn't speak to down town one evening even if her companion did.

The interest held in Paul McNulty by a seventh grade girl. Who? Wiggles.

The boys having to have a lot of energy stored up so that they can do lifting in the play, we wonder if they have been eating Wheatics every morning.

Clyde Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Williams, was born at Belmond, Iowa, October 2, 1919 and died in Chicago, Ill., April 21, 1943, at the age of 23 years, 6 months and 19 days.

Give your pullets the Acidox Treatment. Acidox is given easily, in the drinking water, like Germozone. Because its acid is controlled, Acidox does not throw the birds off feed. Greatest loss from Coccidiosis is in the set back to the birds, and delayed growth and development. They need a medicine that will help them resist the disease and reduce death losses without upsetting them. Give them Acidox. A 12-oz. bottle, to treat 300 chicks for 2 weeks. $1.00.

L. M. Helland Is Local Scrap Drive Chairman

Drive Is Scheduled For Early June

L. M. Helland received his appointment today as local chairman of the Scrap Drive, to be held in Wright County the early part of June, from H. F. Graepler of Dows, county chairman.

This drive, which is part of a nation-wide effort to clean up the balance of all scrap iron still remaining throughout the country, has been set tentatively for the 4th of June, and is to be made for all scrap iron. However, if farmers have other materials such as wire, galvanized tin or the like, this scrap can be disposed of to the dealers if the farmers desire to do so.

Each farmer has a quota of 1000 pounds, as set by the State Salvage Office. The scrap either may be donated to some organization or sold by the individual to the scrap dealer.

Helland, chairman in this vicinity has appointed township and town chairmen who will meet Tuesday evening, May 25, at the Helland Implement Store to make final plans for the drive. These men are as follows:

George Braun, Belmond township

Glenn Baker, Pleasant township

Ralph Wendel, Iowa township

J. D. Campbell, East half of Grant township

Worthy Usher, town of Rowan

Ben Fetrow, Assistant chairman in the town of Belmond

Next week's paper will carry further announcement concerning detailed plans for completing the scrap drive.

BELMOND RESIDENT DIES TUESDAY MORNING

Charles Johnson, 63, long time resident of Belmond, died early Tuesday morning at the Belmond Hospital, following a stroke suffered recently on a trip to Montana. Funeral services will be held today, Thursday, at 1:30 at the home and at 2 p. m. at Trinity Lutheran Church, with Rev. O. M. Severseike in charge. Burial will be made in the family lot in the Belmond Cemetery.

Obituary will be published in next week's Independent.

General Mills Investigating Sugar Plant

Processing Operation Is Possibility

To satisfy curiosity about rumors circulating in Belmond with reference to the American Crystal Sugar Plant, an interview was secured yesterday with L. E. Schulze of General Mills Inc., who is making a survey of the plant at the present time.

General Mills Inc. is investigating the site of the local sugar mill to determine the feasability of using it as a small processing operation here. Mr. Schulze made it quite clear, however, that the present negotiations are nothing more than a preliminary investigation. In view of the fact that application for building or remodelling contracts must be made to the War Production Board and its approval obtained, a period of possibly six months might elapse before definite plans could be made.

Mr. Schulze did say that if an industrial operation should materialize from the present investigation, General Mills would plan to continue operation of the plant after the war. As additional information becomes available, the public will be informed through this newspaper.

Gus Ziska visited his brother, Theo. Ziska at Garner Sunday.

Auxiliary To Sell Poppies On May 29th

Disabled Veterans Make The Flowers

Poppies in tribute to America's battle dead of two wars will be worn in Belmond on Saturday, May 29, 1943, Mrs. James Barry, President of Eimbrink Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, announced today.

The poppies this year will honor the men who have given their lives in the present conflict, as well as those who fell among the poppies of France and Belgium 25 years ago, she said. The money contributed for the flowers will be used for the welfare of victims o both wars and their families.

The Eimbrink 35 Unit of the Auxiliary is making extensive preparations for the observance of Poppy Day here, under the leadership of Mrs. Barry and Mrs. Harold Johnson, Unit Poppy Chairman. The little red flowers of remembrance will be available to everyone in the city, offered by volunteer workers from the Auxiliary who will be on the streets throughout the day.

The flowers, made of crepe paper in replica of the wild Flanders poppy, are made by disabled veterans under the direction of the Iowa Department of the Auxiliary. Poppy making has kept the hands of hundreds of these unfortunate men usefully employed dring the winter and spring, helping them pass the long hospital hours and aiding in their rehabilitation.

More Americans than ever before are expected to wear poppies this year as a personal tribute to those who have been killed, and to aid the disabled, their families and the families of the dead.

Belmond Is Blacked Out Tuesday Night

Alert, Blackout, All-Clear Signals May Be Changed

Belmond had its first surprise Blackout Tuesday evening, May 18, lasting from 9:40, when the first signal was given, until 10:15 when the all-clear signal came.

Thomas Hood, local air raid controller, indicated Wednesday that the Blackout Tuesday evening was generally successful. He stated, however, that the number of telephone calls, both local and long distance, were larger than during the first blackout some months ago, which had been previously announced.

According to Ed Kennedy, Belmond civilian defense chairman, plans are being made to revise the blackout signals because of the confusion resulting in a number of cases Tuesday night over the exclusive use of the siren. "It is quite possible that the old fire bell will be moved higher up on the siren, and that both siren and bell will be used to give the alert, blackout and all-clear signals in the future," is the statement of Mr. Kennedy. The public will be notified of these changes as soon as they are definite.

Following are the reports of the Ward Wardens:

Ward One: Night light of the First State Bank was on during the entire blackout. Four homes were notified to blackout, and they cooperated in less than five minutes.

Ward Two: The State Liquor Store was the only business place that was not completely blacked out. Wardens had to warn four homes to black out, but their lights were extinguished in less than five minutes.

Ward Three: Only two homes were notified by the block wardens to black out, and their lights were off in less than five minutes.

Simerson To Manage Eagle Grove Hemp Plant

Russell Smith Is Chosen Assistant

Harold C. Simerson of Belmond has been appointed manager of the Eagle Grove Hemp plant at a salary of $3600 annually and Russell Smith of Eagle Grove will be assistant manager, at a salary of $3300 annually.

The selections were made by Fred C. Butcher, Hemp War industry president at Mason City last week Wednesday. The men were called to Mason City and signed the necessary contracts. They will report at Fon du Lac, Wis., May 24th to attend a school of instruction and then will go to Chicago where they will be instructed relative to their duties in the actual supervision of the operation of the plants.

The hemp plant, located on highway 60 just north of Eagle Grove is now under construction and is to be finished by October 1 with production to start October 24. Fifty acres are needed at the plant since the hemp must be stacked, and there are seven buildings occupying four to five acres, with the largest building 80x180 ft., all masonry. One hundred men and women on two production lines will be employed, in drying, shredding and baling before hemp is shipped to a cordage company. The season averages about 10 months of each year.

4,000 acres are under contract, and the hemp has been planted and is growing already. Fields are planted with 20 foot-strip of oats around the edges, which keeps the crop from spreading. Since it is a narcotic, each farmer must have a license.

Mr. Simerson is 42 years of age, is married and has two children, and has always made his home in Wright County. He received his B. A. degree from St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., in 1922 and has had one year of graduate study in Business Administration at Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

After his college training he worked for three years in Chicago, Ill., for the Standard Oil Co., of Indiana and the Public Service Co. of northern Illinois. In 1927 his father, Simon Simerson requested that he return home to help in farming operations northwest of Belmond and in 1930 he began farming for himself on the 200 acres which his grandfather pioneered in 1869. He now operates 400 acres of land near Belmond.

When the AAA program was started in 1933 he was elected to the Wright county committee on which he served for two years as a member and two years as county chairman. He was then appointed district AAA fieldman for northwest Iowa and in 1939 was appointed Compliance Supervisor for the state of Iowa by the U. S. D. A. which position he held until February of last year, continuing farming operations.

TABLES ARE TURNING FOR HITLER

The tables are really turning, and fast, on Hitler and his Nazi armies.

In Russia Hitler's forces are being so rather completely mopped up that news about that war front is difficult to find in the daily papers.

In Africa, Hitler's troops have taken a real beating either being pushed out of the country or held prisoner by the victorious United Nations.

And now we learn that Hitler is having a lot of trouble elsewhere, in fact all over his acquired kingdom and in Germany itself, with rioting by many of the German people made anxious over the unknown fate of loved ones in the African battles and with the spreading of violence in occupied countries by allied underground war groups.

We can imagine too that the meeting of Churchill with Roosevelt in Washinfton isn't joyful news for Hitler, especially in view of the outcome in Africa after the Casablanca meeting of these two not so very long ago.

—V—

UNFAIR ADVANTAGE

In connection with the recent coal miners' strike, which is again occupying the news because of the end of the 15-day truce made after the President's plea to go back to work, John L. Lewis made this remark about the miners, "They are no longer bound by the no-strike pledge." He made it quite clear that although the miners were going back to work, this action was no indication that they would not continue to demand a $2.00 a day increase in wages.

What kind of men must the miners be if they will continue to put up with the leadership of a man who, in order to gain his desired ends, will not hesitate to jeopardize the United States' war effort, and consequently the lives of our fighting men? We don't blame anybody for taking advantage of circumstances to better themselves, but the coal-miners strike and Lewis' attitude are what we call taking a decidedly unfair advantage.

NO SURPRISE

Last week announcement was made that Wright county had exceeded its quota in the Second War Loan Drive. This was no surprise to us. Wright county, which includes our own community, has a reputation of putting things over and always doing more than what is required.

GOOD NEWS

With the problem of finding food in the local stores to satisfy the appetite of the "sweet tooth" getting worse and worse, it was good news we received last week from the local rationing board that consumers may get up to a maximum of 15 pounds of sugar per person this summer for the canning and preserving of fruits.

It is funny how things we have in abundance, we don't usually appreciate or some times care for at all. Many folks who used to claim they cared nothing for desserts, who would turn down a luscious piece of cake with fluffy frosting or refuse a piece of rich, sweet candy are now wanting those things with an unreasonable, insatiable desire.

—V—

WITH OTHER EDITORS—

Food prejudices, which prevent many people from eating substitutes during the present shortage of common foods, are being studied at the University of Iowa child welfare research station at the University of Iowa.

Objectives are to discover the bases of prejudices and find the best means of overcoming them in the interests of good nutrition. Many nutritious foods, which can be tasty if properly prepared, are discounted through social or family prejudices.

It is found that some housewives are wary of trying substitutes and squeamish about using such meat products as kidney, heart, brains. and liver.

Food habits of some 2,000 Cedar Rapids children were tested, revealing a predominance of health as the reason for food selection. Older children showed more of a tendency to count taste, preferring candy and cake, but younger children often picked foods which are good for them. —Clear Lake Mirror.

Hitler and the Italian horse face dictator say that it was "within the law" for Japan to murder those American army air flyers. Of course, how could Hitler rule otherwise after his flying army killed and murdered hundreds of women and children, as well as men, and all of them innocent non-combatants in London and other points in England? But the United States will not, and should not, sink to such savagery. Many German flyers have been captured by the allied forces in Europe, and they are all being treated in a most civilized way. But, when we get Hitler and his gang of Jessie James outlaws things will be different, and we believe there are plenty of people in Germany who will be glad to help pull the rope on Hitler. —Hampton Chronicle.

—V—

We have read an item which interested us and we are passing it along. It stated that a House Military Affairs subcommittee, investigating draft deferments, has reported that of 2,370,166 Federal employees 840,578 are men of draft age, enough for two army divisions.

Here is another that intrigued us. "Time" magazine reports as follows: "Federal, state and local government payrolls added up to $13.5 billions last year, reported the National Industrial Conference Board last week. For the numb citizenry, who have had billions served up with breakfast every day, N. I. C. B. added a fact that gave its figure meaning: $13.5 billions is more than the entire payroll of all U. S. manufacturers in 1939."

Makes one wonder how soon all of us will be working for the government. Of course, in a manner of speaking, we're all doing it right now. —Grinnell Herad-Register.

—V—

Great Britain's leading paper recently ran a cartoon showing a huge truck with four drivers in the front seat. There were four steering wheels. The drivers were Uncle Sam, China, Stalin and Johnny Bull. Each was trying to manage the direction of the truck. That's a likely illustration of what the condition will be after peace has been declared. Our representatives should be careful that Uncle Sam don't get all the work and no benefits. It was Will Rogers who said that we never lost a war nor won a conference.—Humboldt Republican.

—A—

What Americans have learned is that you cannot have peace by wishing for it, or merely stating that peace must be preserved. Talk has got to have the threat of action to back it up. There may be no league of nations, nor even an international police force, but there must be an international agreement on the part of nations that force will be used to punish aggressors. After all, the United States since the promulgation of the Monroe doctrine has been following that policy and it has worked. What seems needed is a form of world-wide Monroe doctrine.—Boone News-Republican.

By George C. Hansen, A. S.

May 4

I came up to the library to write just anything to get away from the barracks—it really is a mad house. This morning about 10:00 we were given an order to take over Area Guard Duty. It takes all the men in the company, and some will have to stand guard twice in order that all get proper relief. I stood guard at one of the entrances to Camp Scott from 12:00 to 4:00.

—CN—

May 4

Another day, and I am tired. My feet just burn. We finished the extra guard duty at 8:00 this morning. Then we drilled the rest of the morning and were back on the Grinder at 1:00 for an hour. After that we went to a lecture and to the barber for hair cut.

—CN—

May 5

Saturday our company is one of ten to pass in review before the Captain. It really looks nice with all ten companies drilling and going through all the various maneuvers.

Tomorrow we have another liberty. I think I shall go to Cour d' Alene and get myself a steak. I must wash my leggings and shine my shoes before bed time. Before each liberty we have a personal inspection before the Regimental Commander, and if you don't have the right appearance, no liberty.

—CN—

May 7

Our company goes on Mess Detail tonight until further notice. That means our men serve the food to 5000 men three times a day, totalling over 15,000 a day. That is a lot of men. here are six serving lines—12 men to each one. Then there are six men to serve the Gold Braids, six to serve the C. P. O's, three sugar men, eight table men, and myself. I only stand around and see that everything is O. K.

—CN—

May 9

The company went at 5:30 this morning to the Mess Hall and got back at 9:15. All work after dinner had to be done by 2:00 o'clock and then we returned again at 3:30 to get ready for evening show which was finished at 7:00. Last night we fed 4782 men, this morning 4900, and this noon 6002. At dinner this noon we ran short of food. Working on Mess Detail really makes a full day.

Here is a little poem clipped from "Farragut News" that describes pretty well what I do in training company as Recruit C. P. O.:

THE SAME OLD STORY

That's all you hear him say.
We get it every day.

Dress it up, straighten rifles,
Don't forget the guide is right,
If you think it just a trifle,
You'll march double-time at night.

His voice is loud and strong.
Come on, mates, buck up,
It won't be for very long.

It's something we've got to go through,
It's our duty as well as law.
So it's up to ALL to do his part
To end this dogonned war.

Close up to 40 inches
He doesn't even waat your flinches.

Remember in the future
When you're on a battlewagon.
Everything he's told you,
Has been anything but nagging.

He really is a swell guy,
You all know who I mean,
It's just his job, to train the mob,
So buckle down, old bean.

—Paul R. Lombard, Co. 121.

Prittle... Prattle....

"What is your name, please?" asked the precinct worker.

"Maggie Dugan."

"And your husband's name?"

"Dugan, like my own."

"But what is his full name?"

"Well,, when he's full he thinks he is Jack Dempsey, but when I take him in hand he's still Dugan." Eagle Grove Eagle.

Understand that one of the senior boys about to graduate from our high school asked a friend about choosing a career. He had not fully decided whether to become a barber or author (it wasn't Barney.) The friend advised him to toss up a coin—"heads or tails."

ALAS! THE GOOD OLD DAYS BUT WE DON'T WANT THEM

Forty years ago beer was 5c a glass and lunch free. Eggs were 3 dozen for a quarter, mlik 5c a quart the butcher gave you liver for the cat and treated the kids to bologna. The hired girl was satisfied with $2.00 a week and did the washing. Women did not powder, paint, smoke or jitterbug; men wore boots and whiskers, chewed tobacco, spat in curves, worked 11 hours a day and never went on a strike. A kerosene lamp and stereopticon in the parlor were luxuries. No one was operated on for appendicitis or bought glands. But just the same, folks lived to a good old age and walked miles to wish their friends "Merry Christmas."

P—P

Today everybody rides in automobiles, or airplanes, plays poker, bingo, plays the piano with their feet, goes to the movies, smokes cigarettes, jump and jive, listen to swing bands, drinks lemonade and—or other stuff and blames the high cost of living on Congress. They never go to bed the same day they get up and think they are having a wonderful time. . . . This is the age of coffee rationing, graveyard shifts, self-discipline wild women and much wilder juveniles (that's all that's left to be wild.) WAACS, WAVES, bond buyers, a good friend to your neighbor, boys in uniform and columns full of stuff like this. — North English Record.

A timely warning now going the rounds in our exchanges is that concerning a new racket of the man who comes along representing himself as a radio repair man. He works on the radio and finds a new tube is needed. He says he lives in a nearby town and will take the old tube and send the new one by mail—if the party will pay him the small sum of $1.60 in advance. He throws the old tube in the wastebasket or other convenient spot and the party never gets a new tube.

Sergeant Describes Training

To Know The Army--Get In It!

Endurance Tests Are Tough

Last week Editor Roberts of the Britt News-Tribune printed parts of a letter received from an army Sergeant which gives a good description of army training, and we are printing the article as follows:

A few weeks ago a local boy on furlough said: "I cannot describe army life so you can understand it. To know the army get into it." Then came a letter from Sgt. Ray L. Nelson describing an endurance test. It seems so clear that I am passing it along to my readers believing that they will all have a better understanding of army training and army life after studying it. And you old greyheads of 35 to 40 who think you are just as good a man as you ever were, will appreciate why it is that the army wants the young men from 18 to 25 years old. Now read Sgt. Nelson's story:

May 2, 1943—Dear Mr. Roberts:

"We've beenin training since returning from Lou'siana, for a physical endurance test which we took last Thursday. Bye the bye, I am happy to state that my battery passed the test with the highest score recorded by any unit of the whole 3rd Army! We scored 92.5 per cent in the whole test and this is no bad score for so tough a test.

"This said test incorporated the following events: 34 push-ups without stopping. (Our battery scored 82% on this). 12 "Burpees" in 20 seconds, (Our battery scored 100% in this). A "Burpee" is about like a push-up, one stands and jumps down to a squatting position, thrusts his legs out behind him supporting his weight on his arms and legs, draws back to a squatting position and jumping erect again to complete the "Burpee". Imagine, 12 of these in 20 seconds—try it!

"The next event we ran 150 yards and return, 300 yards in all, at top speed, and our battery averaged it in 52 seconds. Next event was running an obstacle course which included 10 yard dash, 10 yards crawling on one's stomach, 10 yard dash then, and 10 yards on hands and knees; then 10 yard dash, 10 yards of jumping through tires, culverts, etc., and finally a last 10 yard dash. This whole 70 yards was to be completed in 30 seconds and our battery averaged about 24 seconds!

"The final event was by far the worst. A four mile hike without a rest to be completed in less than 50 minutes. To do this feat we had to do considerable "double-time" and a good fast walking pace as you can imagine. For each man failing to finish the race, 20% was deducted. I myself carried four rifles and two field packs besides my own, but we made the four miles in 47.34 minutes to establish a new record!

"Each man participating in this event had to carry a rifle, gas mask, regulation field pack, and wear steel helmets, leggings, rifle belt and harness. I'm telling you I was loaded down the last mile, but the general himself was waiting at the finish line cheering us and it was a real thrill to be complimented by such a high officer as General Shea. No one fell out, but two were helped across the finish line as well as helped along the whole test, and lots of us helped our fellow soldiers by carrying a rifle of theirs or a pack."—'Bye for now, Ray.'

COAL

There's only one thing to do — and that is ORDER WITHOUT DELAY! Not that this country faces a coal shortage. There is plenty of it. But every speedy means of transportation is harnessed to keep the machines and the men of war moving! Civilian needs will have to be put aside. And though there are many things you can do without — you can't do without adequate coal for winter heating.

FLOWERS IN WARTIME

Flowers in wartime? Of course. Never were they more important. Do you know a mother whose son is in the service fighting that this country—our country—may survive? Send her flowers. They may be merely flowers to you, but to her they will be a solace, comfort and hope.

Perhaps you have a friend — a neighbor's son, the butcher's boy perchance—or maybe a nephew or a cousin, who is in the army hospital. Don't think that a sick boy will refuse roses or carnations or sweet peas just because he is a soldier, no indeed. The flowers sent to camp hospitals are seized upon as if they were priceless jewls No one can know how much they do to assuage the pain of lonely hearts. By all means send flowers to these boys.

And don't forget those in the veteran's hospitals, casualties of World War No. 1. There is danger in these times that they will be overlooked. Flowers ease their sufferings, too.

Have you friends in trouble? Flowers will carry the message of sympathy which you cannot fit into words. Let them know that you are thinking of them.

And one other suggestion, one which has to do with those little anniversaries, which we are prone to let slip by unnoticed. Keep your friendships in repair. Flowers will show that you still remember, still care, even if you have no time to write. Your flowers will bind old ties tighter. They will help to keep treasured memories greener. They will make new burdens rest more lightly on shoulders, already tired.

Flowers in wartime? By all means. Make them your prophecy of peace.

4. That if the owners or persons in possession or control of any land in Wright County fail to comply with the foregoing orders, the Weed Commissioner shall cause this to be done and the expense of said work, including costs of serving notice and other costs, if any, to be assessed against the land and the owners thereof,

NOW

SELL

Perhaps it is an old dresser or table that you no longer are using.
Or maybe you have an extra stove you don't need, or a set of books you would like to get rid of, it might be something big, like a house or lot, or farm.

Or possibly a cow, horse, or flock of chickens.

Or it could be that you need something and would like to buy it, but do not know where it can be found.

Possibly it is an electric refrigerator, or a length of rubber hose.

Or a good used automobile tire or bird dog.

ALWAYS REMEMBER – Whatever it is you would like to sell, there is a buyer for it.

And if there is something you want to buy, you can often find a person with that same thing to sell.

* * * * * * * *

Iowa OPA officials have announced a statewide drive to crack down on pleasure driving in violation of mileage regulations. Goal of the drive is to apprehend car owners who are driving without a gasoline ration sticker on the windshield of their cars, and to catch up with B and C card ration holders whose cars are found at pleasure resorts and places of amusement too far from their home base. Supplemental gas rations for occupational use prohibit more than 90 miles a month of pleasure driving. OPA officials say it can be presumed that a driver found at places of amusement more than 90 miles from his home is violating the regulations. Cooperation of all sheriffs, police forces and the state highway patrol has been asked by OPA in apprehending offenders. Violators will be haled before their local rationing boards to show cause why their gasoline ration should not be suspended. The drive against black market use of gasoline has been ordered throughout the nation by Prentiss M. Brown, national OPA administrator.

STUDENTS AID OPA

Some 1,500 honor students in Iowa high schools are serving as unpaid volunteer clerks in more than 50 war price and rationing boards. Board chairmen say these boys and girls are doing a magnificent job in helping clear up the mass of detail work with which every board is faced. The students put in two full days work each month, and are given credit in their school work for this aid to the war effort. Many of the students have offered their services during the summer vacation. OPA officials expect the plan to be adopted by every ration board in Iowa when school opens next fall.

NEW CEILING PRICES

Ceiling prices on beef, veal, lamb and mutton will be made public within a few days, the Des Moines OPA announces. Ceilings on pork cuts have been in effect for some time. Meat markets will not be permitted to sell at prices above the maximums, and will be required to post the new price list for the information of their customers.

DISTRICT SETUP

Donald D. Holdoegel, chief OPA counsel for the Des Moines district, is setting up a plan to designate attorneys and district court judges as commissioners to hear cases involving the illegal sale of rationed commodities. He expects to have commissioners selected soon for each of the 66 counties in the district. The commissioners will be the judges of facts in the hearings, and make recommendations to the OPA as to whether the licenses of offenders to deal in rationned commodities shall be suspended. The commissioners will serve without pay.

COLLECTIONS FAR SHORT

Iowa collected only 20,000 tons of scrap iron and steel during the first three months of the year, or only 20 per cent of its quota, according to Herbert C. Plagman, executive secretary of the state WPB salvage division. Plagman said scrap stock piles are badly depleted, and urges all civic bodies and farm groups to join with the local salvage committees in a statewide movement to furnish Iowa's share of the badly needed iron and steel.

STORM REPAIR

The Iowa War Production Board has had many requests for information on repairing storm damage as a result of winds which have struck in some parts of the state. WPB rules require that applications for repair work be made within two weeks of the storm, and that the estimated cost shall be less than $5,000. Farmers who have suffered damage to buildings apply to their county agricultural war board for authorization to make repairs city residents whose homes have been damaged make application to the Federal Housing Administration, and owners of damaged commercial and industrial property apply to the War Production Board in Des Moines. Emergency repairs, such as making a structure weather tight or bracing weakened walls, etc., can be made at once without securing authorization from any governmental agency.

Make Final Report On Christmas Seal Sales

Wright County residents bought $1606.36 worth of 1942 Christmas Seals to help set a state record of $195,971.09, according to a final report from the Iowa Tuberculosis Association.

The county's 1942 sale surpassed by 25.3 per cent the total of $1281.90 raised in 1941 and represented a contribution of 8.0 cents from each man, woman, and child in the county.

On a statewide basis the 1942 Christmas Seal Sale soared 33.5 per cent over the 1941 record, attaining a per capita of 7.7 cents as compared with the 5.7 per capita set the previous year. All of the 99 counties reported a gain over the 1941 sale. Wright county was among the 82 counties which attained individual quotas set.

Funds from the Christmas Seal Sale are being used by state and local associations to halt the increase in Iowa's tuberculosis death rate reported in 1942. In addition to a broadened search for unknown cases of the disease, the associations are intensifying their efforts to bring more patients to sanatorium care while the disease is in the early, curable stage.

VOL. NO. 31 — BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA, THURSDAY, MAY 27, 1943 — THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

Governor Asks For More Farm Labor Volunteers

Registration Is Partially Completed

Governor Bourke B. Hickenlooper today issued a proclamation urging Iowa non-farm people to volunteer for farm work, if and when the need develops, so that Iowa, as the nations leading food producing state, will reach its maximum production. The Governor proclaimed up to and including June 10th as the time for registration in the state.

Wright County is already complying with the governor's request and a campaign is now under way to register every man, woman and youth not now engaged in farming who can work on the farm on a year round, seasonal or part time basis.

County Extension Director Aaron R. Bowman said today that local OCD chairmen have instructed their block lieutenants to make house to house surveys of all men, women and youth available for farm work. Registration has been partially completed at Belmond, Dows and Eagle Grove with a total of 83 registered to date. Registration is under way at Clarion at the present time. Other communities will soon be organized for their survey.

Most of the registrants so far have been boys of high school age, about one-third of whom are available for full time employment on the farm. Wrgiht county has need, at the present time, for full time farm workers, both married and single, and will need approximately 400 to 400 part time workers during the period of detasseling corn, emergency harvest work, work in beet and vegetable fields and in the hemp harvest.

The County Farm Labor Advisory Committee composed of Harry Ladman, Farm Security Administration; Frank Riley. County Draft Board Clerk; Superintendent H. G. Griffith of Dows; Floyd Robie, farmer and George Kyseth, Office of Civilian Defense; are working with County Extension Director Bowman iin anticipating and preparing for the full time and emergency farm labor needs of the county. Cooperating with the Extension Service in Wright County is the United States Employment Service and their representatives.

Local farm labor committees have been set up in most urban centers to assist local United States Employment Service representatives and the Extension Service in handling farm labor recruitment and placements.

Farmers are urged to contact local farm labor committees when in need of full time or emergency farm workers. The local representatives of the Extension Service and the United States Employment Service are as follows: C. C. Benson and Theodore Johnson, Belmond; W. F. Schroeder, Galt; and W. A. Rietz, of Rowan.

The farm manpower problem in some parts of the nation has reached an alarming state. It is seemingly just beginning to make itself felt in Iowa. Volunteer groups of workers must fill the gap left by farmers taken by industry and the armed forces. They must supplement the remaining farm force of older and less skilled workers, women and young farm people, and stand ready for any emergency threatening production.

Town and city people are urged to accept an active responsibility in Iowa's food production program. The farm season has been retarded by adverse weather conditions, and a need for extra help may develop sooner than was first expected. "We must make plans right now to meet any situation that may develop wihin our county and to solve that problem within our own community. We can't expect much help from outside sources," County Extension Director Aaron R. Bowman says. It is not enough that the farmer have labor to merely "get by." He must have sufficient help to enable him to reach the very maximum of production.

GOVERNOR ISSUES PROCLAMATION

The Governor of Iowa has issued a proclamation asking that everyone possible lend assistance to farmers in the planting, caring and harvesting of their crops this season.

As chairman of the Wright County Triple A, I am sure that everyone within our county will do everything possible to assist farmers in the production of their crops and livestock this year. Our county has a goal of 44 thousand acres of soybeans, 7,000 acres of flax and 31,000 litters of spring pigs, together with approximately 130 thousand-acres of corn and 70,000 acres of oats being planted. I a msure that whatever assistance may be given farmers in this production program will be greatly appreciated.

Chairman of County AAA

POPPY DAY THIS YEAR

Pick up a poppy! Look at it with your heart as well as your eyes. See how red are its petals-dyed afresh by the lifblood of young Americans since Pearl Harbor. See how it glistnns—not from the morning dew, but from freshly-fallen Mothers' grief. And see how straight it holds its flashing head, waving a message of courage from those who have died so courageously.

That is "our poppy" this year. That is the little flower entrusted to our hands to carry to the people of free America. Did we ever have a greater trust? Will our hands be strong enough, our hearts devoted enough? Each of us must answer for himself. The fallen heroes of a thousand battles are listening—heroes who have slept beneath the poppies for twenty-five years, those heroes whose lifeless eyes will stare at the sky today.

On Poppy Day, Saturday, May 29, we, the women of the American Legion Auxiliary of Eimbrink Post No. 35 will carry to you the undying message of these dead—their last call to the living—the inspiring symbol of their heroism, of the heroism of the young men gone from our community—the little red poppy which soys:

"If ye break faith with us who die we shall not sleep, though poppies grow in Flanders Fields."

June 11th Is Date Set For Scrap Iron Drive

To Canvas Townships By School Districts

Friday, June 11, is the date set for the scrap iron drive to be held in this vicinity, L. M. Helland, chairman of the Scrap Iron Salvage Committee announced today.

The local drive will cover Belmond, Pleasant, Grant and the east half of Iowa townships and will be organized by the following men: Belmond township, George Braun; Pleasant, Glenn Baker; Iowa, Ralph Wendel; East half of Grant, J. D. Campbell. This committee has named the same group of men who aided in the scrap drive of September, 1942, and they will see that each school district is completely canvassed to locate all available scrap iron.

The workers will be furnished blanks by their township chairmen similar to the Scrap Report Card published in this week's Independent. Farmers, if they wish, may fill out this blank and turn it in to their school district chairman or at the Helland Implement Co.

Sorenson and Wirtz as well as H. R. Bayliss have been appointed the two official scrap collection depots. Mr. Helland stated that July 1 is the date when all scrap is to be delivered to the two local scrap depots. He further explained that June 11 was chosen as the date for the drive, since it seemed to conflict the least of any date with the work of the farmers.

Mr. Helland asks that all scrap report cards be filled out and returned to his office not later than Monday, June 7, so that complete information as to the amount of scrap and its location may be available at the time of the drive.

Since during past scrap drives farm boys and girls have aided so considerably in locating scrap piled up around their farm homes, the Scrap Iron Salvage Committee is urging them to cooperate in making the June 11th drive a success.

Memorial Day

A day of tender memory,
  A day of sacred hours,
Of little bands of marching men,
  Of drums and flags and flowers.

A day when a great nation halts
  Its mighty, throbbing pace,
To pay its meed of gratitude
  And love with willing grace.

A day when battles are retold,
  And eulogies are said,
When dirges sound, and chaplains read
  The office for the dead.

A day when fairest, sweetest blooms
  Are laid upon each grave,
And wreaths are hung on monuments
  And banners, half-mast, wave.

A day to keep from year to year
  In memory of the dead;
Let music sound, and flowers be laid
  Upon each resting-bed.
    —Emma A. Lent.

OPTIMISM INCREASES

Victories of United States and allied armed forces in the various theatres of war recently—Tunisia in Africa; Attu in the Aleutians; man-made floods in Germany—are actual and visible signs of success that are giving us new hope and encouragement each day.

But other war events are also contributing to our feeling of hope and optimism. Churchill's conference with Roosevelt and others in Washington is by far the most important of these, since previous meetings between these leaders of Great Britain and the United States have resulted in well-laid plans that brought victorious results.

The strength of the combined forces of our two nations—men, ships, planes, tanks, guns, ammunition—has grown to the extent that now offensive operations can be planned with expectations of the most favorable results.

—v—

GIGANTIC PROBLEM

It is too bad that the school code bill, which took up considerable time on the part of state legislators during the last session, was not in proper shape to be passed and made law.

One of its provisions, which would have allocated a considerable sum for equalization of the state educational program, would have helped solve the gigantic problem which is facing school boards and superintendents right now—the problem of filling an unbelievably large number of teaching vacancies for next fall. One of the reasons why so many teachers are changing jobs is that they are looking for more money. Our smaller schools are going to be hard-pressed to make their limited budgets stretch far enough to pay war-time salary expectations.

—v—

FOOD OR BABIES

Here is something the government or somebody should do something about, and quick: Get a sufficient supply of corn syrup to grocers all over the country to provide the necessary carbohydrate content for babies' formulas.

In view of an estimated crop of 3,000,000 American babies this year, and in view of the fact that more and more attention is being given to maintaining and building health among our people, young and old, it certainly is important that our babies have the right start.

Whatever the reason may be why corn syrup seems to have almost entirely disappeared from the retail market, it should be investigated at once, as this shortage constitutes a great problem to millions of mothers with babies to feed.

WITH OTHER EDITORS

A good deal of editorial space is wasted arguing that the government can't freeze men in war jobs, etc., etc. A war is on and the government can and should do what is necessary to win the war. If Uncle Sam pats you or you or you on the back and says, "go work over there" you are going to have to go. And it is right the government should have this power since men are drafted to fight.—Marshalltown Times Republican. !

—v—

Remember how the farm boys used to go to the cities to make their fortunes? That isn't the trend any more, even if the government didn't have definite assignments for them. Nowadays the city boys are figuring on getting out a few acres of this or that, by feeding some steers, by buying a few brood sows or even by raising a vegetable garden.—Allison Tribune.

—v—

One of the newspaper commentators suggests that John L. Lewis would make a fine secretary of labor in the president's cabinet. Lewis certainly has the ability to fill such a position. But it is a question whether or not he could be impartial and treat both labor and the public fairly. The chances are that he would continue to insist upon breaks for labor that are unfair to employers and the people generally.—Webster City Freeman.

Lists of missing men are commencing to sift through to show the cost of action in the South Pacific and in Africa. It requires no courage —no fortitude—to go without gasoline, plan points of rationing, buy bonds or pay taxes It does take courage and fortitude to resolutely face the news of those found missing. This is the real cost of war. It will increase rather than diminish. We shall need every ounce of our courage, our forbearance and our patience.—Nora Springs Advertiser.

A soldier recently returned from the front in North Africa says that the boys over there are particularly bitter against draft dodgers, payhikers, overtime and time-and-one-half insisters. There will be a settlement when the boys come home.—Humboldt Republican.

Take a look at the best fed fighting man in the world, our American boys! In case you didn't know—he eats around 5½ pouns of food a day and this is twice the amount that he ate as a civilian. That he needs it, goes without saying. He is better fed than over sixty per cent of the civilian population and gets two to three times the number of calories a day than the average civilian. This makes every parent in Pocahontas county happy, even if they haven't a boy of their own in the armed forces. The individual company mess ration includes usually the following: About one pound of meat, fish or poultry; one egg, one pint of milk, three ounces of fats including butter; twelve ounces of Irish potatoes, four ounces tomatoes and citrus fruits, seven ounces of leafy, green and yellow vegetables. Also. each meal carries in addition. bread. beverages and desserts. The war department gives us this information to pass on to anxious parents who wondered— Pocahontas Record-Democrat

City Hall, Belmond — Office Hours, every week day afternoon 1 to 5 o'clock.

:-The "Crow's Nest"-:

By George C. Hansen, A. S.

May 11

I went to Sick Bay this morning for my ear. They think I have the mumps, and I have been confined to bed until this evening, when I must return and see how my face has swollen.

—CN—

May 12

Here I am, stowed away at Butler Hospital with the mumps. There were three of us from Company 153, Rodney Courtney of Dows one of them. There are 139 cases in all. About all they do is insist that we stay in bed and rest for at least eight to 10 days.

May 13

We are still in quarantine for scarlet fever. There has been considerable sickness here, and the only reason I can figure out for this is that the camp is growing so fast. However, one mate said, "If you can live in northern Idaho for six months, you can exist any place." It seems difficult for most of the fellows to get adjusted to change in altitude and weather conditions.

—CN—

May 14

Doctor is about due for sick call to see how his bloated mates are. At least I won't have to shave until I leave here, and my friends in Belmond can understand how I appreciate that. If things had gone according to schedule I should have been home this morning. Anyway it was wonderful thinking about it.

—CN—

May 15

Since all I can do is lie here in bed, there isn't much to tell. I can quote another poem printed in the Farragut News to another "boot" in training in Farragut.

AN ODE FROM A BOOT

I'm just a boot from Camp Waldron, as every one can see,
I'm just a beginner in the Navy, that's why they got boots on me.

I'm awkward in my marching, and out of step with my mate,
But when it's time for chow! you'll never find me late.

I watch the graduating companies as they go marching by,
Everyone in step, not one batting an eye.

I stand there with admiration, for these men in blue—
Sailors of America, fighting for you and you.

Some day I will graduate, along with all the rest,
Company one eighty-eight at their level best.

Marching past the review stand every man in stride,
Hearts full of fight, heads full of pride.

Then across the sea they'll send us, across to help our mates
For some there will be victories, for some the Pearly Gates.

And when we come sailing home, from across the sea,
Our homes will be safe again, and the world will be free.

Prittle... Prattle....

This should have been mentioned last week but the column was already locked in the form. A fire alarm at 7:30 a. m. is a little too early for our Fire Chief Ed Chapman. He must have been awake since he was already in his place of business when the siren sounded for the A. Rickens fire on Tuesday morning. Ed couldn't figure out what the noise was.

P—P

We like to beat our drums down on this end of Main Street, but they'll sound a little louder now since Stoltenberg invested in a set.

P—P

The bashful young sailor (is there one?) was asore on liberty and was being entertained by a family whose daughter, dressed in the abbreviated costume of the day, was trying to make conversation. "I suppose you've been in the navy long enough until you are used to sea-legs," she said. "Oh, miss, don't think harshly of me" he begged. "I wasn't really looking at 'em, you know."—Northwood Anchor.

P—P

While all the whoop and hurrah is going on for the boys who go to war, and very justifiably so, by the way, give a thought to the youngsters of 14, 15, 16 who in the future will have to carefully explain that they were too young to get in this war. When the ex-service men come back from this war they will probably do as they have in all other wars. Many youngsters too young to get into it now will be hamstrung for public or other office because preterence will be given ex-service men. There is no complaint to this at all—it is simply a statement of the facts that will face the younger of the younger generation. There are many from the last war who are still looked at askance by those more fortunate who had the opportunity of going. And the often unspoken thought of those who do not know ages is that so-and-so must have been a slacker in those war days.

P—P

And along the same line—just because a fellow who is in the age bracket isn't in uniform does not mean he's dodging. Many, many more have been rejected than have have been accepted because of physical troubles. Most young fellows —the 99 and 99-100 per cent or better want to get into it. And there's no disappointment more bitter than that of a young fellow all primed for war to be turned back.

In other words—all honor and glory to those who go—but don't kick those who don't in the teeth till you know what you're kicking about.—Hodgepodge in the Kossuth County Advance.

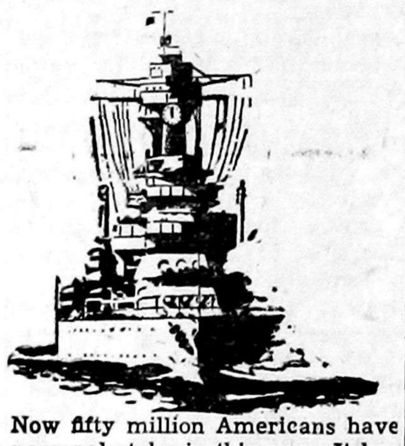
WAR BONDS

Battle Wagons

When Japan attacked at Pearl Harbor we had 17 battleships in service and 15 building. We were making preparations but the war did not wait. These 32 battle wagons cost American taxpayers three billion dollars for a two ocean navy. The war seemed far away then.



Now fifty million Americans have a personal stake in this war. It has been brought home to them. That's why everyone is increasing purchases of War Bonds.

THE HOME FRONT IN IOWA

The Des Moines district Office of Price Administration had good news this week for Iowa farmers. Under original OPA regulations, the farmer who brought his own cattle to a custom slaughtering plant for slaughter and dressing was required to surrender red point stamps for the resulting meat. If he killed and dressed the animal himself on the farm, the meat was "ration free."

Under he revised regulation, the farmer can use custom-slaughtering facilities without surrendering ration points for the meat required, provided the meat is to be consumed on the farm he owns or operates. The animal also must have been raised, or fattened, by the farmer.

The farmer is also required to furnish the slaughterer with a certificate to establish the fact that the meat is primarily for food for his family and was produced from livestock raised on the farm. One copy of the certificate is filed by the slaughterer with the farmer's local ration board within five days after transfer of the meat, and a second copy is retained by the slaughterer.

Regulations require that the farmer certify he either raised the animal from birth or fed it for a period of at least 60 days immediately preceding slaughter, or increased its weight by at least 35 per cent during the time he owned the animal.

Farmers who sell meat from livestock produced on the farm must collect ration points for every sale, whether they slaughtered the animals themselves or had them custom slaughtered.

If a farmer owns a second farm, he may transfer meat from one of his farms to another to provide food for members of the household, without giving up ration points. Farm owners who live in town, however, must give their tenants ration points for meat they acquire from them, even though they do not pay in cash for the meat.

SIMPLIFY REGULATIONS

A second simplification in regulations has been announced by the OPA in Des Moines. Formerly consumers who took their green hams or other meats to a processor to be smoked, cured, etc., had to give ration points to the processor, who in turn gave back an equal number of points when the processing was finished and the consumer came for the processed meat. The new ruling makes this exchange of ration points unnecessary, if the meat is for the consumer's own use. Specific records of the transaction must be kept, however. If the consumer sells the meat he has had processed, he of course must collect ration points for all such sales.

RATION BOOK NO. 3

Postoffices throughout Iowa are distributing application blanks for War Ration Book No. 3 to every family in the state. Distribution will be completed by June 5. Between June 1 and June 10 consumers are to mail their cards, which are pre-addressed, to the OPA mailing center in Chicago. The mailing center will mail back the ration books between June 20 and July 21. Effective date of the book has not been announced. One application card can be used to secure ration books for every member of the family. The OPA urges the public not to mail the cards back to Chicago before June 1, by which time post offices will have mailing channels cleared for fast handling and the mailing center will be ready to process the cards and mail out the books. Consumers are cautioned to be sure to place a three cent stamp on the application card in mailing it to Chicago.

BETTER DRIVE SLOWLY

Federal surveys show that in one and a half million miles of tire travel on roads in Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Wyoming, pre-war passenger car quality tires used on concrete roads wore only about two-thirds as fast at 35 miles an hour as at 45 miles an hour. Tires that would wear out in 40,000 miles at 45 miles an hour would give nearly 60,000 miles of service at 35 miles. That's why your government is asking you not to exceed the 35 mile an hour limit. The rule was made to help you get more wear out of your tires.

WAIT FOR SEASON

Iowa housewives are asked by the Des Moines OPA to wait until the canning season gets under way before applying to their ration boards for canning sugar. This will enable rationing boards to avoid being swamped with the detail incidental to issuance of canning sugar allotments. The OPA points out that canning sugar will be available in specified rationing limits throughout the entire canning season.

OPA BREVITIES

Plans for issuing by mail new gasoline rations to "A" ration book holders are being worked out by the OPA. Iowa peace officers are going to bear down against violations of pleasure driving regulations, the OPA warns. They also are on the watch for car owners who do not have a gasoline ration sticker on their windshield.

IS A GOOD TIME TO LET PEOPLE KNOW YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO SELL

SELL

Perhaps it is an old dresser or table that you no longer are using.
Or maybe you have an extra stove you don't need, or a set of books you would like to get rid of, it might be something big, like a house or lot, or farm.

Or possibly a cow, horse, or flock of chickens.

Or it could be that you need something and would like to buy it, but do not know where it can be found.

Possibly it is an electric refrigerator, or a length of rubber hose.

Or a good used automobile tire or bird dog.

ALWAYS REMEMBER – Whatever it is you would like to sell, there is a buyer for it.

And if there is something you want to buy, you can often find a person with that same thing to sell.

Saturday, May 29, is Poppy Day

WHAT MEN HAVE DONE CAN STILL BE DONE AND SHALL BE DONE TODAY

SAD, yet proud, Uncle Sam thinks of all the soldier dead of wars gone by. The faces of the men who fought in the Mexican War, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War and World War I pass in review. And on this Memorial Day, soldiers of World War II are added to that parade of heroes

AMERICANS everywhere feel sadness for the lives lost, but only pride when they think of the justice of the cause for which these soldiers died, and for which they die today. Liberty is the name of that cause. In the past we have recognized the basic truth of Daniel Webster's words, "God grants liberty only to those who love it and are always ready to guard and defend it." Today we are asked to defend that cause once more. And we will succeed, for what men have done can still be done, AND SHALL BE DONE TODAY.

THE HOME FRONT IN IOWA

ODT TO HELP

The Office of Defense Transportation in Iowa has promised to help truck operators secure replacement parts for essential vehicles that are out of service because the owner could not find the required repairs. Information on this service may be secured at the nearest ODT district office. The five district headquarters serving Iowa are located in Des Moines, Davenport, Mason City, Omaha, Neb., and Sioux Falls, S. D.

CHANGING TO RUBBER

Farmers who have tractors equipped with steel tires must first secure permission from their county agricultural war board if they wish to switch to rubber tires. If the war board grants the permission, then the farmer applies to his local rationing board for a certificate to purchase the necessary tires. Farmers who are required to drive their steel-tired tractors over a considerable distance of pavement will have little trouble in securing approval to change to rubber tires, the OPA in Des Moines says.

RESIGNS OPA POST

Wendell R. Smith, senior price specialist of the Des Moines district OPA, has resigned to return to the State University of Iowa as an instructor in geography to the enlisted personnel. An assistant professor of economics at the state university for eight years, Smith had been on leave to work for the government since Aug. 1.

The Des Moines district Office of Price Administration today released an explanation of food rationing rules as applied to extra farm help and regular farm employees, following a flood of inquiries to local boards from Iowa farmers as to the proper procedure.

Under rationing regulations farm employees are divided into three classifications:

1. Extra help hired for periods of less than 30 days.

2 The farm hand who lives in town and goes home for the week end.

3. The farm hand who lives continuously at the farm of his employer.

Farmers who employ extra help for a period of less than 30 days may go to their ration boads and apply for extra food rations to serve those employees on a basis of three meals a day. The farmer is not permitted to collect ration stamps from such employees.

If a farm hand works six days a week at the farm and then goes to his own home in town for over Sunday, he is not considered under OPA regulations as a permanent boarder at the farm. In other words, there is no rule requiring the farm hand to give up his ration book to his employer in such cases. OPA, however, suggests that in a spirit of fair play, the farm hand offer to his employer a sufficient number of ration stamps to "pay" for his meals. Such an agreement is strictly between the employer and employee, the OPA stresses, and no federal regulations apply to force such an adjustment of rationing.

The farm hand who lives seven days a week at the farm he is employed, is required under the OPA regulations to turn over his ration book to his employer.

Farm wives who have been worrying about how they are going to get enough ration points to feed the neighbors when they come over to help at threshing time may go ahead and plan the usual big dinner without stripping their own ration books.

The OPA has ruled as 'extra help" this typical Iowa plan of exchanging work at threshing time, This means that the farm wife may go to her ration board and secure enough extra points to purchase the necessary supplies to feed those hungry threshers.

30 Days More!

Looks like it's going to take about 30 days more feeding before this hog can go to market. All because he was fed corn alone, and he needed a mineral and protein supplement to balance the ration. Minerals and proteins can cut feeding time 30 to 60 days, and save up to $250 worth of corn on 50 head of hogs.

Minral Meat Meal contains both minerals and proteins in one bag. It costs no more than the average mineral, goes much farther than tankage—DOES THE JOB OF BOTH! GUARANTEE. Try one bag, if you are not entirely satisfied, your dealer will refund your money in full.

"Lest We Forget"

There's been a lot said about Memorial Day. Maybe it's all been said, all there is to say, and there's nothing more. Nothing more.
Ah, but there is something more. Not in words, perhaps, not even in deeds; but something vital that we feel and know in our hearts; something that our fathers and sons and husbands and brothers died for, and are now fighting for once more, so that we might have something to live for.

We will remain closed all day Monday, May 31, in Observance of Memorial Day.

OPA Ordered Rationing Of Canned Milk Tuesday

Rationing of canned milk was ordered Tuesday night by OPA in order to conserve diminishing supplies for babies.

No actual restrictions were placed on the purchase of canned milk for adult use, but since it takes red coupons, most adults are expected to save the coupons for meat, butter or cheese.

Point value was placed at one per pound, which means that the common tall can, 14c ounces, will cost one point. The common small size, 6 ounces, will be two for a point. Since the minimum rationed purchase is one point, however, anyone who buys a single small can will still have to pay a full point.

OPA explained that the order was issued at the request of the war food administration because production of canned milk has fallen 25 per cent below expectations and because of huge army, navy and lend-lease requirements.

America Salutes Food Producers

NO inspiring bands and no glamour of uniforms and decorations cheer these unsung heroes of World War II. With patriotic determination dairymen toil long hours under serious handicaps of labor and material shortages to produce food so vital to the winning of the war.

Dairy foods are of front-rank importance in keeping fighters and workers fit, says the National Dairy Council. Food production is the nation's most critical problem. Fighters on the farm are as essential to the war effort as those in munition plants or on the firing line.

Scrap Iron Drive Is Set For June 11th

Local Drive Covers Four Townships

Local Scrap Iron Drive, which is being organized under the direction of L. M. Helland, chairman of the committee, will be held on Friday June 11. Next week's paper will carry complete information on the manner in which the drive is to be handled.

The local drive will cover Belmond, Pleasant, Grant and the east half of Iowa townships and will be organized by the following men: Belmond township, George Braun; Pleasant, Glenn Baker; Iowa, Ralph Wendel; East half of Grant, J. D. Campbell. This committee has named the same group of men who aided in the scrap drive of September, 1942, and they will see that each school district is completely canvassed to locate all available scrap iron.

The workers will be furnished blanks by their township chairmen, on which to report approximate amount of scrap available. Farmers, if they wish, may fill out this blank and turn it in to their school district chairman or at the Helland Implement Co.

Sorenson and Wirtz as well as H. R. Bayliss have been appointed the two official scrap collection depots. Mr. Helland stated that July 1 is the date when all scrap is to be delivered to the two local scrap depots. He further explained that June 11 was chosen as the date for the drive, since it seemed to conflict the least of any date with the work of the farmers.

Mr. Helland asks that all scrap report cards be filled out and returned to his office not later than Monday, June 7, so that complete information as to the amount of scrap and its location may be available at the time of the drive.

Missionary To Speak At St. John's Church

Was Evacuated from New Guinea

Reverend A. C. Frerichs, a former classmate of Reverend H. J. Knoploh of the St. John's Lutheran Church and until recently a missionary in New Guinea will speak at the St. John's Lutheran church Thursday evening, June 10. Admission will be free, although a collection for church missions will be taken at the close of the program.

Reverend Frerichs was evacuated from Buna when the Japanese forces were penetrating dangerously close to his mission station there. After many weeks of travelling by water, land and air, he reached the United States. He indicates that he had the privilege of offering many American and Australian soldiers the hospitality of the Mission Station.

About the Japanese he says," I saw forty-one Japanese soldiers who had been taken prisoners. With slant eyes, darkened skin and sullen countenances, they looked like graven images sitting behind barbed wire. Many thought that they would be shot if taken prisoners. After a few days they became more cheerful and began to talk and sing. The Japanese soldier is hard to understand, but one thing is certain, he is not stupid."

Reverend Frerichs is from Talmage, Nebraska. He was graduated from St. Olaf College and Wartburg Seminary, and went to New Guinea in July, 1937.

22 Robberies Admitted By Clarion Boys

Loot Was Taken In Four Counties

Sheriff Wilson announced Wednesday that four Clarion boys had confessed to taking part in 22 robberies in Wright, Franklin, Humboldt and Hancock counties. They appeared before Judge Fry in a session of the juvenile court Wednesday, admitting their guilt. The judges took their cases under advisement and will announce his decision next Tuesday. They are now in jail at Clarion.

The boys are Bob Rice, Jerry Peterson, and Joe Barnett, all 17 and Orville Paine, 16. Barrett and Paine confessed to breaking into the New Home Cafe in Clarion on April 7 and taking $100 in money. All kinds of loot was recovered by the sheriff except the money the boys had stolen. It seems that the boys had been going to the dances at Clear Lake and committing their robberies on the way home. They raided garages mostly, taking spark plugs, flash lights, batteries, and other merchandise. They stole two bicycles from the Dr. Struck residence in Kanawha.

Paine and Barrett entered a house in Clarion on which remodeling had been completed for a funeral home. Finding nothing they wanted, they about wrecked the place. They smashed light and plumbing fixtures, spilled paint on the floors and walls. The damage will amount to around $200.

On account of their ages, the boys will probably be sent to Eldora.

2nd War Loan Greatest Advertising Operation

7,735 Weekly Newspapers Print 33,164 Ads

The greatest advertising operation in the history of the world was fostered by the Treasury department and carried out by the nation's newspapers, radio and other media during the second war loan, according to Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury.

Mr. Morgenthau revealed that daily and weekly newspapers published a total of 73,939 second war loan ads totaling 72,633,802 lines at a value of $4,564,271.52.

Figures were obtained from tabuations made by the Advertising Checking Bureau, Inc., in the daily and Sunday field and from treasury research in the weekly newspaper field.

In the weekly newspaper field the promotion research section of the treasury reports that 7,735 weekly newspapers carried 33,164 ads for a total linage of 42,048,321 lines valued at $1,201,380.60, based on the national average weekly advertising rate. These ads, too, were all locally sponsored.

It was estimated that daily and weekly newspapers carried more than five million lines of second war loan publicity furnished in mat and plate form by the treasury department, all exclusive of any local stories.

Secretary Morgenthau expressed his sincere thanks and appreciation to the advertising industry and the thousands of advertisers who made the gigantic program possible at no cost to the treasury department.

GOOD PLACE TO LIVE

Belmond is one of the best places in the world in which to live. It was that in peace time! It is that even more so in war time!

The war effort has taken many people away from Belmond; large numbers in the armed services and many families because of securing important defense jobs elsewhere. but still Belmond is a better place to live for us who remain here than any other place we could name today.

Though local incomes and wages may not be keeping quite in step with those earned elsewhere, those incomes and wages do go farther. Our inflation dollar in Belmond will buy more goods and services than it will in larger cities.

We who live in Belmond are bothered by problems of rationing, but they are not as acute as they might be. We have had to reduce the amount of meat and butter we eat, and our milk and cream may not be as rich, but we have not had to go without those foods altogether, as has been the case in some parts of the country.

And for those who must eat out, Belmond's cafe's are still serving good food at prices that are not prohibitive.

The same thing may be said of other local business enterprises. Belmond merchants are not taking advantage of the times to make unreasonable profits, probably the chief reason being that their patrons are their friends.

These are but a few of the reasons why Belmond is such a good place to live.

SATISFACTION

Taxpayers should greet with satisfaction the legislation finally passed which will put our Federal income taxes on a pay-as-you-go basis. Of course, the new system is not going to make the paying of taxes any easier. We will be carrying a heavy burden in 1943, and the 25% portion of the 1942 taxes which was not erased and which is to be paid in 1944 and 1945 makes the tax bill in the next two years look heavy indeed.

But there will be great satisfaction derived when the pay-as-you-go plan gets working. Difficult as it is to carry the heavy financial burden of the war, it will mean a lot to the American people to have the feeling of security that comes when they can get their bills paid promptly. It will be just as satisfying to have the tax bill paid for on time as it is to have the money ready for the rent the first of the month or for the grocer, the butcher or the baker.

—V—

CAUSES OF INFLATION

During 1942, out of a national income of 120 billions of dollars, the farmers got nine and three-quarter billions. While this was double their income for 1939, their increase was only a sixth of the total national increase of around 30 billions for the year. The increase in the income of the farmers, derived from producing food for the nation, did not cause inflation. It is not sound economics to presume that such increase could cause inflation. It was only four per cent of the total national income and its buying power was distributed among a third of the population.

Any causes for existing inflation must be sought in the distribution of the increases in income which went into wages and salaries incident to the development of war industries and the production of war materials, as well as in the policies pursued by the government in its borrowing and spending.

WITH OTHER EDITORS

Vice-President Henry Wallace in a speech delivered in New York recently said that the war period must be followed by full employment of our workers, and suggested private enterprise and government to see that it was accomplished. There is probably no one who will dispute the statement. The only division of opinion will come over the form of employment—whether it is to be furnished mainly by private enterprise or government finances. Government finances are based on taxes, and taxes can destroy the power of enterprise to employ. It is a sort of vicious circle that we should avoid.—Humboldt Republican.

How long must this country be tolerant of Lewis and others of his ilk? How can we allow him to paralyze war industries and still look the boys overseas in the eye? It is time that we had a showdown to determine which is to be the biggest power in this country, the United States government or John L. Lewis.—Sheldon Sun.

The latest estimate of the national income this year is 135 billion dollars That is almost three and a half times as much as it was during the great depression's low when it was around 40 billion dollars. If a national income of 135 billion dollars could be maintained during peace time, which it cannot be, the national debt would not be such a serious problem. —Webster City Freeman.

For fifteen years or more chicken dinners have seemed to hold the top place in the affections of the people. A chicken dinner sign in front of an eating place often filled the tables to capacity. Perhaps we are going to see a change. Just the other day I heard a man say: "CHICKEN again! My Gosh! Can't you get even a little piece of liver to vary this eternal poultry menu?"—Northwood Anchor.

They say the soldiers overseas get really bitter about one phase of the news from home—the strikes. They can't understand why a government which can draft them and put their lives in jeopardy feels it has to handle with gloves the strikers at home who are safe from war and draw wages many times in excess of what soldiers get. Why not the draft to keep them at work as well as a draft to make them fight? And that, brother, is hitting the well known bullseye!—Algona Advance.

Five lawyers in New Haven, Conn., are seeking an injunction to stop the showing of Jack Benny's new movie, "Meanest Man in the World," charging that it debases and defames the legal profession, and portrays lawyers as "ambulance chasers" and tricksters. Think nothing of it boys. Other professions are used to being ribbed in the movies. Did you ever in your life see a newspaper story on the screen in which the managing editor of the newspaper wasn't engaged in some skuldruggery?—Traer Star Clipper.

The big surprise of the smashing allied victory in Africa was the part played by the American troops. They had been well trained. They were well armed. All they lacked was experience. They were a green team, meeting the champions. In their first clash with the enemy as was to be expected, they made mistakes, experienced some severe set-backs. But they profited by their experience, learned the war game the hard way and did not make the same mistakes twice. They are now seasoned, successful troops, eager for the next and concluding battles on the Nazi door-step.—Eagle Grove Eagle.

Investigation of a storm sewer in Gladbrook proved the undoing of "Molly", dog owned by Francile Hall. About forty feet from the point of entrance Molly got stuck and was unable to extricate herself. An hour's work of two men removing bricks finally brought rescue.

NEVER MISSES

"Dead Shot" Don Swanson, 14-year-old farm boy living near Merrill bagged three foxes in three minutes one Sunday morning recently. He used only three shells fired at 15 yards. " And you don't dare miss, because shells are hard to get these days." declared the young hunter.

SPECIAL PROVIDENCE

Leaning from a third-story window of her home in Waverly to salvage a falling umbrella, 3½ year-old Marcella Hefin, fell thirty feet to the ground, but suffered no bones, no sprains and no bruises. When picked up she declared "I fell in the mud and it's raining."

Prittle... Prattle....

It's time to mention that Cecil Carstens, according to Carstens, is a tops with the rod and reel. "Carp" caught six walleyes at Clear Lake last Wednesday night while in the company of T. D. "Doc" Robinson who didn't so much as have a fish nudge his hook and "Doc" is no mean fisherman himself. At least from our observatiton he tries hard. Of course this will start some kind of competition for the two aforementioned nimrods that will probably last through the summer because if we know "Doc" he doesn't consider 'Carp's" ability as much better than that of an amateur.

THE VILLAGE MERCHANT

.(With apologies to Longfellow).

Under a spreading web of rules
The village merchant stands;
His brow is all tied up in knots
His head is in his hands
And there hardly is from day to day
A rule he understands-

His hair is thin and getting worse
His face is grey or blue
His brow is wet with honest sweat;
His set-up is so new!
His customers are dizzy but
The merchant's dizzy too.

Day in, day out, from morn till night,
You can hear the loud disputes
As the women battle for sauerkraut,
Waxed beans and processed fruits;
And the grocer's lot is very bad
Plus some discordant hoots.

And children coming home from school
Look in at the open door;
They love to see how their elders act
In a rationed country store,
When both sides figure their total points
And dispute the final score.

He goes on Sunday to the church and sees the people meek—
And marvels that they are the ones
Who fought with him all week,
And he's glad there are no value cards
When the parson starts to speak.

Toiling, computing, sorrowing, onward through life he goes;
Each morning sees the OPA
With new rules to disclose;
Each evening sees him totter home—
A wreck from head to toes.

His business isn't what it was;
And he knows that he is through
With the days he knew when he could sell—
And he knew all the prices, too.
When "charts" were things a sailor used
When he saided the ocean blue

Thanks, thanks to thee, my merchant man,
For the lessons that you teach!

Into all lives some raindrops fall
With a point value for each—
"I'll take a can of that apple juice.
And how many points for peach?

—The Fig in the Forest City Summit.

June is National Dairy Month

HEALTH for the NATION Depends First On HEALTH for the FAMILY

No other food that you eat the year 'round abounds with as much food value as do dairy products! The discoveries of science . . . the wisdom of the medical profession . . . the knowledge of housewives and home economists . . . all testify to the health-giving qualities of milk and its kindred products.
Today, as never before, the health of our national and our individual families is extremely vital- A nation is no stronger than the amount of dairy products its people consume.

THE HOME FRONT IN IOWA

"Why is scrap so important in the national war effort?"

This question asked by so many Iowans is answered here by Herbert C. Plagman, executive secretary for the Iowa salvage division of the War Production Board.

Says Mr. Plagman:

"Steel is normally made by melting together equal parts of pig iron and scrap. It could be made 100 per cent from pig or 100 per cent from scrap and still be top quality steel.

"But every ton of steel scrap takes the place of one ton of pig iron, and to make one ton of pig iron requires two tons of virgin ore, 1.2 tons of coal and half a ton of limestone. Thus, to make 90 million tons of steel without scrap would require 180 million tons of ore, 108 mililons tons of coal and 45 million tons of limestone.

"There are simply not enough mining, plant and shipping facilities to handle all this tonnage. SCRAP MUST FILL THE GAP.

"In making the 96 million tons of steel scheduled for 1943 for building new tractors, farm machinery and critical household needs, as well as our vital war implements, 48 million tons of scrap will be needed this year. This scrap, combined with 48 million tons of pig iron, will produce the needed steel.

"Iowa's quota of heavy farm scrap for the first six months of 1943 is 100 thousand tons, which when melted with an equal amount of pig iron will produce 200 thousand tons of steel. That shiny new tractor you are driving, Mr. Iowa Farmer, is made of steel that is 50 per cent scrap.

"Unless we turn in unused, worn-out machinery we will not have this scrap to reprocess into new implements for either farm or war use."

THIRTY IOWA CASES

Missouri leads this five-state regional area of the War Labor Board in labor dispute cases certified to the board for decisions with a total of 94 cases involving 30,098 employees. A grand total of 147 dispute cases have been certified from the five states, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Arkansas since the disputes division was estatblished Feb. 17. Of the area-wide total, 30 cases originated in Iowa involving 10,000 employees. Of these cases, 26 have had hearings and four are scheduled to be heard. Th panels are composed of one representative each of the public, labor and industry.

SAVINGS BY MAIL

The Office of Price Administration made the decision to distribute War Ration Book No. 3 by mail for a number of significant reasons. It is estimated that the mail distribution will save thirty million man hours spent by sixty million people traveling to and from registration sites and standing in line. Much of this time is valuable war-production time. Untold thousands of gallons of gasoline and pounds of precious rubber will also be saved, as well as 369 tons of freight space which would have been required to ship the copies of Book No. 3 to local registration sites. All Iowa ration books will be mailed direct to applicants from the OPA mailing center in Chicago.

ARMED FORCES EXCLUDED

Application cards for Ration Book No. 3 should not include any members of the armed forces, whether such family members reside at home, at military posts or elsewhere. Provision for members of the armed forces is to be made at a later date, the OPA states.

NO RESTRICTIONS

As a part of the fuel conservation program, the War Labor Board has removed all restrictions against the purchase and installation of animal wool for insulation. The government is urging home owners to make their homes weather tight before the next fuel burning season sets in.

HOLIDAYS ARE "OUT"

Holidays will mean just another day of work for all employees of federal war agencies. A Washington directive notifies all employees that henceforth Christmas is the only holiday which they will be permitted to observe with a "day off." The policy is in line with that adopted for all war material production plants.

NO VACATION GASOLINE

Iowa ration boards have been instructed not to issue special rations of gasoline for persons desiring vacation trips. The Des Moines district OPA legal department plans to keep an eagle eye, also, on visitors at resort spots during the summer to see that car drivers have not exceeded their 90 miles allotment for pleasure driving. B and C ration card holders are especially warned not to use their cars for pleasure trips.

Lowe Brothers HIGH STANDARD HOUSE PAINT covers solidly more square feet of surface per gallon, wears longer and actually costs less to use than cheap paints. And here is why! Recognized laboratory tests show that many "cheap" paints contain as much as 63% of water and other evaporating liquids—and only 37% of protective film-forming solids. But Lowe Brothers HIGH STANDARD HOUSE PAINT contains 90% of surface protecting, film-forming solids. That's why it costs less to use—why it spreads evenly and saves time and money.

IS A GOOD TIME TO LET PEOPLE KNOW YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO SELL

SELL

Perhaps it is an old dresser or table that you no longer are using.
Or maybe you have an extra stove you don't need, or a set of books you would like to get rid of, it might be something big, like a house or lot, or farm.

Or possibly a cow, horse, or flock of chickens.

Or it could be that you need something and would like to buy it, but do not know where it can be found.

Possibly it is an electric refrigerator, or a length of rubber hose.

Or a good used automobile tire or bird dog.

ALWAYS REMEMBER – Whatever it is you would like to sell, there is a buyer for it.

And if there is something you want to buy, you can often find a person with that same thing to sell.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Beans

So long as a soldier can eat and think up disparaging names for his equipment the Army will do all right. Food is either "beans," or "chow."

"Chow" may consist of a well cooked meal or if circumstances demand our fighting men have learned to subsist on "Ration K," the concentrated food that all of them carry into battle.

With millions of men and women in the services it will require a lot of War Bond buying on our part to keep them happy.

Scrap Drive In Doldrums

Only Nine Counties Are Over Top

Des Moines, Iowa, June 10—(IDPA)—Iowans were admonished today to snap out of their lethargy in the spring scrap iron collection drive.

Herbert Plagman, executive secretary of the salvage division of the Iowa war production board, who exhorted state scrap collectors to get busy, termed the state's present status as "shameful."

"Despite the fact that Iowa ranked 11th in the nation in the fall collection campaign, it now stands near the foot of the list of states in the spring drive to be concluded this month," he said. "Collections reported to the state office as of May 1 show that the state is 70,000 tons short of its goal.

"That there still are ample supplies of scrap to be collected is shown by the record of nine Iowa counties, who have exceeded their goals in the spring drive. Two of them have collected more than double their allotments. We have no reports of any collections from some counties.

"Scrap iron and steel is vitally needed for armaments for our fighting men. Every Iowan should feel that it is his patriotic duty as an individual to turn in the scrap as a means of furthering the victory effort."

The spring drive ends June 30. Iowa's quota is 100,000 tons. On May 1 only 30,000 tons had been collected.

Iowa counties, which have gone over the top and the percentage of their quotas in scrap collected, are North Lee County 232.7, Cerro Gordo 217, Black Hawk 186, Dubuque 145.5, Webster 141.8, Du-Moines 124, Marshall 124, Pocahontas 13 and Scott 108.

On May 1, 37 counties reported collecting 25 per cent of their quotas, 11 from 26 to 50 per cent, 7 from 51 to 75 per cent and two 76 to 99 per cent. The state office has received no reports of any collections from 33 counties.

In the fall scrap drive, Iowa collected 486,506 tons, an average of 379 pounds per capita.

Collections in tons by Wright and nearby counties reported to the state office on May 1 in the spring drive, the quotas and the percentage of the goals collected:

Cerro Gordo—Collected 217 tons; quota, 998; per cent collected, 217.

Franklin—Collected, 19; quota, 1074; per cent collected 1.5.

Hamilton—Collected 0; quota, 1081; per cent collected, 0.

Hancock—Collected, 479 tons; quota 999; per cent collected, 50.

Hardin—Collected 658 tons; quota, 1031; per cent collected, 63.8.

Humboldt — Collected, 399½ tons; quota, 713; per cent collected, 56.

Kossuth— Collected, 373 tons; quota, 1553; per cent collected, 24.

Webster—Collected, 1899 tons; quota 1339; per cent collected, 141.8.

Winnebago—Collected, 817 tons; quota, 823; per cent collected, 99.2.

"Star Spangled Rhythm" With All-Star Cast At Lyric Beginning Sunday

"Star Spangled Rhythm" which is showing at the Lyric Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, June 13, 14 and 15, more than any previous star-studded musical extravaganza on the screen, stands on its own feet as entertainment.

It is not merely a matter of parading stars—on the contrary they are in there working, and the result is a neatly done-up package of entertainment.

The songs are clever and in one or two instances appear headed for the hit bracket. Bob Hope plays himself doing a master of ceremonies at an impromptu gathering of sailors. Bing Crosby also plays himself, singing in the inimitable Crosby style. Franchot Tone, Ray Milland, Fred MacMurray and Lynne Overman do an extremely funny take-off as a woman foursome at cards, while Paulette Goddard, Dorothy Lamour and Veronica Lake give themselves a swell ribbing in the "Peek-a-Boo" number.

An ad showing the cast appears elsewhere in this paper.

Mrs. A. W. Schmidt Carries On Husband's Business With Results

Mrs. A. W. Schmidt was awarded a certificate of merit by the National Travelers Casualty company for being one of the first 10 in the writing of new applications during May. The Schmidt Insurance Agency of Belmond was fifth in new applications written for health and accident.

The National Travelers has this to say, "Mrs. Schmidt took on her husband's 'home work' after he left for the armed service, and you can take it from us, she is doing a swell 'job' of it."

Wright County Wool Producers May Market Through County Pool

Wright county wool producers, who wish to market their wool through the Iowa Sheep and Wool Growers Association of Des Moines can do so through the county wool pool.

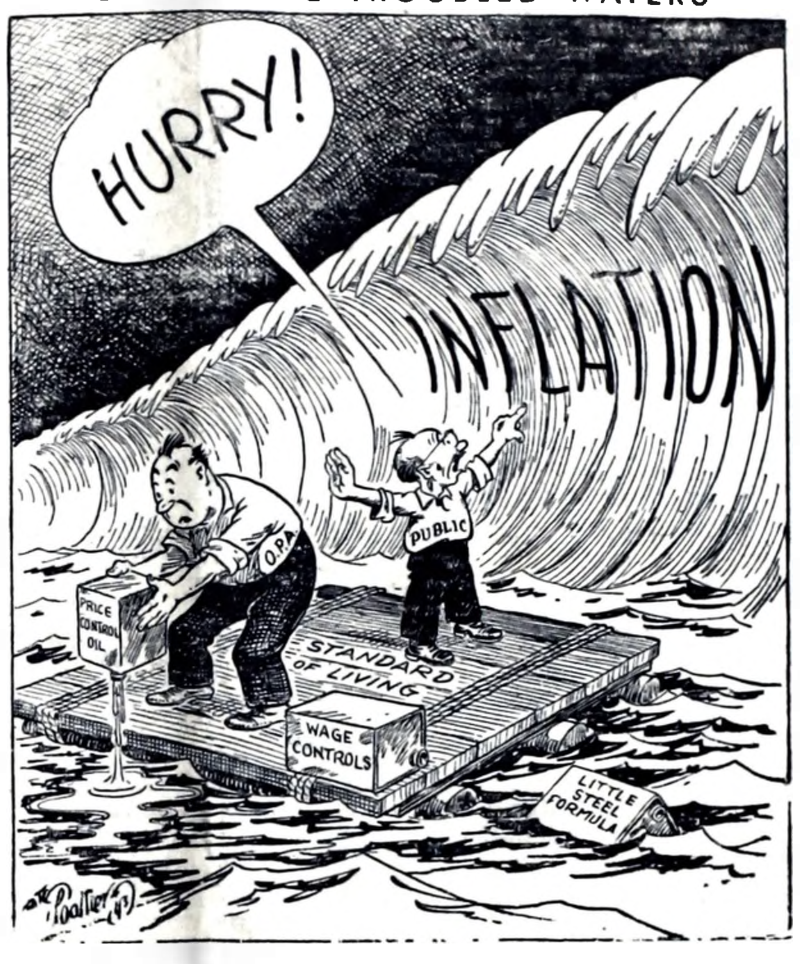
Wool will be pooled at two places in the county: Wednesday, June 16 at the Goldfield Farmer's Elevator; Thursday, June 17 at the Clarion Farmers Elevator.

Information can be secured at the Farm Bureau office at Clarion about where to obtain wool bags and twine.

Each consignment of wool to the Iowa Sheep and Wool Growers Association is covered by insurance.

The association is making a partial payment of 36 cents per pound for medium ⅜ staple, ¼ bright and ¼ low grades. This is approximately 75 per cent of the ceiling value of wool. The final payment will be made as soon as the wool has been graded and payment received from Commodity Credit Corporation.

OIL ON THE TROUBLED WATERS



With The Boys In Service

May 24, 1943

Hello Gang,

Thought I would write you a few lines and let you know how I was coming along. Tell everybody back home that I said hello to them and hope that they are having as good time as I'm having.

I am getting along just fine and have seen a lot of pretty country. Lots of pretty wild flowers. This country is mountainous, has deep soil over the top of them. They raise wheat, have grape vines, oranges and lemon trees. The country has not been settled. There are French people here who farm a part of it and hire the Arabs to do the work for them. There are lots of Arabs here. They do nothing but beg, walk the roads and lay in the sun. The government has some of them working for them here at the air base and they don't overwork themselves either.

The climate is very hot around here and during the day time you nearly roast to death.

We have a baseball team here in our Squadron and we play a game every night in the week but Sunday and by that time we are so tired out that we don't feel like playing. I play left field for the boys.

Well smooth sailing and good luck. Next time you write to George tell him hello for me.

Tell everybody hello for me and tell Studie to save a coke for me as we don't get them here at all.

Love, Merle Obrecht

Robert T. Wallace EM 3-c writes to Wallace Ramsay of the Belmond Independent that he gets a home paper every time a ship comes in from the States. "Bob" says that he gets a kick out of George Hansen's "Crow's Nest" and if George ever gets down where he is that he certainly will look him up. He insists that there is no place like Hokel's Cafe down where he is, but he gets all of the coffee he wants, although he drinks it black because he doesn't care for canned milk.

If anyone tells Bob that it doesn't get cold down there he says that person is crazy because he "nearly froze to death last night" (May 21.) There are a lot of white people where he is but most of them are men.

Urge Farmers to Go Over Top

Friday, June 11, is official scrap drive day in the 32 school districts of Belmond, Pleasant, Iowa and the east half of Grant townships.

From reports already turned in by the school district solicitors, this part of Wright county should go well over 75 tons of scrap iron, since a number of school districts are already reporting as much as two and three tons of scrap available on the farms in their territory. The national quota is three million tons.

L. M. Helland, Scrap Drive Chairman, announced today that a special committee has been appointed to arrange for trucks. These trucks will be manned by groups of local business men who will be on call to pick up farmers are unable to .... tfa.. the heavier scrap iron which farmers are unable to deliver themselves.

Scrap iron will be delivered to the two local scrap depots and may either be sold by the farmer or the proceeds from the sale of the scrap may be donated to any organization he may designate.

The two local dealers who have been appointed official scrap depots—Sorenson and Wirtz and H. R. Bayliss—have agreed to pay $1.00 per ton above market price for all scrap iron delivered to their yards on Friday, June 11, only. Scap iron that has to be picked up, however, will be paid for at the regular market rate.

Mr. Helland stated that reports have been slow in coming in and urges each school district solicitor to bring or mail his report not later than tonight, Thursday, June 10. This must be done so that the pick-up committee may know where to get the scrap iron that farmers are unable to deliver.

Tech. Sgt. Vincent Barry

Flying In The Arctic

Home On First Furlough

Tech. Sgt. Vincent Barry is spending a 15-day furlough visiting his mother, Mrs. Anna Barry, the first furlough he has had since entering the armed services 15 months ago.

Sgt. Barry is in the Engineering Department of the Air Transport Command of the Air Corps and has been in foreign service for a year. The work of the Air Transport Command involves the transportation of men, equipment and planes. He is a member of the ground crew, specializing in the electrical system, but he has done considerable flying in and out of England and Scotland. Although he would not tell us where he has been located, he did say, "we have been carrying on operations in the Arctic. It is cold all the time, and we wear leather, sheep-lined suits while flying."

Though Sgt. Barry wouldn't give many details concerning his work he did say this, "we get around pretty fast." To prove this he informed us that he left New York at 5:00 o'clock p. m. eastern time and arrived in Des Moines the same night at 11:30 central time.

"I haven't been scared yet," Sgt. Barry remarks, "but that doesn't mean I won't get scared. One is not likely to see much action in my branch of the service." He finds his work interestng and is kept so busy he doesn't ever have time to get bored.

Sgt. Barry started his training at Jefferson Barracks, Mo. He then took his technical training at Kansas City with the Transcontinental Western Air Lines and was sent to West Palm Beach, Florida, to await orders before his foreign service started.

SCRAP DRIVE

Uncle Sam wants THREE MILLION tons of scrap by July. And Belmond is going to do its share by seeing that scrop iron is gathered in this territory which includes Belmond, Pleasant, Iowa and the east half of Grant townships, on Friday, June 11.

Farmers, though they are busy now, are asked to search their farms more thoroughly for scrap iron.

Farmers' wives are urged to see to it that such scrap is located and turned in on Scrap Drive Day.

Farm boys an girls can do something else for the war effort by assisting in this big drive for scrap now.

This isn't just something we can do if we have some extra time—this is something we must do even if we don't have time- Our boys must be supplied with the tools to get the job done.

Let's all help on Friday, June 11.

STRIKE UP THE BAND

Many good reports are coming in on the first summer band concert held last Thursay evening. The band played with good rhythm and good harmony, showing good practice and good training. The only thing about the first band concert not so good was the comparatively small attendance.

The personnel of the summer band is quite new, since about 15 members of the band were lost by graduation. However, with around 20 youngsters starting lessons on instruments, the local community can look forward to band concerts this summer with increasing interest and enjoyment. A public address system, when it is properly adjusted will add much to the conierts, particularly the solo parts.

One thing which would add to the comfort of the listeners and which would no doubt help increase attendance is the provision of more benches. Here is something the Belmond Community Club might put on its docket for immediate attention.

This summer, with people staying close to home, the summer band concerts will play a bigger part than usual in the recreational life of the community. Come out to the band concerts Thursday evenings. Show the boys and girls that the town appreciates the work they are doing this summer-

RIDICULOUS!

Another Hollywood scandal is making headlines in the daily newspapers, this time involving the comedian, Charlie Chaplin.

If young women, bringing suit against men of means and prominence, expect to gain monetary returns because they think they can enlist the sympathy of the public and sway the decision of judges or juries, then they should have the wisdom to make demands that are reasonable.

To say that $2500 per month is needed for the support an care of an infant is ridiculous. To demand that much money for an unidentified infant is fantastically ridiculous.

NO FAVORITES

One thing about this war — it plays no favorites as far as the lives of its service men are concerned. Many of our officers have lost their lives along with the men they command. Persons of prominence in civilian life have no greater claim to safety in war than does the unknown. Last week we learned of the death of one of former Governor Kraschel's sons in the service. This week Iowa's former football hero, Nile Kinnick, was reported killed in the line of duty while serving his country.

TIPS ON THE STRIKE

There is probably nothing in recent weeks—or since the war started—that has caused so much talk, controversary and expression of opinion as the coal miners' strike.

It seems to us that th gevoernment, with all the power it has over organizations, business, individual citizens, could do something to handle this problem which is doing so much to hamper the conduct of the war.

The strikers, their leaders and the government (which is trying without the best results to do something about the situation) might take a few tips from some of our midwestern editorial opinion, that is being expressed in such volume at the present time.

strikes

Here is an idea from the Webster City Freeman:

"We read the other day, but have forgotten just where the battle occurred of a fight between picketeers and strikers in which fists and clubs were used with good effect by both sides. In such a fight as that we'd like to see both sides so badly pummeled they would come to the conclusion that it is better to fight the common enemy than to fight among themselves, and the way for them to fight the common enemy is to work for Uncle Sam, assisting him to win the war."

strikes

The Humboldt Independent says:

"This paper is in favor of labor unions, farm unions, press associations and all organizations promoted by the various portions of our citizenship to help them in their efforts for just recognition. But it is against racketeering, exploitation and all combinations in restraint of justice to the other man."

strikes

Northwood Anchor discusses Kansas Labor Law:

"That new law of Kansas which requires licensing of labor union agents, financial reports by unions, reports of dues and assessments imposed on members, and reports of salaries paid union officers is a beginning of a just control which may be spread to other states. Both sit-down and jurisdictional strikes are prohibited by the new law. Although the new law is already being denounced as antiunion it will, if executed fairly, protect union members as well as protect the public."

strikes

Algona Avance reviews the soldiers' opinion about strikes:

"They say the soldiers overseas get really bitter about one phase of the news from home—the strikes. They can't understand why a government which can draft them and put their lives in jeopardy feels it has to handle with gloves the strikers at home who are safe from war and draw wages many times in excess of what soldiers get. Why not the draft to keep them at work as well as a draft to make them fight And that, brother, is hitting the well-known bullseye."

strikes

The Sioux City Journal on slowdown:

"Authorized or not, when thousands of workers in a war production plant lay down their tools in a strike demonstration it slows down output as much as if it had been properly called by union officers."

strikes

The Osage Press compares Lewis and Rickenbacker:

"If this country had more Rickenbackers there would be fewer John Lewises. The ace of World war I has the fortitude to say what he believes and say it without fear of contradiction, for he has been both a laborer and an employer. He is now primarily interested in seeing that no man or group of men obstruct production of any item that will give aid to the boys in the service over the globe."

Whiskers Lend Authority

Pictures from the battle fronts, especially in the South Pacific, show American fighting men concealed behind full-sized beards. The sight brings a shock to a people accustomed to smooth, rubicund faces. These are young fellows, yet they can grow whiskers equal to those of any of the hairy-faced old-timers of our robust past. Fifty years of progress, and the lass who loves a sailor must reconcile herself to a face like the faces on the box of cough drops.

P—P

This revelation raises an important question. Are we due for another whiskered era in our national life? A previous conflict, the one variously called the Civil War and the War Between the States, put whiskers back into social standing. If in any doubt about it, take a look at the portraits of the Presidents preceding 1860 and those for a generation afterward. The Union and Confederate veterans were mostly bearded men, and they exuded a moral and personal influence that American men have not experienced since. In their hirsute-time American manhood reached the apex of its influence. The men who lacked a spade beard, flowing beard, Vandyke, motton chop or set of Galway sluggers was as much a nonentity as if he didn't own a Prince Albert coat.

P—P

A return to whiskers, therefore, could easily have a social significance beyond anything the planners have in mind. The imagination needs little stimulus to discern some of the things that could happen. Masculine control would be restored to the home in a way that the smooth-shaven, soft-faced men of today have not allowed themselves even to think about. All a youngster would require would be one look at his bushy-bearded old man and any thought of rebellion would collapse. The effect on the once-termed gentler sex would be equally convincing. Women have maintained an opposition to whiskers in terms of sanitation, appearance and the sensation they produce of being kissed by a bunch of steel wool. But we have always suspected that the real reason was awe instinctively aroused in them by the sight of a whiskered male.

P—P

Nor would the influence of whiskers be felt only in the home. As E. W. Miller, editor of the Olathe, Kansas, Mirror, recently conceded: "We firmly believe that if a man of our size. with a big, bushy beard, heavy eyebrows and long mustache, would walk into our office today and start giving orders, he would get quick action out of us. Even if he were a stranger and his age, physical prowess and authority were not established, he would be spotted one or two strokes on us to start with.

Maybe the boys in the battle zones are preparing for the brave new world in a way that hasn't been figured on.—Editorial in the Saturday Evening Post, issue of June 5, 1943.

P—P

Yup! Growing a full beard is something we've always had a desire to try, and the "authority angle" gives us a new idea. However, we can't get much cooperation at home because our experimental thirst is quenched about 5 minutes after the whisker situation is suggested. We've let 'em grow as long as four days and then when the suggestion is made that we shave, we make the mistake of saying "this time we're going to let 'em grow and see what happens." That's always the wrong thing to say for momma verbally stamps her foot and before we know it papa once again has a "smooth, rubicund" face.

AMERICAN HEROES
BY LEFF

Three Japs killed with one bullet was the score of Marine Pfc. Nicholas Sileo while defending a small village somewhere in the South Pacific. Sileo dropped the trio as they approached Indian file and then bagged two more before the swarming little men's rifle fire put him out of commission and he had to be hospitalized. Our boys are making the best use of the ammunition which you help buy when you invest in War Bonds. Help pass them more of it.

THE HOME FRONT IN IOWA

OPA PRICE PANELS

Many local rationing boards in Iowa have appointed a price panel to handle price problems arising at retail and consumer levels. These panels, usually consisting of three board members assisted by a price clerk, are appointed by the local board chairman. Functions of the panel include the rapid distribution of material relative to price control, assistance in solving the problems presented by retailers, handling complaints submitted by consumers and retailers, and the collection of data necessary to the processing of applications for adjustment. The panel serves as a "listening post" relative to the development of pressure points in the price control program, and stimulates local interest in price control activity.

SAVE THAT TIN

Two tin cans out of every three that could be salvaged are being thrown away in America today. Collections of tin cans have increased considerably since the program went into effect last spring —from a modest 1,000 tons of tin cans during the first month of the campaign to 20,000 tons in April, but present collections are only a third of conservatively estimated potential. Salvaged tin cans are needed to supplement the nation's supply of three critical war materials—tin, steel and copper.

REPORTS REQUIRED

The War Food Administration has announced that an local slaughterers of livestock are required to make monthly reports of their slaughter operations. Simillarly, monthly reports will be required from butchers, but only for those months when their slaughter exceeds 4,000 pounds of liveweight stock. A "local slaughterer" is any person who in 1941 slaughtered livestock with a total liveweight in excess of 300,000 pounds and who is not registered as a slaughterer in accordance with Meat Restriction Order No. 1.

CAN GET SUGAR

Retailers and wholesalers may apply for a temporary increase in their allowable inventory in order to meet the demands of the home canning sugar program and the increased value of sugar stamps in War Ration Book No. 1, the Des Moines district OPA has announced. Petitions for temporary increases may be filed with local rationing boards for approval. If a permanent allowable inventory increase is sought, the applicant should be sent to the district OPA office.

INDUSTRIAL SALVAGE

Iowa collected and shipped 28.6 per cent of its half-year industrial scrap quota during the first three months of 1943, according tot C. E. Keyes, field representative for the industrial salvage branch, War Production Board. Shipments of the iron and steel industrial scrap were 52,336 tons, while the six-month quota for Iowa is 183,000 tons.

NEEDED FOR SHIPS

Iowa's 100 thousand ton quota of heavy farm scrap which Uncle Sam expects the state to collect by July 1 is sufficient to build six hard-hitting battlewagons and three destroyers. To date, Iowa has turned in enough scrap to complete the destroyers and nearly two battleships. The June drive must pile up enough scrap iron and steel to build the four remaining battleships, for they might be the very ones to blast Japan off the map!

A FINE JOB

Women county chairmen and their committees have done a grand job in the salvage of waste fats, according to Herbert C. Plagman, executive secretary of the general salvage division, WPB. These committees reached 43.6 per cent of their quota for April. Renderers are making a special drive during June to spur the collection of this vital war material.

STAMPS NOT VALID

One cent red ration stamps, which are used principally in making "point change" by retailers and consumers in the purchase of meats, expire on the same date as other stamps of the same letter series, the Des Moines OPA cautitons. Many persons have been under the impression that these one cent red stamps were good even after the rest of the series had become invalid, the OPA said.

THE LAST DAY!

Don't forget—midnight June 10 is the deadline for getting your application cards in the mail for your War Ration Book No. 3.

Announce Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hood announce the marriage of their daughter, Pauline, to Sgt. Jess A Ersland, son of Mrs. Charles Moore of Mason City, Wednesday, June 2, at Clovis, New Mexico. The ceremony was performed at the Catholic Rectory at 7:30 p. m. by the Rev. Father Walters.

Donald Nelson sets Farm Scrap GOAL

3 MILLION TONS BY JULY 1ST

That Means WE Have Got To Get To Work NOW!

BIG figures don't mean much -- because nobody ever saw 3,000,000 tons of scrap piled up in one place. But think of it this way: You and every other farmer in the United States must turn in 1,000 pounds of scrap metal to reach this goal. And it must be reached -- because if you fail, there simply won't be enough steel to make the weapons our boys need to win the war.

How You Can Collect That 1,000 Pounds

One half ton of scrap iron and steel from your farm! You can't make that much up out of old buckets and shovel blades -- though these are needed too. You must throw in that old car body ---- that rusted cultivator -- those old plow bottoms you've chucked into the weeds along the fence for so many years. It's there, all right, if you'll only drag it out!

SPECIAL NOTICE!

Turn In Your Scrap Iron To Either Belmond Scrap Dealer, Sorenson and Wirtz or H. R. Bayliss Who will pay

$10 Per Ton

On Friday, June 11th Only for all scrap iron brought to their yards

Don't say you can't find time, because you have got to. You owe it to the boys that are fighting 24 hours a day all over the world. It's your job to see that they get weapons -- just as it's your job to help keep them fed. And you won't let them down

Here's Why You Won't Fail Our Fighters

The reason you won't, is that they're your own boys, fellows from up the road, sons of your friends and neighbors. And if Donald Nelson says they are going to need 1,000 lbs. of scrap from your farm, you're going to see that they get it...and more if possible. You'll find the time to do this job -- if you've any pride in yourself, your Country, and the men who are fighting and dying for freedom!

"Dear Honor Student:

The 11th Annual Recognition Day was observed on this campus May 12, 1943. As you know, this is an occasion when the college recognizes students who have excelled in scholarship. The members of the faculty and the student body regret that you were unable to be present for the occasion to receive the recognition which you have so justly deserved. I am, therefore, writing this letter and sending you a copy of the program. I wish to congratulate you upon the success which you have attained as a student. I am proud of you as a member of our student body and I trust that you will get a great deal of satisfaction from this recognition which because of your absence, must be acknowledged in this manner.

I am impressed by the fact that those of you who are absent on this occasion are widely distributed over the country. I wish, however, at this time to again take the opportunity to say that you may be assured of our continued interest in you and your activities. Our best wishes go forth to you from the campus as another academic year closes.'

This plan was made necessary because of the loss to the armed forces of experienced postal clerks and carriers. Further information may be secured at the local post office. Announce New Blackout Signals For Belmond

To Use Both Siren And Fire Bell

Thomas Hood, Air Raid Controller for Belmond, announced the following signals that will be used in all future blackouts.

CAUTION SIGNAL

Audible steady note of siren for two minutes.

MEANING

Air Attack Probable. Be on the alert; enemy planes are probably headed in your direction.

Citizens Defense Corps mobilizes. Traffic, vehicular and pedestrian, continues to move. Building lights blackout. Headlights on automobiles permitted on low-beam. If you are in your automobile on the street or road, switch your lights to the low beam and proceed wherever you are going. Proceed with caution. Start thinking about getting to a safe place. If you are walking, continue to walk. Start to think about where you will go if the raid signal follows.

ACTION SIGNAL

Audible signal consisting of fire bell sounding for one minute.

MEANING

Air attack is imminent; raiders may not be more than five minutes away.

Complete blackout except for certain low intensity lights permitted by regulation. Persons seek shelter. All traffic, vehicular and pedestrian, stops. Emergency vehicles, identified as such, may proceed using low beam headlights.

CAUTION SIGNAL

Same as above. Ringing of fire bell for one minute.

MEANING

Air attack still PROBABLE. Remain on the alert; enemy planes may return or a new wave of planes may be headed in your direction.

Revert to same status as under CAUTION. Pedestrians may leave their shelter and resume movement. Vehicles may resume movement, motor vehicles use their low beam headlights.

ALL-CLEAR SIGNAL

Turning on the street lights. Reception of radio signal, resumption of normal traffic, etc.

MEANING

ALL CLEAR; no need or alert; danger from enemy raiders completely past, or unidentiied planes have been identified as friendly.

If after CAUTION or ACTION signal, normal civilian activities and lighting are resumed.

Strong Wind Strikes Alexander Monday Night

Not much serious damage was noted in Alexander, after the storm Monday evening. A strong wind came at ten o'clock and lasted only about five minutes, but during that time several trees were blown over and others had broken branches. One tree at the Arnold Blau home was blown over and fell on the house. The extent of damage to the roof has not been ascertained as yet. At the John Arends farm all the doors were torn from the barn and broken, and many of the trees were damage. At the H. C. Hansen home a tree was blown over tearing down the electric and telephone wires and completely blocking the alley. Their barn was moved from its foundation.

Two Men Rescued From Morse Lake When Small Motor Boat Capsizes

Two men, Anton Ellefson of Goldfield and Elmer Erickson of near Holmes, were rescued from Morse Lake Wednesday night, June 9, when their "red sea-horse" a small motor boat, captized after about ten minutes of cutting thrilling capers on the water to the enjoyment of the crowd around the lake. They cut one corner a little too short and the boat capsized with Ellefson caught underneath and Erickson thrown free. Erickson, who couldn't swim, dog-paddled back to the boat and the two of them clung there calling for help.

The men were rescued from a boat occupied by Rev. N. J. O. Boomgaarden, C. C. Schulte and son Calvin, of Alexander, and were none the worse for their experience except that they got a good ducking.

Training Facilities Are Increasing

The opportunities for women from 20 to 36 years of age to serve their country in the WAVES and SPARS are now increasing daily, with the addition of new schools and training facilities.

This rapidly expanding service now offers expert training at full Navy pay, in typing, short-hand, radio repair and operation, aeroplane motor and metal work, photographic work, parachute making and repair, weather observations, and 69 other highly skilled trades.

Women are needed NOW, and will continue to be needed in ever-increasing numbers, and those now entering the service will have excellent opportunities to be placed in supervisory capacities over the 130,000 WAVES and SPARS who will be brought in later. This group will also furnish the majority of commissioned officers or these branches of service in the future.

Qualifications have now been modified so as to allow women of 59 inches in height to apply, and defective vision is no longer disqualifying in correction to 20|20 is made by glasses. Further, a preliminary doctor's examination is no longer necessary in completing application.

The Navy Recruiting Station at Fort Dodge asks that any woman who is within the age limits specified above; who has no dependents under 18 years of age; who has completed at least two years of High School; and who wants to serve her country now, when the need is greatest, write to the Fort Dodge office, or contact the Recruiting Officer on his next weekly visit to her town.

The month of June has been designated by Governor's Proclamation as IOWAVE month, and special effort is being made during this month in increase women's enlistments in the Navy to a position proportionate to Iowa's contribution of men to that branch of the Service.

Ladies! Unused Safety Pins, Scissors And Pocket Mirrors Needed

A group of six ladies from this vicinity will canvass the town of Belmond on Friday in an effort to pick up all unused pocket mirrors, safety pins and scissors. These articles will then be sent to Dr. Harry Hurd in Des Moines who will see that they are distributed for use in service men's kits. The ladies are particularly anxious to get as many of these articles as possible and will appreciate it if all housewives will have them ready when they call.

Later on this same group will also canvass Goodell and Garner.

Cigarette Fund For Service Men Sponsored By Community Club

Collection of funds to purchase cigarettes for service men who are on duty outside the continental United States started in Belmond a week ago under the sponsorship of the local Community Club. $22.20 has been collected to date.

Milk bottles with signs attached have been placed in various places around town for the convenience of those wishing to make a donation. Five cents buys one package of cigarettes for a service man. Whenever local collections come to $25.00, the money is then sent in immediately. At the rate of five cents per package, $25.00 will purchase 10,000 cigarettes.

In place of the tax stamp which is found on every package of cigarettes for sale to consumers, each package purchased by the people in this community will have a stamp indicating that it was donated by the community of Belmond. It is also the privilege of the local community making a donation of cigarettes for service men to indicate to which war front they are to be sent.

Wright County Needs 600 For Detasseling

Work Will Start Around July 12

Wright County will need up to 600 additional workers to take care of detasseling work in the county, which will start around July 12th and continue through into the month of August.

Registration of non-farm people for volunteer farm work and detasseling work will be given an added push up to June 21st as time for registration in Wright County. Extension director Bowman reports that registration of men, women and youth will be about completed this week.

A big part in filling calls for farm labor assistance in busy times is going to come from town people who have other jobs, but are willing to work for a few hours or part of a day after they have completed their other business. It has been reported that in some towns closing of stores part time or a day or so a week will be necessary if the shortage becomes critical.

Many of those who have registered already indicate that they are willing to take advantage of the long evenings to get in some good licks for the food production program. Others registered will figure to serve half days in extreme busy seasons.

All workers will be paid for their services. Mr. Bowman stresses that only an hour or two put in by all available non-farm people in towns of this vicinity means a lot of production hours when they are added together.

Cards are being mailed to all farmers asking their co-operation in stating their needs as to emergency and full time help needed in the near future. If for any reason you did not have an opportunity to fill out a volunteer registration card and wish to do so please ask at the County Extension office and sign up as once as a volunteer farm worker, or you may contact your local chairman in the community in which you live.

Following are the local chairmen in and for Wright County: Ed Turk, Clarion; C. C. Benson, Belmond; C. L. McAdams, Dows; J. H. Martin, Eagle Grove; W. F. Schroder, Galt; Art Beisell, Goldfield; J. O. Anderson, Holmes; W. A. Rietz, Rowan; and Edward Olson, Woolstock.

Anna Holm of Des Moines is visiting relatives here.

It's Coming!

The publishers of the Independent are announcing this week that both present and future subscribers to this newspaper must expect a raise in the subscription price in the near future. This advance has been forced on us by the increased cost of material and labor necessary in publishing a newspaper.

Sufficient notice will be given to our subscribers before the date of the increase so that they may renew their subscriptions at the present price of $2.00 per year in Wright and adjoining counties, $2.25 elsewhere in Iowa and $2.50 outside the state of Iowa.

Report 48 1-4 Tons Scrap In This Vicinity

Is Scattered In 23 Of 32 Districts

L. M. Helland, chairman of the Scrap Drive held in this vicinity Friday, June 11, announced that 48¼ tons of scrap was reported in 23 of the 32 school districts in the four townships up to Friday noon.

Of that amount, 25 tons was picked up by seven trucks and 14 Belmond men who volunteered their services for the day. The balance was brought in by the farmers.

In the four townships which reported scrap tonnage, there were seven school district in Iowa townships with 10½ tons; six districts in Pleasant with 9½ tons; seven districts in Belmond with 20½ tons; three out of five districts in part of Grant with eight tons.

Mr. Helland stated that on the whole the drive was quite successful, and he estimated that there is a possibility of the total tonnage reaching 60 tons of scrap to be turned in by July 1, the closing date of the present drive. He urges all farmers who have scrap and do not have time to bring it in to call either junk yard in Belmond at once, so that arrangements can be made to pick it up.

WEARY!

If other divisions of the Nazi army are anything like the 175,000 which were taken prisoner by the allied armies in North Africa, perhaps it isn't too much to hope that the war, at least in the European theater, will be over before so many more months have rolled by.

Those German soldiers—most of them—seemed to be weary of war, weary of Hitler, so weary that they accepted with apparent relief the prospect of being American prisoners.

What has happened in Africa can be expected to happen in Europe, once the tables seem to be definitely turning against the Axis.

DANGER REMOVED

We are glad to see that some of the trees and bushes have been cut out of the corner lot a block north of the Independent office. For years the growth of the vegetation on that corner obstructed the view of automobile drivers, causing an unnecessary danger spot for motorists using the streets intersecting there.

WITH OTHER EDITORS—

Once upon a time congress winced when the white house asked for $3,750,000,000 for PWA. Congress debated months whether to consider any such appropriations for relief so fantastic in amount.

The present congress is now passing along two war appropriations which dwarf everything on record—the $72,000,000,000 army appropriation bill and the $29,000,000,000 naval appropriation bill. In the house the navy bill passed without a dissenting vote 360 to 0. The president's request for $72,000,000,000 for the war department and the army in the fiscal year starting July 1 is more than $6,000,000,000 in excess of the January budget figures. Demands for more planes caused this spread.

Together the army and navy starting appropriations bills will top $101,000,000,000, and that's just part of the cost of waging war one year. If this global war goes into 1945, congress may yet see the introduction of appropriation bills in twelve figures.

Wining the war is going to be tremendously expensive. Losing it would be infinitely more expensive. The people of America, including this congress, well understand this fact.—Mason City Globe Gazette.

Talk about taxes, and they are not all hidden, either. Here we pay an eighteen cent nudeal tax on a sixty cent telephone call. Not so bad, but when a lot of this stuff is added up most everybody with any reasonable amount of business pays plenty of tax which does not show on his income report or property tax receipts.—Hampton Chronicle.

Well, all the boys born today have the same opportunity for the future, but some will be unable to grasp their opportunities, to improve and make the best of them. While others will be successful in various activities, and thirty or forty years hence the country will be confronted in all probability with social problems very similar to those of today, not on account of lack of opportunities but simply because there is something inside of people's heads that makes them different.—Webster City Freeman.

The United States seems to have hit on a pattern of warfare against Japan that is both economical and entirely successful. First we allow the Japs to get nicely settled on an island to complete their installations and establish an air field. Then we go in and take it all away from them. The installations and the air fields are then ours without the trouble of building them. That happened at Guadalcanal. It is happening at Attu. It is going to happen on Kiska one of these days. Perhaps our thanks are due to the industrious Japs who faithfully and hopefully are doing so much of our work for us.—Grinnell Herald-Register.

Some weeks ago this column remarked that state pensioners able to work were afraid to forego their pensions and take summer farm jobs for fear they would have a tough time to get back on the rolls when work petered out. But that isn't true any longer. Under a recent ruling the pensioner is not taken off the rolls at all, but the pension is suspended while he has work, and when that is over he goes back on the pension rolls as soon as he reports to the pension authorities.—Algona Advance.

That Iowa editorial wag who made the comment that a "sissy" is a man who resigns from a draft board to become a member of a commando unit" was about right. Prittle... Prattle....

Seen on Main Street, early Sunday a. m.—Albert Fetrow headed west looking as though he would like to be going fishing. There goes Lawrence Gealow in his panel truck headed for Nielsens Service Station. Lawrence is probably muttering under his breath about that downpour we had again early this a. m. as who wouldn't be with acres of potatoes to weed and only three days of dry weather out of the last 10 or 11.

P—P

Ardell, one of the Johnson boys just popped into Brewer's for his morning cup of coffee as did Hank Schultz who always gets down to give Gus Johnson his Sunday morning shave at Gus's home. Ray Brewer just came to work, must have been Emma's morning to open up.

P—P

Here comes L. B. Mackrill, to get someone a fishing license who was in town last night but didn't decide to go fishing until today. Elmer Chapman got down early and is headed for home. Fred Thompson just drove past on his way back to the creamery after calling at the Post Office. Bill Trafford and Tom Hood, two more of the regular Sunday morning post office callers are seen leaving with their mail. Wonder where Bert Hewlett is? P. S.—Bert finally appeared.

P—P

Even Carp Carstens is up early. Must have been the storm that got him out of bed. Ben Blake is a little late this a. m. for breakfast. Always wondered why he painted his car that color First shift of church is out and it will soon be time for those in the swing shift to leave.

P—P

Glad to hear from Neil Flanagan, formerly of the Coast-to-Coast store, who informs us he has arrived safely at Duesenberg Camp No. 1 out of Fairbanks, Alaska. He traveled by train with 18 or 20 other men to Edmonton, Alberto, and went the rest of the way by plane.

P—P

Neil's observations about the scenery as seen from the plane can be best expressed as something he'll never forget. Thousands of lakes, varying in color from a pale green at the edge to a deep blue in the center. The temperature in the mountains varies from one extreme to another and the fishing—this is the country for it" says Neil.

It is hard to tell one day from the next since it gets but dim from 11 p. m. to 2 a. m. The camp is bothered a great deal with bears, brown, black and grizzlies some of them seeming rather ill-natured since some of the men have captured cubs for pets.

P—P

Have you ever noticed how animals, gardens and women need a lot of attention?

P—P

Here is a statement that came to our attention the other day taken from he American Banker Magazine. "No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business mentioned somewhere in its column—The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own is not a valuable addition to any town.

June 11 (Friday)

Arrived in Pleasanton, California today. Things really happen fast in the Navy. On Tuesday we were told at 2:00 p. m. to get cleaned up, pack and be ready to take off at 4:00 o'clock. We didn't know where we were going.

Enjoyed the trip, the country was beautiful through Washington, Oregon and California. I was in charge of 44 men in the car in which I rode. The men are beginning to realize this isn't kid play.

SCENT WORKS BOTH WAYS

Something of a record for one-shot results in wolf hunting is held by seventy-year-old John Siple of Ida Grove whose recent bag of over fifty wolves and foxes was taken by following a hunting creed: "A wolf or fox can scent you like a sliced onion, so you have to be careful to stay down wind. The rest is patience and waiting until you have a sure bead on the critter."

● Folks, meet Bud. He's American. He's tough. That shiner on his left eye—the one calling for about forty points worth of porterhouse—to him is just an invitation to get tougher.

But there's nothing mean about Bud. A favorite with everybody in his block, he fights only when somebody starts pushing him around. He's tough in spirit and fiber. That's typically American. A shiner was hung on our national left eye late in 1941—and just look what our boys are doing about it now because they're tough. Fitted by planning and training they're mastering the toughest job in the world!

Planning and training fitted American railroads for war. They have that spirit and fiber, too. That's why they are able to handle the toughest transportation job in history. They need a lot more equipment, but the fighting fronts have first call, so the railroads—being American—buckle down and make the best possible use of what they have.

Planning, however, must go on. And a financial backlog must be accumulated for carrying out those plans when Victory has been won. That's when ROCK ISLAND'S Program of Planned Progress will resume its forward march; will meet the increased transportation demands of peacetime tomorrow—and provide jobs for thousands of American boys as they step out of uniform.

As yesterday—and today—so tomorrow ROCK ISLAND'S sole purpose is to provide the finest in transportation.

Mission Festival To Be Held At Reformed Church

The annual Mission Festival of the Meservey Reformed church will be celebrated Thursday, June 17th. The program starts at 9:30 in the morning and will continue through the afternoon and evening. Various ministers have been chosen as guest speakers and five sermons will be given during the day. The offerings of the day will be designated to the support of both Domestic and Foreign Missions.

The public is cordially invited.

The young people of the Reformed church met at the church basement for a farewell party on Robert Ruigh. The group presented him with a cash gift of $8.60.

William Frederick Prilipp

William Frederick Prilipp was born June 29, 1849 at Sasig, Germany and passed to the better land on June 7, 1943, at Meservey thus lacking 22 days of having reached the age of 94 years.

In 1886 Father Prilipp brought his family to America and settled near Fort Dodge, where he immeditely became affiliated with the Evangelical church. Later he moved to a farm northeast of Meservey and joined Salem Evangelical church and has been a faithful member ever since. While the German language was used Brother Prilipp served as class leader for seven years. His love for the church and services thereof is revealed by the fact that he frequently walked the three miles from his home to church because of his inability to ride after he had been injured in an accident 40 years ago. And although he could understand the English language he was faithful in is attendance at church and came joyously until about 2 years ago when his feeble condition made it impossible for him to any longer occupy his pew during the services.

His wife, Louise, predeceased him having passed away in 1923. Six of his eight children also passed away before their father:

He is survived by two children, W. R. Rrilipp of Meservey and Mrs. Amelia Yahnke of Vernon Center, Minn. Also by a step son Albert F. Schrader and a sister Mrs. Fredricka Unverferth and 17 grand children and 30 great grand children.

Grief over Grandpa Prelipp's ging is lessened by the firm belief that his was a joyous entrance into our Father's house and of his going Tennyson's words seem very appropriate:

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning at the bar,
When I put out to sea;
But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam;
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.
Twilight and evening bell, and after that the dark
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark.
For, though from out our bourn of time and place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

PTZ FOR WORMS IN PIGS

New phenothiazine worm treatment —easy to give —effective

• PTZ Powder (phenothiazine) has been found to be effective against two types of worms in swine. It removes over 90% of the nodular worms and 60% of the common large roundworms. (Oil of Chenopodium has around 70% efficiency against large roundworms and does not remove nodular worms.) And, best of all, the higher the infestation, the better PTZ works.

• PTZ Powder is not only effective but has the added advantage that it is given in the feed. It is a single-dose treatment and is relatively non-toxic.

• PTZ Powder costs only a little more than 3 cents per pig. Get PTZ Powder from

SELL

Perhaps it is an old dresser or table that you no longer are using. Or maybe you have an extra stove you don't need, or a set of books you would like to get rid of, it might be something big, like a house or lot, or farm.

Or possibly a cow, horse, or flock of chickens.

Or it could be that you need something and would like to buy it, but do not know where it can be found.

Possibly it is an electric refrigerator, or a length of rubber hose.

Or a good used automobile tire or bird dog.

ALWAYS REMEMBER – Whatever it is you would like to sell, there is a buyer for it.

And if there is something you want to buy, you can often find a person with that same thing to sell.

Wigwag

Frequently the Navy, the Coast Guard and the Signal Corps finds it expedient to relay messages without benefit of telephone, telegraph or radio. That is when the semaphore system is employed.

Like a single flag in the "Wigwag" system, the purchase of a War Savings Stamp or Bond, in itself has an infinitesimal effect upon the entire war effort, but when 130 million determined people set their minds to make our War Bond drives successful, the result is anything but infinitesimal. · U. THE HOME FRONT IN IOWA

SAVE BROWN PAPER

A drive for the collection of brown paper and corrugated boxes has been announced by the salvage division of the Iowa War Production Board, due to increasing demands from the armed forces for strong paper containers.

However, the salvage officials declared that these collections are to be made only in those localities where definite arrangments can be made in advance with the local scrap dealer to purchase, assemble and ship this specific type of brown paper to paper mills.

"Do not confuse this campaign with the general waste paper drive of a year ago in which all types of waste paper were collected," Herbert C, Plagman, executive secretary, said in announcing the new program.

He said the need in this drive is for brown paper only, whether bags or wrapping paper, brown paper boxes or containers, corrugated or plain.

Industrial plants, commercial and business establishments and homes are expected to be the principal sources of supply for the brown paper campaign, Plagman said.

FUEL OIL PLANS

Applications for renewal of fuel oil rations for heating purposes will be mailed direct to consumers next month for the 1943-44 winter season, according to R. B. Waller, district OPA fuel oil rationing representative. Fuel oil rations will continue to be issued on a three-month basis to institutional and commercial users, and on a six-month basis to agricultural and domestic users, with these applicants applying in person to their local boards for allotment approval.

FEW IN IOWA

Rationing officials of the Des Moines district OPA say that they are beginning to get inquiries for additional ration points by persons who apparently misinterpret the regulation pertaining to isolated families and workers. Under the regulation, these workers who are unable to purchase eggs, milk, poultry and fish may secure extra ration points to buy additional supplies of canned meats and fish, However, OPA officials express doubt that there are many such families in Iowa. They expressed the belief that those who could not get to town could obtain supplies from nearby farmers. If there are any isolated workers, however, who actually are entitled to extra ration points, they must apply direct to the district OPA office rather than to their local ration boards.

LOWER REQUIREMENTS

Wholesale lowering of physical requirements and a raise in the top age limits for merchant marine volunteers interested in steward department training is announced by the U. S. Maritime Service enrolling office at Minneapolis, Minn. headquarters for Iowa applicants. Fifty years of age is the new maximu mfor applicants for jobs as cooks, bakers or stewards. Minimum for applicants for jobs as months. Waivers will now be granted for minor physical defects such as color blindness and defective vision, as long as the applicant is in sound health and able to perform his duties at sea. Other acceptable defects are under and overweight conditions, impairing hearing, stiff fingers or joints and missing fingers.

USE STAMPS FIRST

Most of Iowa's local ration boards have adopted the policy that housewives must first use up their 10 pounds of canning sugar which they can purchase with stamps in War Ration Book No. 1, before applying to the boards for an additional supply of canning sugar. OPA officials said they believe boards will grant but few extra sugar applications before August.

MORE FARM MACHINERY

A substantially increased program for the production of farm machinery, to get under way July 1, has been announced by War Production Chairman Donald M. Nelson. A total of 300,000 tons of steel, with other materials in proportion, has been allocated to the farm machinery program for the quarter beginning July 1. To assure continuous and balanced production, advance authorizations totalling an additional 200,000 tons of steel have also been approved for each of the three quarters from Oct. 1, 1943 to July 1, 1944. During the third quarter of this year, special emphasis will be given to the manufacture of harvesting machinery. Farm equipment manufacturers are being authorized to place orders for materials for the new program.

SERVED ON BOARD

Rae E. Walters of Harlan, Iowa, the new director of the Des Moines OPA district, had served continuously as chairman of his county ration board since the board was organized Jan. 1, 1941. Like his predecessor, Robert B. Adams, Walters is serving as OPA director at a salary of a dollar a year. "I think I know the griefs that the county rationing boards have," Walters said, 'but I don't pretend to know all the answers. However, I am satisfied that between us, we can work out a solution to all the problems."

IOWA'S COLLECTION

Iowa collected 6,578 pounds of collapsible tin tubes during the month of May to boost its cumulative total to 47,982 pounds. National total for May was 397,052 pounds, a decrease of approximately 10 per cent from the April collection.

DRIVE FOR WORKERS

Director E. Lee Keyser of the War Manpower Commission's Des Moines area, is assisting Des Moines war plants in a drive for 4,000 workers, both men and women. Keyser is urging persons employed in non-essential industries to switch to work in war plants. In most cases, wages paid by the plants are higher than the applicants had previously been receiving, Keyser said.

Although the ship sank in fifteen minutes every member of the crew was saved. He has heard nothing from his family in Lier, Norway, since the German invasion. He has joined a new ship.

In an active preaching career covering fifty-seven years, the Rev. William J. Hastie, Albia disciple of the Church of Christ has missed an engagement to preach only twice. The second time was an appointment at Liscomb, Iowa, May 30. He missed it because of illness. His preaching experience has covered many lands, including New Zealand, Australia, Canada and the United States. He also has traveled in Europe.

IOWA IRON ORE DEPOSITS

Prospect of opening of iron ore mines near Waukon, after abandonment for 40 years, seemed brighter as workmen sinking test pits into deposits in a 222-acre area sent samples to the bureau of mines for analysis. The known depth of the ore is 70 feet and the area is supposed to contain 10 million tons of low-grade ore.

Buy Next Winter's COAL Supply Now!

Buying Coal Early is both a Patriotic Duty and a Protective Measure for every Coal User.

Why? There is no shortage of fuel, but there is an increasing shortage of labor which is getting more and more acute.

Huge war industries, without adequate storage space are using tremendous amounts of coal.

Daily increasing use of railroads means that transportation for civilian necessities may be curtailed even more than now so that next winter's coal orders may be slow in coming through

A SOLO FLIGHT

An experimental rubber balloon measuring ten feet in length and two feet in diameter and appearing weather beaten was found last month on the Hugo Rausch farm three miles south of Fort Atkinson. It is not the usual type of experimental balloon released by the weather bureau. Residents of the vicinity are wondering what was the purpose of the experiment .

1000 Workers Needed To Detassel Seed Corn

Register for Full-time Or Part-time

One thousand workers are needed to detassel this year's seed corn crop in Wright County, according to the announcement this week of the Emergency Farm Labor Department.

Men, women, boys and girls are asked to help, for the whole season of about 21 days or for one or two or three days at a time. The Emergency Farm Labor Committee says "It is a war necessity that the seed corn be detasseled. It must be done and you can help your community by helping in this vital work."

A day nursery, with a competent person in charge, will be provided for the care of children whose mothers may be able to arrange to help with this work, either part time or full time.

Anyone from this vicinity who can help for even one day is asked to register at one of the following places:

Clarion—Ed. Turk or County Extension Office
Belmond—C. C. Benson, Real Estate Office
Dows—Farmers Elevator
Galt—Farmers Elevator

Junior Auxiliary Of Belmond Is Honored

Marlys Parker Chosen Page For State Convention

American Legion Junior Auxiliary Eimbrink Unit No. 35 of Belmond has just received word from the state officers of the Legion Auxiliary that it is considered one of the outstanding junior groups of Iowa and entitled to be represented at the State Convention of the Auxiliary, to be held in Sioux City, August 3, 4 and 5.

The junior representative is to serve as a page, with all her expenses paid by the State Department of the American Legion Auxiliary. Marlys Parker has been chosen for this honor, with Mary Louise Hardwick named as alternate.

The Junior Auxiliary in Belmond was organized a year ago by Mrs. Stephen Hardwick, who has been their leader ever since, and at present has a membership of 17 who are as follows: Carolyn Classick, Betty Lou Dempsey, Donna Marie Dempsey, Nelda Fulton, Marlys Parker, Mary Louise Hardwick, Janis Lou Bailey, Dorothy Halfpop, Imogene Halfpop, Darlene Rierson, Genevieve Thayer, Marian Anderson, Marilyn Benson, Dorothy Hanson, Maxie Jackson, Patricia Champlin and Marlyn Dorr.

Their accomplishments, which merited them the honor they have just received, include the collecting of 700 phonograph records and 35 decks of playing cards, in Belmond for the boys in service, 250 coat hangers for the Red Cross; demonstrating the proper use and display of the United States flag at a P. T. A. meeting; purchase and distribution of 100 Revised Flag Codes and American Creed Cards; distribution of many victory garden pamphlets; sending 5 dozen home baked cookies to the men at the Veterans Hospital at Knoxville; raising money to pay for a year's subscription to the Reader's Digest in braille, at a cost of $10.00 for a blind veteran of World War II, Stephen Dwyer of Humboldt; making large scrap books for the Veterans at Des Moines; donating $2.00 to the local Red Cross and $2.00 to the Belmond Public Library for the purchase of a new book; attending Armistice and Memorial Day services; selling over $100 worth of veteran-made memorial Poppies on Poppy Day. (Betty Dempsey, age 9, sold over $27.00 worth of poppies.)

The yearly dues is 50 cents. The Juniors paid other assessments including $2.10 for Armistice dimes; $1.05 county tax, and $1.05 for holiday cheer. These assessments were based on last year's membership of 21. The girls hold regular meetings with their leader, elect their their own officers and conduct their meetings in the same form as the senior auxiliary.

One Junior, Mary Louise Hardwick, entered the National News Auxilary Contest with the topic, "A Junior's Place in the World at War." The essays were limited to 500 words but have not been judged yet.

Independent Wants Pictures and Birthdays Of Local Service Men

Because of the strict censorship regarding the publishing of certain items connected with the addresses of service men, the Belmond Independent has found it necessary to discontinue publication of the list of service men's addresses in the paper from time to time.

However, the list of servicemen and their birthdays is printed occasionally, and it is the desire of the Independent to make this list as complete as possible. Many local men have entered the service in recent months too, whose pictures are not included among those displayed in the Independent office. Families and friends of service men are urged to send in birthdays and bring in photographs or snapshots to add to the collection at the newspaper office.

Tag Day Here Next Saturday

Occasion Known As "Red Heart Day"

Volunteers of America have been granted permission by the city administration to conduct a tag day here next Saturday, June 26. A representative of the organization has been in Belmond making arrangements for the sale. The occasion is known as "Red Heart Day." Similar events are held here annually.

The Volunteers of America was founded many years ago by General and Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth. The representative of the Volunteers announces that this is to be a young people's drive to help destitute mothers and children throughout the state. The tags will be sold by local girls under the direction of Miss Minnie Riekens, who will be in charge of headquarters and finances. Headquarters will be at the Legion Hall.

The tag day is sponsored by the following local people: Mayor Ed Kennedy, Rev. Foster M. Beck, Rev. H. W. Faris, Mrs. Lucia M. Courson, Mrs. E F Bailey and Mrs. O. T. Jacobson.

Awards

Awards are offered to the girls, securing the largest amounts for their tags

First—$2.00 in Cash.
Second—$1.50 in cash.
Third—$1.00 in Cash.

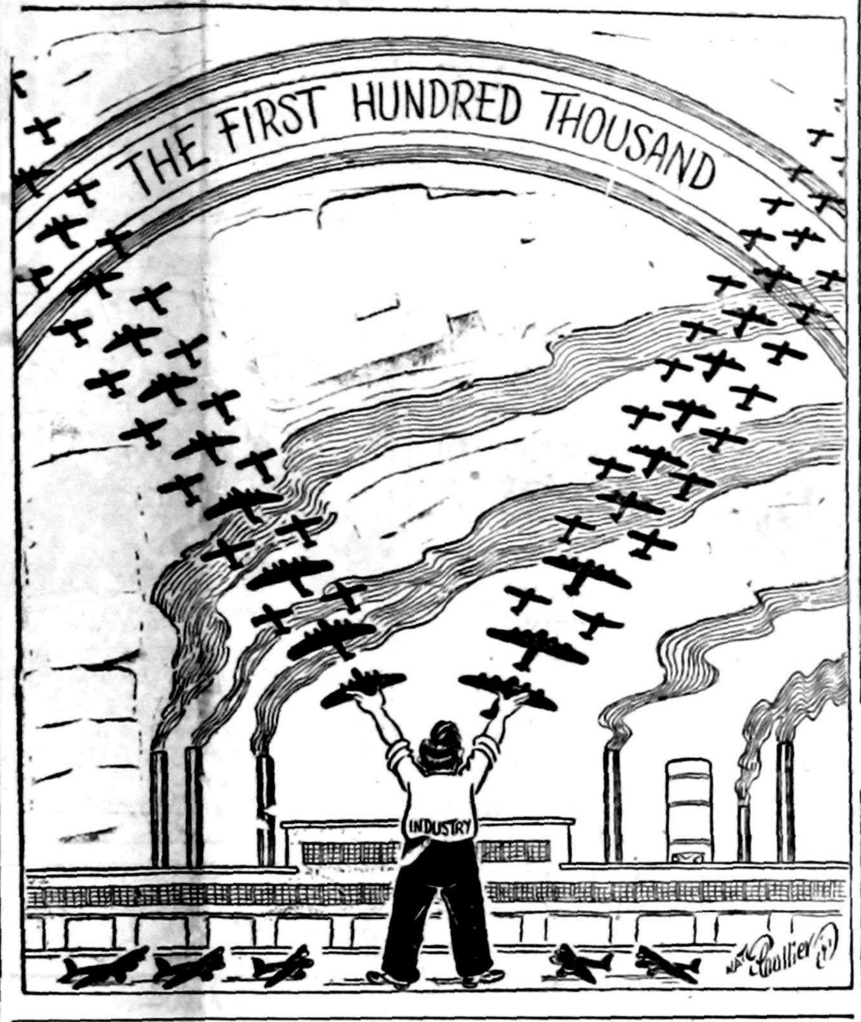
Other workers who secure at least $2.50 for their tags will receive a pass to the Lyric Theatre given by Mr. George Hake.

Girls To Sell Tags

Invitations to help sell the tags have been mailed to a number of girls and the sponsors hope that each one will give at least a portion of her time on Saturday to help the cause. Girls who may not have received a card, but who are interested are also invited to assist. The tags are to be sold as is customary for whatever amount any one wishes to give. Purchasers are asked to display their tags to avoid second appeals.

Mrs. Booth and her associates are known for their work in prisons throughout the United States and there have been organized by the Volunteers of America during the past 47 years, homes for children, the aged, working girls, nurseries, boys' clubs, missions, summer camps and other helpful agencies.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD



With The Boys In Service

Parts of a letter received by the parents of P. F. C. Glenn Slining.

May 17, 1943.

Somewhere in the Aleutians.

Dear Mom and all:

Well, it has been a long, long, time since I last wrote you or heard from you. I certainly miss all my letters and wish I could write more. I was getting a letter almost every day before I left, so naturally I would miss them. I also miss going to motion picture shows, but I guess there will be a day when I will be able to go back to all that. This sort of life is tough but I have had more or less of a break so far.

I have thought lots of home and can picture myself and others as things are being done on the farm as time goes on each year. I think now that the farm and farm life are about as good as anything.

One interesting fact that I have found different from that back there is that it gets light later in the morning and dark lots later at night. I keep thinking at different times during the day what I would probably be doing back there and what you are probably doing. There is so much difference in time that it seems funny sometime.

Tell everybody "hello" for me and don't worry about me. I am still hoping that we won't be here too long.

With lots of love,
Glenn.

Automobile Drivers May Get Licenses At City Hall Until July 3

Automobile drivers may secure renewals of their drivers' licenses in Belmond at the City Hall instead of in the office of C. C. Benson on Main Street, as previously announced.

A clerk has been handling this work at the City Hall since July 21 between the hours of 8:00 a. m. and 12:00 noon 1:00 p. m. and 5:00 o'clock, and will be in Belmond until the 3rd of July for this purpose.

Those in the armed service who have secured drivers' licenses since Sept. 19, 1940, are not required to get renewals until six months after the duration.

The north half of town is being canvassed this week. Those who are helping in this project are Mesdames James Kelly, Barney Vance, Morris Hunst, Fritz Prull, F. Hood and M. Hoover.

Offer Parents Plan In Checking Dangers Of Deaths By Drowning

Alarmed by the continuing high number of drowning deaths in Iowa, the state health department today offered a plan to aid parents in impressing their children with the dangers of swimming.

Basing their report on newspaper statistics, the department said that at least 37 drownings, only one less than for the same period in 1942, have occurred so far this year. As the 1942 toll was highest in 10 years, this means, the department added, that if the present trend continues, Iowa will have another record drowning year in 1943.

To supplement the efforts of the parents, the department offered to write letters about swimming and drowning to the children.

The department proposed, "If the parents will send us the names of the children to whom they want the information sent, we will mail a letter which will include the facts about supervised swimming, the health aspects, and the various safety factors involved. We will personalize the letters by using the names of the children and make an appeal directly to them to help with swimming safety. We will attempt to make them see that drowning is their problem and perhaps, in this way, the rules of safety can be made more impressive."

Communications should be addressed to Public Health Education, Iowa State Department of Health, Des Moines, Iowa. Self-stamped envelopes, addressed with the name of the son or daughter to whom the letter is to go, would be appreciated as a means of defraying costs.

Will Give Away $575 In Bonds

American Legion Eimbrink Post of Belmond will not hold its annual celebration this year, according to a decision reached at a meeting of the organization on Monday night of this week. However plans were made designating Saturday, July 31st, as Victory Bond Day in Belmond with the following committee in charge: C. C. Christie, chairman, Ed Kennedy, C. C. Benson, T. A. Townsan and T. D. Robinson.

Victory Bond Day in Belmond has been set aside as a special day to emphasize the sale of War Bonds, and to promote that effort the Legion will give away $575 in War Bonds at 11:00 o'clock Saturday evening, July 31. A program will also be given on the same evening which will include the formal dedication of the Honor Roll board on the Library lawn, which is being increased in size at the present time to take care of many additional names of service men for which there was not room on the original board.

Families of service men whose names have not appeared on the Honor Roll board are urged to bring the names to the Independent office in order that the list may be complete when the remodelling of the Honor Roll board is finished.

The committee informed the Independent that the program will include a concert by the Belmond Band and a drill by the Boy Scout troop.

It is planned that a bond booth will be set up on Main street for the day and visitors to the community will be urged to buy War Bonds.

Two more teaching vacancies in the Belmond schools have been filled for next year, Supt. Theodore Johnson announced today. This completes the teaching personnel with the exception of two positions: coach and principal.

Miss Katherine Burken of Des Moines will teach English and dramatics in the high school. Miss Burken is a graduate of Drake University and comes to Belmond with four year's teaching experience, two at Colo and two at Clare.

The Home Economics position has been accepted by Miss Ruth Gantenbein of Maynard, Iowa, a graduate of Upper Iowa University at Fayette. Miss Gantenbein taught one year at Allison, Iowa.

REMEMBER

Referring to stories on news and information printed in last week's Independent, let us remind you of several things you should remember to do now or in the near future.

Remember to clip and save the explanation of Belmond's new blackout signals, or better still memorize these signals, so that you will know what to do if another surprise blackout comes.

Remember that the Wright county Farm Labor Committee is looking for 600 workers for detasseling hybrid corn fields.

Remember Farmers- bring in all your scrap iron before July 1 or notify the Belmond junk yards if you have heavy scrap which you yourself can't deliver.

Remember to drop some of your loose change in the Community Club milk bottles which are scattered around town. This money goes for a good cause, to purchase cigarettes for service men on the war fronts.

Remember to give your support to Belmond children by attending the weekly band concerts in the city park on Thursday evenings.

VICTORY?

The Wright County Monitor remarked in its editorial column recently, "If we don't watch out, we will find that the greatest victory of the victory gardens will be the weeds over the vegetables." It is possible this statement may be made to cover more than victory gardens. In recent weeks the weather man hasn't exactly been cooperating in the war effort. Rain every day and every night is making the cultivation of corn and other crops difficult, if not impossible, in many parts of the country. It would be too bad if the weather makes a victory over man's efforts to the extent that a great loss in our food supply results from poor crops.

—V—

SEEMS LIKE A GOOD IDEA

We don't understand all the agitation between the senate, which passed a bill giving itself the power to confirm or reject government employees drawing an excess of $4500 a year, and the president, who is vigorously protesting such an action on the grounds that it would "sweep away years of civil service progress." If the senate can confirm and reject such employees without prejudice or partizanship, however, it is quite possible that a considerable number of our government officials, who are paid well but apparently do little, will be eliminated, thus making a substantial saving of government money and a possible increase in government efficiency.

—V—

Will Take A Lot More Pounding

Those who predict an early allied victory over Nazi controlled Europe, may change their minds after reading a recent news story concerning the power of the Nazi party over all basic industry in occupied European countries. In spite of smashing blows by the combined efforts of the air forces of Great Britain and the United States to German war industries, it will take a lot more pounding before the German Industrial Machine is damaged enough to make an allied victory seem near.

—V—

NEWS FOR FARMERS!

Here's news for farmers! We learn that the War Production Board has "pledged the tools needed for 1944 crops". This is good news for the farmer, but it is also good news for the rest of us. If the War Production Board can promise all the new machinery American farmers need to plant, cultivate and harvest their 1944 crops, and if the WPB can allocate as much as 900,000 tons of steel in one year for this purpose, it looks as if the United States is beginning to solve the problem of securing enough iron ore or scrap iron to Beat the Axis.

—V—

WITH OTHER EDITORS—

It is reported from Washington that our government is planning to bring 100,000 German prisoners, more or less, captured in North Africa, to the United States. The only expression of opinion anent this report is opposition. We believe if an accurate poll could be taken at least 99 per cent of our patriotic people would express opposition. "Why not put these prisoners to work clearing up the wreckage in North Africa?" is a question frequently asked. They can be more helpful there than here, and just think of the amount of shipping space that would be required to bring them to this country, and we are short on shipping. — Webster City Freeman-Journal.

—V—

While warning that Germany is still militarily strong and that hard fighting is ahead, President Eduard Benes, of Czechoslovakia, predicts that Germany will collapse suddenly, just as her army did in Tunisia.

Mr. Benes is not romancing. He is a hard-headed realist but he knows his Germans.

To predict that the Germans will collapse suddenly, is not to forecast a short war or an early victory. How soon the callapse will come depends upon how the blows are directed upon the Nazis.

The quicker and the heavier our assault upon occupied Europe, the sooner the Nazis will give up hope and, when that occurs, the end will be at hand, so far as Germany is concerned. — Pocahontas Record-Democrat.

The American army is unbelievably healthy. The doctors keep fit and make fit the men mustered in, and the results have been incredible, according to Herbert Corey in Nation's Business. The death rate for all diseases is not only phenomenally low, but is lower than has been reported from ony other army in the world. The rate is actually only two to 1,000 from all causes and less than half are from disease.—Webster City Freeman.

—V—

The sooner congress passes a law compelling all labor unions to make a public accounting of all the cash they receive and spend and from whom it was received and what it was spent for, the better the people will like it. It is nothing more than justice—justice to the members of the unions and the people who buy what they produce. — Humboldt Independent.

—V—

Here's one for Hitler and Hirohito to paste in their scrap book. On March 3, 1943, Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., asked the American people to raise 13 billion dollars for war financing. Two months later the job was done and instead of subscribing 13 billion dollars, the American people made it 18 billion 533 millions. And if Uncle Sammy wants more to wipe Berlin and Tokyo off the map he knows where he can get it. —Lake Mills Graphic.

The fight for freedom of the press is the concern not alone of the press, but of the whole people if America is to win its objectives and maintain its freedoms for all people. You, as a citizen, need to help fight to maintain this freedom, because it is your freedom, too.—Red Oak Express.

:-The "Crow's Nest"-:

By George C. Hansen, S. 2|c.

June 11

I am now on the island where the World's Fair was held, known as Treasure Island. I am in the armed guard school, and we start to class on Monday morning. It is strictly gunnery.

The building which the Armed Guards use for sleeping quarters is as large as the Shrine Temple in Des Moines. It is an oversized hotel with everything convenient. We use lockers for our clothes instead of sea bags.

—CN—

June 12

From my bunk I can see Alcatraz Island where the big prison is. I would say it is about six blocks from the shore. I can see both the San Francisco bridge and the Golden Gate, and of course the city of San Francisco across the bay by the same name. I probably acted like a kid with a new toy when I first saw all of these things.

They don't have lights on the island after 7:30 when it starts to get dark. Evidently we are strictly blacked out. In the morning, we go through the Gas Chamber where we are issued gas masks. These we have to have with us at all times.

—CN—

June 13

The training at Farragut was kid stuff compared to the training we are to receive here. The officers seem more advanced, and, of course, many of them teach us from their own actual experience.

—CN—

June 15

I went all by myself to San Francisco on liberty yesterday, left here at 4:30 and was back on the island at 10:00. I ate a steak, went to a show, and was ready to come back. A big city is a lonesome place when you are all by yourself.

FALLS IN WELL

"Buddie," a dog belonging to A. J. Clark of Ackworth fell into a well containing several feet of water on the Dick Craig farm. The dog's barking attracted Mr. Clark who rescued the animal.

Prittle... Prattle....

The Soren Petersen's, so we hear, are boosters for the Independent's classified ads. Three weeks ago, they advertised 6 chairs, 4 rockers and one 4-wheel trailer for sale. Mrs. John Wenzel of Alexander came to look at them and liked the house so well that she and her husband bought it. Not bad for a 30c ad.

P—P

Ted Townsan, we've noticed, is one of the first to call for his mail in the morning. Heretofore he has made the trip in from the plant by car. Saturday he came in astride his horse. Not a bad way to get around if you like that kind of travel.

P—P

The story we read the other day about a clipping from the Dallas County Adel News being used for fish bait and catching a 5-lb. trout hasn't got anything on Wright county's Independent. Anglers from this town have been doing the same thing with the Independent for years when they go fishing down the river. It's nothing to catch a fish (I mean an eight pound northern with a clipping from this sheet. The fish just love it.

P—P

Some folks don't seem to understand the trouble the restaurant man has in getting meat these days. Hence the following little conversation:

The customer looked at the thin steak and glared at the waitress.

"I said well done—well done."

"Why thank you," said the girl, smiling cheerfully. "That's the first compliment I've had since meat rationing started."

P—P

If you've seen the small scale models of an oil derrick resting around Mrs. Herman Schultz's tomato plants you'll understand why Eva Larson told her the other day that it looked as though she had struck oil in her garden. There is a lot of competition already looming up between neighbors during this year of raising Victory Gardens. Some of those around us think they're working longer and harder than we do. Others are specializing on some certain vegetables, tomatoes for instance. Now in our garden you can see tomatoes that are almost ready to turn red. Anyway we think they are.

P—P

One school of victory gardeners believe in planting their vegetables as close together as the width of the blade of a hoe, others like space and plenty of it. So far both types of garden appear to be doing fine.

P—P

In our neighborhood, this gardener of only a few years experience has to go some to make a garden like Dr. Wallace, T. A. Thompson, Julia Jacobson and Louie Foss. We should be able to keep up with Mary Barry who admits this is the first year she has ever done the work in her garden, except to pull out the vegetables for her table. Always had a boy do the work before, never could get Ben to lift a hoe.

P—P

I haven't looked them all over too thoroughly in our neighborhood, but couldn't help but notice what large and good looking gardens the Dr. Larson's and Merle Hokel's have.

P—P

Says Dr. Alan M. Nelson after returnng from a trip to Texas recently, "The only real way to travel if you are going a long distance is by plane, provided you can stay on the plane." Dr. Nelson reports an enjoyable trip on his way to Texas. Catching a night plane at Kansas City, he experienced the thrill of flying through an electric storm—sometimes the plane was just above the clouds, the lightning and the rain, sometimes just below the storm, and other times they were right in the midst of it.

But coming home from Texas, he didn't stay on the plane very long, since 14 passengers were put off in order to make room for the shipment of a heavy casting which was needed in a war plant. Nelson was informed that neither doctors nor captains nor lieutenants have any priority in a case like that. He says, "I didn't feel so bad about the whole thing when I learned that Herbert Hoover had been put off a plane for a similar reason just a short time before.

ATTACKED.

Tama residents were systematically attacked by an owl at evening. Mrs. Ida Sife, E. E. Ehret, Miss Mildred Mulligan and Mrs. Paul Maher were among the victims. Mr. Maher obtained a permit to shoot the attacker but before he could get a lucky shot in, he also was attacked. The bird disappeared in a tree but Mr. Maher saw it later on a high limb, and that was the end of that bird. Another owl was discovered later and was shot by Mr. Maher.

"TRAVOIS"

Johnny Tolsma, LeMars boy, has adopted the Indian "travois" idea used for transportation. The former "travois" used by the Indians consisted of two poles strapped on either side of a horse. On the other ends of the poles there is a little platform sliding along on the ground. Johnny has modernized his 'travois" by putting two poles on his bicycle and fixing the unattached ends onto the wheels of a scooter.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Louis Luick

Mary Louisa Hunt, daughter of Melissa and Curtis Hunt was born in Calaveras County, California, May 16th, 1858, and passed away at her home in Belmond, June 14, 1943, at the age of 85 years and one month.

Her early years were spent in the state of her birth, where she was married to Louis Luick in the fall of 1881.

Fifty five years ago, with her husband and three small children, she moved to Iowa, living in the vicinity of Belmond since that time.

Mother Luick was a quiet, home-loving woman, loved by all who knew her well. Her greatest pleasure in life was serving her family. She was a devoted wife and mother, a loyal friend and a good neighbor. She enjoyed nothing more than having her children and grandchildren around her, and her love for them was reflected in their devotion to her. The end of a long, useful life came peacefully, surrounded by her loved ones, who so willingly ministered to her in her last illness as well as in her declining years.

She is survived by her aged husband, eight children, sixteen grand children, twenty-two great grand children and one great great grand child.

The sons are George M. of Thornton, Charlie A. of Clear Lake, Curtis H., Henry L. and Albert L., all of Belmond. The three daughters are Annie L. Forrestall of Hansell, Marian Smith of San Diego, California and Mattie Farmer of Belmond.

One daughter, Ethel May preceded her in death, Jan. 24, 1911.

The following verse by an unnamed author is so fitting it might well have been written especially for Mrs. Luick:

A noble life, but written not
In any book of fame;
Among the list of noted ones
None ever saw her name;
For only her own household knew
The victories she had won,
And none but they could testify
How well her work was done.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Torpedo Junction

"Awash amidship!"

"Sparks," the radio operator, has sent his final message from another U-boat victim. The lifeboats are pulling away from the doomed vessel as millions of dollars' worth of food, supplies and munitions settle to the ocean bottom in another allied catastrophe in the Battle of the Atlantic.

Millions of dollars' worth of material that was paid for by the dollars we saved and invested in War Bonds. Thousands of man hours have been lost.

We can have but one answer: work harder, save more and invest more frequently in War Bonds.

THE HOME FRONT IN IOWA

Don't be fooled by those stocks of brand new tires you see in the show windows of dealers, the Des Moines district OPA warns car owners. Actually, national stocks of new tires are the lowest in history, according to O. L. Rosier, district mileage rationing repesentative. The reason dealers are showing increased supplies of new tires is that Washington has ordered factories and large warehouses to ship stored stocks to retailers so that persons who have been issued purchase certificates by local rationing boards can find tires to fill the order. The quota allotted Iowa for new tires is far below the demand, but due to the national all-time low there is nothing that can be done about it until synthetic rubber production reaches its goal, Rosier said. That cannot be accomplished for months, he pointed out. Meanwhile car owners are also experiencing difficulty in obtaining used tires. Quotas are adequate, with the result that more certificates are being issued by local boards than customers can find tires for. New tires can be purchased by B and C ration card holders, while A holders can buy only used tires. All certificates of purchase must be issued by local boards, under the quota limit assigned by Washington and the Chicago regional OPA offices.

USED CAR GASOLINE

Purchasers of used cars may qualify for a gasoline ration, even though they were unable to get a tire inspection record from the previous owner. Effective June 21, the OPA said that if the buyer satisfies the local ration board that either no tire inspection record was ever issued fo the car or that he has been unable to get the record from the previous owner after a diligent attempt, the board may issue the appropriate gasoline ration and a new inspection record.

HELP THE WOUNDED

Two small used food cans may save the life of your son! The tin reclaimed from those two cans will make one "syrette"—a small morphine hypodermic syringe which is part of the equipment of every member of the armed forces on combat expeditions. That little "syette" contains enough morphine to deaden pain for 10 to 14 hours in the event a man is seriously wounded. Millions of these are required now. Mililons more will be needed. Remembe—when you turn over two tin cans in the salvage drive, you are helping the medical units of the armed forces care for our wounded boys.

MEN ARE NEEDED

The maritime service enrolling offices at Omaha, Neb., and Minneapolis, Minn., have been assigned a quota of 150 enrollees a week. Volunteers cannot get into this service through selective service induction, but anyone can volunteer, except men who have received induction notices. Age limits are from 17½ years to 35½ years, although the steward department will take them up to 50. Training includes the 16 month midshipman corps, the seven month radio school, the seven month purser and hospital corps school, and shorter periods in deck, steward and engineering. There is no age limit for officer candidates qualified as former seamen, college, stationary, locomotive engineers or machinists with marine engine experience.

FATS AND GREASES

In May, Iowa housewives turned in 116,544 pounds of waste kitchen fats. This total will furnish enough potential glycerine to fabricate 349,632 gas masks, release mechanisms for 145 depth charges, fire 333 shells from a 12 inch naval gun and fire 1,165,440 rounds from 50 caliber airplane cannons, according to the salvage division of the Iowa War Production Board.

FIFTY CARLOADS

Up to May 31, Iowa this year has shipped 50 carloads of processed tin cans to the detinning plant, the salvage division reports. Yet this represents only approximately 12 per cent of the available tin cans in homes, restaurants, hotels, and other instittions.

SILK AND NYLON

Iowa's collection of silk and nylon stockings from Jan. 1 to May 15 totals 49,564 pounds. This places the state in tenth place in the nation for salvage of this vital war material. On April 1, Iowa was only in twelfth place, climbing to tenth when April and the first half of May collections were reported.

CRACKED CORN MARKUP

The price division of the Des Moines district OPA has announced that dealers who buy a carload of yellow corn, run it through the elevator, crack it and sack it, are entitled to a markup of $2.64 a ton. This is figured at a markup of four cents a bushel plus two cents a bushel for sacking, to which can be added 50 cents a ton for the cracking process and the cost of the sacks.

MARKETS ARE WARNED

The Des Moines district OPA warns meat markets that hamburger is the only meat which can be pre-ground and placed on display for sale. Other grades and cuts of meat can be ground only to individual order in the presence of the customer.

Miss Marilyn McGuire leaves for Hampton this week where she will be employed in the Hampton State Bank.

Hinman Tells Of Early Operations Of Creamery

Was President of Board 26 Years

Arthur Hinman, who was president of the Board of Directors of the Farmers Creamery Company of Belmond for 26 consecutive years, gives information about some of the early operations of the company.

Organized in 1906, the first plant was financed with a capital stock of $1600 raised among a group of interested farmers, with Chester Luick and George Elder being among the most instrumental in getting the creamery started. The first Board of Directors included C. P. Luick, Lewis Helland, Fred Loats. A. C. Hinman, and E. Luick. Chester Luick was the first president and George Elder the first secretary. Oscar Jenison has been secretary since 1926.

A man by the name of Vanderham was the first buttermaker.

Mr. Hinman indicates that since its organization the Farmers Creamery Company has had just three buttermakers: Mr. Vanderham, Clyde Jennings, and Fred Thompson who has been buttermaker since 1938.

The first creamery building was a wooden frame structure moved here from Cornelia and was located near the present Great Western depot on the bank of the Iowa river. The building had an ice house on the north side. Its equipment was meager and was operated by steam power.

Most of the butter manufactured by the creamery in its first years was shipped to New York. At that time and until several years ago the farmers delivered their own cream to the creamery. Perry Anderson was the first cream hauler. Later on the route was divided among Anderson, Elmer Henn and H. B. Dorenkamp. At the present time the creamery has five drivers hauling cream from farm to creamery.

During the conversation with Mr. Hinman, he made some remarks which we quote as follows: "The creamery is a blessing to the farmer of this community who gets his cream check twice a month." "If there is anything I am proud of in this town it is that creamery. It even went through the depression in fine shape." "It has been a growing concern from the start."

BELMOND LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Boughton of Waterloo spent the week end at the Fred Madsen home.

Miss Jeanne Bailey of Des Moines spent the week end at the home of her mother, Mrs. Margaret Bailey.

There were twenty relatives in attendance at Sunday dinner at the John Waltzing home. The occasion was the birthday of Mr. Waltzing.

Marvis Hake returned home on Friday night from the University hospital at Iowa City where she had recently undergone an operation.

RECOVERING

On the Ed Steffes farm near Audubon, a cow recently bitten by a rattlesnake, is recovering. The head of the animal swelled more than twice its normal size. Serum was administered by a veterinarian.

COMMUNITY AFFAIRS

A community shower honoring Steamboat Rock Mayor and Mrs. Raymond Karsjens was held last week. Everyone in the community was invited; a program committee was appointed; everything possible was done to honor the new bride and groom. Mr. Krasjens has been mayor since 1938.

NEW PUZZLE

Residents of Decorah have been attempting to identify a plant growing in T. A. Jayne's victory garden. The plant shot skyward to a great height before one leaf or branch appeared. Later slight, vine-like projections and a few small leaves began growing. No two people have agreed on the name for the strange plant, although a number have attempted to correctly identify it.

Mrs. Raymond Ross returned home from a visit with her husband at Nashville, Tenn.

Jack McGuire of Des Moines was home over the week end with home folks.

Buttermaking Problems Discussed At Meeting

Iowa State Brand Ships Quantities For Lend-Lease

At the annual meeting of the Iowa State Brand Creameries, Inc. at Mason City on Thursday, June 24, at which time Fred L. Thompson, buttermaker at the Farmers Creamery Company of Belmond, was awarded first place in their buttermaking efficiency contest, problems of present day butter production were discussed:

"For the duration of the war and perhaps longer, we can expect to be obliged in the marketing of butter to follow the pattern decreed by our government," the manager stated. "Many of these regulations are arbitrary and severe. However, adequate provision appears to have been made for profitable marketing by efficient organizations. It appears that we will be able to adjust ourselves to these regulations whatever they may be.

"If we are to be obliged to face an extended war, further depletion of manpower and exhaustion of materials will undoubtedly be inevitable. Critical problems will surely follow.

"The government today is taking 70 per cent of all cheese manufactured, and it is to be expected, therefore, our cheese department will continue to suffer accordingly. Already 4 months are required for delivery of some package items. High priorities are now required for the purchase of all creamery equipment. Whether wood material will continued to be available for tubs is very uncertain."

During the past year Iowa State Brand Creameries, Inc., has shipped butter to Russia under lend-lease arrangements and has sold large quantities to other government agencies.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Henry Meinders

Mrs. Henry Meinders nee Pauline Sophia Stadtlander, the youngest daughter of John and Pauline Stadtlander was born on January 2, 1887 on a farm east of Belmond. In this vicinity she grew to woman hood enjoying the blessings and privileges of being brought up in a Christian home, attending public school and divine services. On the 20th of January, 1909, she was happily united in marriage to Mr. Henry Meinders by the Rev. J. G. Thielken. This union was blessed with two sons and four daughters who all remain to mourn their mother's departure. Immediately after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Meinders commenced farming and so continued until the death of Mr. Meinders on December 19, 1937. In the spring of 1938 Mrs. Meinders made her home in Belmond where she passed away Sunday evening, June 20 at 7:40 o'clock at the age of 56 years, 5 months and 18 days. On the 11th of October, 1942 she was taken into the fellowship of the Immanuel Reformed church where she attended divine services and partook of communion as often as circumstances permitted.

She leaves to mourn her departure, her six children: Alfred Meinders, Thornton; Mrs. Thomas Harken, Thornton; Marvin Meinders, serving in the armed forces somewhere in Africa; Mrs. William Vierkant, Alexander; and Pauline and Verbena Meinders at home. Also four grandchildren. She also leaves to mourn her three sisters Mrs. Louise Wolters and Mrs. Emma Dorenkamp both of Belmond and Mrs. Herman Lauen of Meservey and many other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, June 23, 1943 at 1:30 at the Immanuel Reformed church Rev. O. G. Poppen officiated, assisted by the Rev. E. Kampmann of Meservey. A choir rendered three selections especially dear to the departed. Burial was made in the Belmond cemetery.

ADVERTISING PAYS

Oscar Winger of Decorah recently lost his pen and placed an ad in a local paper in an effort to locate it. Soon he received a large package, with a number of smaller packages inside each one neatly done up inside the others. Finally the last and smallest one contained the pen. Mrs. Winger was the sender of the package—the pen was found under Oscar's dresser. It was not known whether Mrs. Winger received the reward.

POINTS GO UP IN SMOKE

Fire in the smoke room at the Holmberg and Erickson market in Decorah destroyed a large amount of ham and bacon. The fire was confined to the smoke room, but all meat in the process of being smoked for farmers and for sale by the market was destroyed.

CARD SHOWER

Allan Weiss, Anamosa merchant, received 168 birthday cards, in remembrance of his 21st birthday recently. With each card was a handkerchief. Allan also received three birthday cakes and numerous other gifts.

Stores To Close All Day Monday, July 5, in Observance of Fourth

Election of officers was held at the meeting of the Community Club Tuesday evening with officers and Executive Committee reelected from last year as follows: C. C. Christie, president; Fred Thompson, vice-president; George Hake, B. C. Hewlett and Dr. A. M. Larson, the Executive Committee.

It was announced at the meeting that the Executive Committee had voted to request Belmond stores to remain closed all day on Monday, July 5th, in observance of the Fourth of July which falls on Sunday this year. Included among the places of business closing all day are The First State Bank and the Liquor Store. The Post Office will remain open, but there will be no rural mail delivery on July 5.

It was reported at the meeting that $42.00 had been collected to date in the fund for cigarettes for service men. The Club voted to send the first $25 worth of cigarettes to Guadacanal.

RECEIVED THANKS FROM WHO

In connection with canvassing of Belmond to secure mirrors, scissors, safety pins, etc. to be used in kits for service men, Mrs. James Kelley received the following expression of appreciation from Robert Burlingame of WHO:

"Thank you for the fine contribution to the Emergency Kit campaign made by you and your fellow workers. It was a pleasure to give due credit for this enterprise on my war service billboard of June 23."

Loans On All Sealed Corn Produced In 1942 Must Be Repaid Now

Notice has been received by the Wright County A. A. A. office that all sealed corn produced in 1942, in accordance with the terms of the note, must be repaid in full in cash, or by delivery of the collateral, in accordance with the terms of the loan document by July 15, 1943.

All resealed 1938-1939; 1940 and 1941 corn has previously been called in, which was to be liquidated by June 30, 1943.

It is suggested that all producers receiving their marked "Paid" notes return them to the county A. A. A. office in order that they may be released from record at the Wright County Recorder's office. Some banks mail them direct to the A. A. A. office for releasing. Others turn them over to the producer.

Fred L. Thompson Wins First In Buttermaking

Has Score of 99.18 out of Possible 100

Fred L. Thompson, buttermaker at the Farmers Creamery Company, was awarded first place in the Buttermaker's Efficiency Contest, sponsored by the Iowa State Brand Creameries, Inc. with a score of 99.18 out of a possible 100 points. The award was made at the annual meeting of the Iowa State Brand Creameries at Mason City on Thursday, June 24.

This is the second consecutive year that Mr. Thompson has won this honor for the Farmers Creamery. His score last year was 99.19. These two scores are the highest records that have been made in the 16 years the Iowa State Brand Creameries, Inc., has been in operation.

The score was based on the skill of the buttermaker and his assistants in controlling the moisture content of the butter within the narrow limits around 16.2 per cent standard, the salt content at the 2.5 per cent standard and the accuracy of weights of the tubs of butter.

Mr. Thompson's assistants in buttermaking are Lynn Hull and Harold Nielsen, Jr. Curtis Rise, now in the armed forces, was also an assistant.

The present board of directors include George Thompson, president; Ramer Goeman, vice president. John Chapman, Glen Baker, Peter Svendsen, Homer Hammond and Peter Bohning. O. D. Jenison is secretary-treasurer.

Drivers who haul the cream directly from farm to creamery include A. J. Meints, Harley Henn, William Meints, Merlin Finn and Curt Luick.

Announce "Campaign To Salvage Beeswax"

Because of the greatly increased need for beeswax for war, Forrest Colder, Secretary of the Wright County Bee Keeper's has announced a "Campaign to Salvage Beeswax" will be instigated in Wright County.

Beeswax is used in coating to protect and lubricate shells, in protecting coatings for fighting planes, in models employed in designing planes, in ointments for the Army and Navy in dental work for soldiers and sailors and innumerable other war products.

Specialists estimate lots of wax going to waste and an extra million pounds of beeswax is now needed. Simple ways to get more wax cited by specialists are from bee-keepers who do not save wax, from culling hive combs, saving the scraps of wax, killing the wax moth and obtaining the abandoned wax from ex-beekeepers.

The ceiling price of beeswax has been set at a cash price of 41½c per pound or in trade at 43½c per pound.

Local salvage committees should urge the collection of beeswax from beekeepers even if the quantity is small.

Town People Responding To Farmers Needs

Still Short Of 1,000 Man Goal

"Although still far short of the 1000 man goal set up as the need for detasselers in this county, Wright County can be justly proud of the response its merchants and town people are giving to this problem," is the statement of the Emergency Farm Labor Committee.

Merchants of some towns have indicated they are willing to do their bit, if and when the need should arise, by going out a few hours after closing time. Some have indicated they would either close one day a week or a couple half days should things become critical. Boys and girls of all ages are registering, some as low as eleven years of age, wanting to do their part. Housewives are signing up for either a few hours or for full time work.

James Larsen, Clarion high school athletic coach and instructor in agriculture, has been engaged by the County Farm Bureau and State Extension, co-operating for the summer months, as special field man in the Farm Labor Program. His duties will be to assist in the organization and registration of all emergency farm help as well as to assist in filling all requests for help. He will work under the supervision of the County Extension Director with headquarters in Clarion, but his work will be with local farm labor boards and representatives in all sections of the county.

Most urban centers of Wright county are holding another house to house registration to obtain a larger sign up of the emergency farm help needed, especially for detasseling. Farmers are doing their part to relieve the labor shortage by pooling work with neighbors, and in many cases, girls are out in the field operating farm machinery to replace men who are in our armed services. Anyone who can assist in any type of farm work even for a few hours a day should sign up with their local farm labor representative. The county extension service has charge of the county farm labor program. Registration can be at either the county extension office at Clarion or with any of the following farm labor representatives: Eagle Grove Mayor Martin at City Hall; Clarion, Ed Turk; Belmond, C. C. Benson, Real Estate Office; Dows, Farmers Elevator; Galt, Farmers Elevator; Rowan, Rowan Grain & Lumber Co.; Woolstock, Farmers Elevator; Goldfield, Farmers Elevator and Holmes, Farmers Elevator.

Independent Published One Day Late Next Week

The Belmond Independent will be published one day late next week, coming out on Friday instead of Thursday. This is made necessary because of the cooperation of the newspaper in remaining closed all day Monday July 5, in observance of the July 4th holiday.

Seek Farmers Who Can Do Custom Combining

Are you willing to do custom combining? This is a question that will be asked all Wright county combine owners in a survey now under way. The purpose of this survey is to locate all of the combines in Wright county and to find the amount of custom work each is expecting to do and the custom combining of oats and soybeans that each operator will be able to take care of. The location of all the combines will aid in assisting farmers in getting all of their oats and beans harvested in the quickest possible time to avoid having any of the beans standing in the field throughout the winter.

A similar survey will be made of all mechanical corn pickers later on in the season. Farmers who own combines and do not receive a survey card through the mail should notify the county extension office at Clarion at once.

Women's Assembly Line Fills Red Cross Kits

NOTICE

The local rationing board has been directed by the regional OPA to keep all serially numbered documents and coupon books in a safe overnight. There is no provision for funds to rent or purchase such a safe. It is the hope of the local board that someone in this territory may have a safe which they will loan to the rationing board for the duration.

C. C. Benson, chairman, stated today that the board would greatly appreciate any information that might lead to finding a safe.

Belmond Chapter Ships 432 Kits Weighing 700 Pounds

Ten local women made up an assembly line at the home of Mrs. G. H. Steele to fill 425 Kits for Service men, which the local Red Cross had made during the past few months under the direction of Mrs. Steele, production chairman.

Starting at the dining room table and working through the living room to the front porch, where the kits were completed and packed in boxes, the ladies each had certain items to place in the kits as they were passed along. These items are as follows: Book (variety of interests); writing pad, envelopes and pencil, candy; shoe laces, safety matches, razor blades; playing cards, cigarettes; shoe shine cloth; and Housewife made by the local chapter which includes six sewing needles, three safety pins, 50 yards white and khaki button thread, 15 buttons for a variety of garments from underwear to raincoats.

Total weight of the Kits which were shipped to Red Cross headquarters in St. Louis was 700 pounds. From St. Louis the kits are sent in carload lots to points of embarkation for service men. Each service man who leaves the continental United States is given one of these kits at the time of his embarkation.

Local women who helped assemble the items which went into the kits include Mesdames Ed Kennedy, B. C. Hewlett, C. N. Hildebrand, C. C. Christie, Louis Foss, Robert Hansen, T. A. Townsan, Miss Matilda Skovlin and Miss Genevieve Monson. T. A. Townsan, representing the American Legion, roped the boxes after they were packed.

The Junior Red Cross assisted Mrs. Steele in folding, pressing and marking the kits. The lower grades at the school wound thread on spools and tied buttons in bundles of three.

Dr. Steele, counting up the yards of thread used in stitching the kits, figured that Mrs. Steele had sewed up approximately ten miles of thread which is about five miles of machine stitching.

With reference to other Red Cross production work, Mrs. Steele is urging all knitters to turn in completed garments in order that the present quota, which should be ready for shipment now, may not be held up.

CONTRIBUTION

Belmond chapter of the Red Cross received a contribution of $25.00 this week from Perry E. Canfield of Seattle, Wash., with this notation, "I am sending a contribution to the community from whence it came."

GOODELL HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire, Monday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kramer, three miles west and one-half mile south of Goodell, was estimated at a loss of $300.

Damage was centered mostly in the upper part of the house and through the efforts of the neighbors, a crew of Hancock county REA men and the Belmond Fire Co., the flame was extinguished. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Apply Now For New Gas Ration Books

To Handle Registration By Mail

Application forms for renewing basic gasoline rations are now available at tire inspection stations and should be picked up by motorists and motorcycle owners as soon as possible.

The forms must be filled out and mailed to the rationing board in order to get new "A" and "D" coupon books to take the place of present ones which expire on July 21. To save the public time and trouble, arrangements have been completed to handle the renewals by mail.

Early applicants will assure themselves of getting their new books before their present ones expire. Mail renewals are planned to make the task of getting new coupons books as easy as possible. There will be no schoolhouse registration this time, and car and motorcycle owners will not be required to come to the Ration Board to get their ration books. The books will be mailed back.

It is desired that autoists and motorcyclists will cooperate by not waiting until the last minute to file their application. This would mean delay and inconvenience to everyone concerned.

The application form is a simple one that can be readily filled out largely from information on the car owner's registration card and present tire inspection record. Tire serial numbers must also be written in.

The application when filled out, is to be mailed to the Board together with (a) the back cover of the owner's present 'A' book (properly filled out), and (b) the current tire inspection record showing that proper inspections have been made.

Application forms may be obtained from the following places:

Girls Take Over Farm Work

They Do Custom Bailing

Average 10 Hours Daily

A pick up bailer crew of two girls, a 10 year old boy and one man solved the labor shortage for John Eekhoff of Norway township in Wright County.

"They do the job as good or better than men," was John Eekhoff's comment as he fed the machine. Ada Eekhoff, his sister placed the wire while Gladys Roskamp, a neighbor girl, did the tying. Harlan Eekhoff, a ten year old brother of John's, drove the tractor that was furnishing the power. The thermometer was registering just under 100 degrees in the shade but there was no shade in the alfalfa field of Gerhard Schreur where the pick up baler was doing custom work.

Both Gladys Roskamp and Ada Eekhoff are farm girls. Their reaction to girls replacing men for farm help is that they are only doing their duty to help produce more and they do not consider it unusual at all. They both do housework in the morning and evening and work on an average of ten hours daily doing custom baling. The girls are both unmarried. Gladys' boy friend is serving in the army.

The pick up baling rig is owned jointly by John Eekhoff and his brother Henry Harold Eekhoff, who is now in the service of his country in North Africa.

The "crew" now has about 120 acres of hay to bale from the field and will probably bale straw following combines.

"How does 10 year old Harlan like his job of driving the tractor?" "Aw, this is fun," he answered.

With The Boys In Service

"I've been a busy sailor," remarked Raymond Johnson, electrician's mate 3/c, "since the day the Japs blasted us at Pearl Harbor." Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson, is home on a short leave visiting his parents and friends in Belmond after three years of duty in the Navy. He has been through four major sea battles including those in the Coral sea, Marshall islands and Gilbert raid and the Solomons. His ship, a destroyer, has seen plenty of action, "and we've come a long way in evening up the score with the Japs" said Ray.

While on board ship his job is making electrical repairs during the day time watch and at night his crew mans a searchlight. In addition Johnson has also worked in a gun crew. He will go back to duty Saturday of this week.

Clark McNeal received a letter from Cpl. Eldon Loats stationed at Camp Sibert, Alabama, in which he states "Right now we are enjoying a rest period before going on maneuvers. We are close to a river which is swell for swimming and fishing (trout and bass) and that is where I spend most of my time. We also built ourselves a ball diamond in a pasture so we can have a few ball games.

We try to keep our tents as clean as we can because they are going to be our homes for several weeks. You'd be surprised at all the nice things we have built to make this place as comfortable and nice as possible.

We will have a 12 hour pass during this period and once in a while they take a truck load to Chattanooga. The girls around here are pretty too."

EFFICIENT PRODUCTION

The Belmond Independent wishes to add its congratulations and best wishes to the many other words of praise and commendation being offered this week to the Farmers Creamery Company: Buttermaker, Fred Thompson; the Board of Directors; and the Personnel, on the achievement made in gaining top honors again this year in buttermaking in Iowa.

Several factors were considered by the Iowa State Brand Creameries, which sponsored the buttermaking efficiency contest in making the award. The score of 99.18 out of a possible 100 points was won by the Farmers Creamery Company through the skill of the buttermaker and his assistants in controlling the moisture and salt content of the butter within the narrow limits of a set standard as well as the accuracy of weights of the tubs of butter.

Since its organization, the Farmers Creamery has made a real contribution to the town of Belmond and to its farmer patrons. The reputation of Belmond butter has been known far and near, and we are sure this reputation will be guaranteed with the personnel constantly striving to maintain a high standard product through efficient production.

WE SUGGEST THE DRAFT FOR MINERS

Although a great many people fret and fume about the increasing control of the government over various phases of our American freedom, it might be said that some of this control has developed or been necessitated by wrong-thinking Americans who are misusing the privileges of their precious freedom.

No better example of this can be found than the coal miners' strikes which have been a continual source of trouble to the government for many weeks and an obstacle to the smooth operation of some of our vital war industries.

The government has had much more patience in dealing with this situation than most individuals or private organizations would have had in a similar instance.

Although Congress and the president don't seem to agree on methods of handling this situation, it seems to us that the best idea presented so far is that of drafting all miners, who come within the draft age, into the armed forces and putting them back to work in government operated mines during this war emergency. If the miners had to change even their present pay for army pay, they might get together and see to it that their leaders stop making unreasonable demands.

PRETTY COMPLICATED!

This inflation business is pretty complicated.

When the cost of living started going up, the administration thought it was getting the situation well in hand. With heavy income taxes to be paid by a large percentage of the nation's wage earners; with a considerable portion of the nation's pay checks invested in war bonds; and with the restricted supply of consumer goods on the retail market, it seemed that money would not be circulating so freely that a major inflation problem would arise.

But it did!

Then the OPA decided to subsidize certain agricultural products in order to lower retail prices without affecting the income of the producer, giving as a reason that this action would help curb inflation. But who wanted subsidies besides the OPA? The farmer didn't, the manufacturer didn't, the consumer didn't. No one seemed to be too much upset by the higher cost of living.

What they are going to do about it we don't know. We'll just have to wait and see.

But we repeat: This whole business of inflation is pretty complicated.

ARE WILLING

Last week we learned about the activities of a group of 17 local girls during the past year which we think are worthy of particular mention. We refer to the Junior Auxiliary of the American Legion, which in the short time since its organization has contributed so much to both local and national projects.

Too often we fail to notice the efforts made by our young people, and too often do we fail to realize that they are interested in present-day problems and want to do their share in helping.

Today is another scorcher . . for want of a better place the youngsters are swimming below the dam . . . isn't it too bad Belmond doesn't have a decent place to swim, even a remodelled gravel pit with a life guard in attendance would be better than the river.

A passenger got on a bus at Des Moines recently. He wanted to smoke, so parked himself on the back seat, where such indulgence is permitted. No sooner had he lighted his cigarette than two gray haired, grandmotherly ladies located in the seat opposite him. and he courteously tossed his cigarette out the window. In a few minutes the two old dowagers lighted cigarettes and started a smudge which resembled Berlin after a blitz visit of the RAF. One simply does not know what to do to please the ladies these days. It must be the war!—Sibley Gazette.

It seems there is a great deal of truth in that old saying, "Nothing new under the sun." During the first World War twenty-five years ago people were complaining about rationing hardships just as are people nowadays. In 1918 the Camden, (N. Y.) Advance printed the following from a contributor: ""My Tuesdays are meatless; my Wednesdays are heatless; I'm getting more eatless each day; my home it is heatless, my bed, it is sleepless—they're all sent to Y. M. C. A.—The barrooms are treatless; the coffee is sweetless each day I get poorer and wiser. My stockings are feetless; my trousers are seatless. . . My Gosh- how I hate the old Kaiser.

If you like quizzes, score yourself on this one and find out how good an American you are. 90% or higher and you're a Read American. If you score 80% you're a Good American, and 70% a Fair American. What's your score?

1. Are you buying Bonds on the 5% or 10% Payroll Deduction Plan? If so, take 5 points for 5% or 10 points for 10%.
2. Have you given blood to the Red Cross or been refused by them? 10 points in either case.
3. Are you growing a Victory Garden? 10 points.
4. Have you collected and disposed of all needed scrap materials? 5 points. If your home is saving fat, add 5 more points.
5. If you are a war worker and were not unnecessarily absent a day last month, take 10 points. If you are not a war worker and are enlisted in any volunteer war service, take 10 points.
6. Are you sharing rides, conserving your car, gasoline and rubber? Grade yourself according to your conscience. 10 points for best performance.
7. Are you hoarding unrationed items, or did you buy excessively before rationing began. 10 points if you think you are entitled to them.
8. Did you vote in the last national election? 5 points. Last municipal election? 5 points.
9. Do you repeat rumors that may be harmful to the war effort? Take 10 points if you are not, 5 points if in doubt.
10. Have you helped morale by writing letters or sending gifts to any person in service? 10 points.

AMERICANS ARE STILL THE BEST NOURISHED PEOPLE ON EARTH ...AND THERE'S A REASON

Our food may be stretched out these days to share with the peoples of the United Nations, but thanks to new scientific developments in animal feeding, our feathered and four-legged armies are being greatly improved in quality and propagation.

To tiny yeast cells goes much of the credit, because brewer's yeast is the source of the vitamins used to fortify feed mixtures. Now, when you eat meat raised on vitamin-fortified feeds, you're getting nutrition plus.

Finn-Winslow Wedding

At a 3 o'clock single ring ceremony Sunday afternoon in the M. E. church at Hampton, Miss Gwyneth Finn, daughter of Mrs. Frank Finn, became the bride of Roy Winslow, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Winslow of Dows, with Dr. W.C. Cleworth officiating.

Preceding the ceremony, Paul Morreson of Waterloo sang "At Dawning" and "Because" accompanied by Mrs. C. L. Brendt who presided at the organ. Miss Jean Bottom of Des Moines read "How Do I Love Thee."

The bride wore a princess style gown of white ninon sheer over net and satin. Her veil was of English net and gathered to a rose tiara outlined with seed pearls. She carried a lazy shower bouquet of gypeophila, white roses, rose buds and blue delphinium. Her only jewerly was a double strand of pearls. Miss Ann Finn served as her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. Francis Finn of Des Moines as matron of honor. Miss Ann Taylor of Chicago and Miss Jean McWie of Hampton were bridesmaids and were attired in gowns of ice blue and blush pink taffeta respectively.

The groom was dressed in tropical tan and was attended by his cousin Edward Tell of St. Louis, Mo. Mrs. Frank Finn wore a gown of peach lace and Mrs. Roy Winslow was attired in Miami pink crepe. Both ladies wore a corsage of white roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, guests were served cake in the church parlors, during which the following program was given. A violin solo by Francis Finn, vocal solo by Miss Jean Bottom, an original pianologue by Hazel Masterson and a vocal solo by Paul Morreson.

Mrs. Winslow is a graduate of Iowa State University and has been teaching speech in the Osage schools. Mr. Winslow graduated from Dows high school and has been successfully engaged in farming. After a short wedding trip, they will return to their farm home five miles west of Dows.

THE HOME FRONT IN IOWA

Destroy unused ration stamps when they expire and help destroy the black market, Raymond S. McKeough, regional OPA administrator, said in an appeal this week to all Iowa consumers.

Black markets thrive on unwisely used ration stamps, he pointed out, and it is to the public's interest to see that stamps go only into legitimate channels.

Ration stamps are turned in to wholesalers for replenishment of foodstuffs by retailers, and although expired stamps may no longer have a value to the consumer, they still may have value to the jobber. In the hands of an unscrupulous person, such stamps can be used to obtain goods outside regulations, whence they go into the black market, the administrator declared.

"Don't merely tear out expired stamps from your books and throw them into the trash basket or on store floors or counters," McKeough advised. "Destroy them so they can't possibly fall into the hands of black market operators.

"In addition, don't trade stamps with your neighbor. This may cause a dislocation of the even flow of supplies and upset the even distribution of foodstuffs available for public consumption after the needs of the armed forces have been met."

McKeough summarizes regulations on use of stamps as follows:

Blue Stamps

Coupons for processed foods and vegetables should be detached in presence of sales person when purchase is made. In case of delivery at the door, delivery boy must detach stamps. Housewives must not remove stamps from book in advance and hand them over separate from book.

Red Stamps

Stamps for meats and fats are under the same regulations and must be handled the same way as blue stamps.

Sugar, Coffee Stamps

Same procedure as for red and blue stamps is required in use of coffee and sugar stamps. Coffee stamps may be detached, however, and mailed with orders for coffee to concerns which accept such mail orders.

Shoe Stamps

Where a purchase of shoes is made in a shoe store or shoe department of a store, proper stamps must be detached from book by sales person. Where shoes or other rationed footwear are ordered by mail, as from a mail order house, coupons may be detached from book and sent with order. Such letters should be registered.

Gasoline

The gasoline purchaser must not remove his stamps, but hand his book to the filling station operator, who is required to detach the stamps. Purchaser must write in ink on back of each coupon the license number of his car. Many motorists do this far in advance as a safeguard in case book is lost or stolen.

Fuel Oil Coupons

Coupons to be given up at time of delivery. No coupons may be withheld and no delivery may be made until it is determined that sufficient coupons are available for amount ordered.

OFFSET THE LOSS

Wholesalers who suffer inventory losses in rationed cheeses due to cutting operations may apply every three months at their local board for ration points to offset the loss, the OPA has announced. Heretofore wholesalers have been granted points to make up for shrinkage losses, but no provision was made for cutting losses. The new amendment became effective June 26.

MAILING BOOK NO. 3

Three Iowa penal institutions are assisting the Des Moines district OPA in mailing out War Ration Book No. 3 to all consumers in the state. Inmates at Ft. Madison, Anamosa and Eldora are doing the job of mailing the first million books under the direction of OPA officials. Assistant supervisors were hired locally in each of the three localities. OPA officials estimate that at least 600,000 Iowans received their books direct from the Chicago mailing center, leaving approximately two million to be distributed through the Iowa setup. Consumers who do not receive a new ration book by Aug. 1 are asked to notify their local ration boards of the omission.

WATCHING LAKE RESORTS

District OPA investigators will be assigned weekly to check on motorists who visit Iowa lake resorts, according to Donald D. Holdoegel, chief counsel. B and C gasoline ration card holders who are found to be more than 45 miles from their ration jurisdiction will be asked to furnish an explanation to their local ration boards. The program is part of the OPA's nation-wide drive to eliminate illegal pleasure driving by holders of occupational gasoline ration allotments. Holdoegel also said peace officers of the state were furnishing excellent cooperation in the drive to hold all drivers to a 35 miles an hour maximum.

the U. S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill. Now a qualified "striker", he will be assigned to active duty with the U. S. Fleet, or at a Naval shore station where he may soon earn a petty officer's rating.

Seleced for this training through a series of aptitude tests, he has received both technical training and practical experience in his selected line of work.

Pvt. Donald Thomson, who is now taking training for eight weeks on the Mojhave desert in Southern California, sent home the following poem. The poem was written by a friend of his and describes the general love felt by all the boys for the desert.

"Mojhave Desert"

In the California desert, Mojhave is the spot,
Battling terrific heat waves in a land God forgot.
Just sitting here thinking of all we left behind,
I'd hate to put on paper what is running through my mind.
I wash my mess kit daily, I peel
a million spuds,
I pay out many dollars to wash
my dirty duds.
Out in the desert with my rifle, down in the ditch with a pick,
Doing the work of an ox and too damned tired to kick.
Down with the snakes and lizards,
down where a man gets blue,
Down at the very bottom, two thousand miles from you.
At night the heat keeps coming;
It's more than a man can stand.
No, we're not criminals or convicts, but the Defenders of a Mighty Land.
We're the soldiers of the triple
"A" forces, earning our little pay,
Guarding people with millions, for a buck and a half a day.
Living only for the morrow, and lonely for our gals,
Hoping when we return, that they're not married to our pals.
What obstacles will confront us,
is very hard to tell.
Let's hope it's nice in Heaven,
'cause we're serving our hitch in hell.

VOL. 24 No. 37 — BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA, THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1943 — THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

Back In U. S. After Eight Months Duty

Johnson Is Member Of Fleet Air Wing

Clifford Johnson, Ptr. 2|c, of the United States Naval Reserve spent last week in Belmond after arriving in New York on June 22. This was the first time he had been in the States for eight months.

Johnson is a member of the Headquarters Squadron of the Fleet Air Wing and is stationed somewhere in the north Atlantic. He has 80 men working under his supervision. His first duty with Navy was on a destroyer tender and transport ship. He has traveled approximately 3000 miles on water.

Johnson enlisted in the Navy July 29, 1942, and came home on leave the following September after finishing "boot" training at Great Lakes, Ill. He was then sent to Norfolk, Va., spent a short time in New York, served with the Armed Guard at Boston and boarded ship Oct. 12, 1942 at Portland, Maine.

Better than a censor's censor, he would not give any information about his present duty, but he did make some generalized remarks. He says "The boys in all branches of the service are very upset over the strikes at home and wonder why they can't be settled." "Of all the branches of the service, I like the Navy best."

PIANO RECITAL

Mrs. Mabelle Townsend will present her entire student group in Piano Recital at the Congregational church Tuesday evening, July 13 at 8:30 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

Local Girls 4-H Club Disbands and Gives Treasury to Red Cross

Belmond Pleasant Pals 4-H Club disbanded this week with a balance of $15.16 in its treasuury. It was the wish of the present members of the club that this money be donated to the Belmond chapter of the American Red Cross.

After many years service to farm girls, Belmond Pleasant Pals is breaking up for the present because its members are too scattered to continue the club work: some of the girls are away at school and some are away from home working. At the time of disbanding, Miss Ruth Baker was president of the Club and Miss Herma Halverson the Club Leader.

Jeffers Stresses Need For Strict Issuance Of Gasoline Coupons

Copy of a telegram from Rubber Director Jeffers to Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown stressing the need for strict issuance of gasoline coupons and tire certificates, has come to the attention of the Independent which is as follows:

"I know you and your organization here fully realize the necessity for strict adherence to the announced tire conservation regulations particularly during the next few months. We will be making synthetic rubber but there will inevitably be some delay in fabricating it into passenger car tires because of shortage of facilities, equipment and manpower. Reports from all over the country indicate that it will help your local Boards perform their duty in holding down mileage and thereby reducing the number of requests for new tires if the public were better informed of these facts. I hope and believe it would help all concerned to get through this critical period if you would impress upon your Boards and in turn have them advise the people in their community that all conservation measures should be strictly adhered to. We do not want to be forced to impose any new and more drastic regulations other than limiting eligibility for Grade Three tires but this may have to be done if present regulations and advice does not bring the necessary results to tide us all over this period while we are scraping the bottom of the barrel for tires to keep essential cars in service."

Wheel Chair Is Idle

The Independent's wheel chair is standing idle at the present time at the newspaper office. Anyone in this vicinity needing the use of a wheel chair may secure the free loan of it by verifying their need with a doctor's certification.

Since the wheel chair first came into the possession of the Independent in March, 1941, it has been used by 10 different persons in the local community in periods of four weeks each.

Need For Worn Out Silk Hose Is Critical

Urge Saving Of All Tin And Waste Fats

The need for worn out silk and nylon hose continues to grow more critical. In many cases women have turned in all of their remaining salvage hose but there are still hundreds of pairs stuck away in boxes and baskets. In case the hose have been used in a hooked, crocheted or braided rug which is no longer in use the rug may be turned in. The TOPS and BOTTOMS do not have to be cut off of the hose. Hose of the following classification are wanted: all silk; all nylon, mixtures of silk and nylon, silk and rayon, nylon and rayon silk and cotton or nylon and cotton. Hose must be washed before turning in to the collection depots.

Wright county's quota has been set at 285 pounds per month.

In order to speed up the collection of waste kitchen fats meat dealers have been requested to accept salvage grease in any type of tin can—with or without tops. Paper or glass containers CANNOT be used.

The critical need for tin makes necessary a still more concentrated effort in the collection of tin cans. In addition to all the other vital needs for tin, the tin from two small household food cans is sufficient to make one "Syrette" a midget size morphine hypodermic syringe for some soldier boy's first aid kit. The syrette contains enough morphine to deaden pain for 10 to 15 hours in case a man is seriously wounded. In that time the stretcher bearers can get him to a hospital unit or relief station.

The need for salvage materials is still great and must be kept in mind even though the summer months bring work for the busy housewife.

Mrs. H. L. Gowdy is local chairman of the Women's Salvage Committee. Mrs. J. K. Hilton of Clarion is the County chairman.

Dorr Tells BIG Fish Story

Can You Top This One?

Has Bite To Prove the Tale

Many Belmond fishermen have reported good catches made from time to time, but none can top the story going around town about the narrow escape of A. J. Dorr while he was fishing Monday afternoon in the Iowa river near Belmond.

A large hook on the end of the fish line caught a strange fish, but A. J. failed to land him. He did estimate that the fish would weigh about 90 pounds, more or less. He says, "I had quite a tussel and was pulled down stream some distance before he got away. I was attacked by several other fish, and received a bad bite on the finger from one of them."

While attempting to land the fish, A. J. plainly saw engraved on a scale some Japanese writing and the date, 1892. It was thought from the description that it might be a Beka, found in Jap waters. A. J. says, "It could be possible, since the former editor of the Independent, George Hansen, supposedly now in western waters, may have made it so hot for this fish that it sought peace and quiet in the Iowa river." A. J. says he is going to wait for Mr. Hansen's return home before he attempts to get the monster again. In the meantime he advises all fishermen to watch their steps and be wary of what they may get on the end of their fish lines.

(Ed. Note).—Needless to say, the editors of the Independent can take no responsibility for the authenticity of this story. They can only suggest that interested parties may seek further information from A. J. himself who at least has a fish bite to prove some of this tale.

THE STATE HAS MONEY-

Last week it was announced that the Iowa State Treasury has a balance of 54 million dollars and that the State's books show an increase of eight million over last year. This increase occurred in spite of the fact that the 1942 state income tax was halved in order to make payments of Federal income taxes easier for Iowans.

Now, we wonder just why it is that a single state can collect its taxes, pay its bills, promote enterprises for the welfare of its citizens and come out on top, while the Federal government continues to get more and more deeply in the red?

We presume Iowa is way ahead of most states in its financial standing. However, if the other 48 states could make as good a financial statement as Iowa, they shuold have plenty of money to use for new projects that will be needed after the war is over. Another idea is that they might pool some of their surpluses to help wipe off some of the gigantic National debt which is hanging over our heads and which causes some of the people no little worry.

REAL MAN'S WORK

Women have been doing their part to help the war effort in a great many different ways: They are helping to build airplanes, making shells, working in ammunition plants, running tractors on farms, taking over the management of business enterprises more and more because of the absence of men. Yes, they are doing lots of things which a few years ago were left almost entirely to the stronger sex.

One of the most unusual things we have learned about in this respect is the job a couple of Wright county girls have undertaken. They are doing custom bailing for farmers and making a real business of it. Operating a machine in the fields for ten hours a day, with the temperature nearing 100 in the shade at times, is real man's work in anybody's language.

—V—

"KEEPING CLEAN"

Learning recently about the problem which is confronting laundries in Iowa war centers in turning out an increased amount of work with on increased shortage of labor, brings up a thought which has come to us before.

Keeping clean is quite a job and not a cheap one according to American standards of cleanliness. Furthermore, "keeping clean" is as much an American characteristic or habit as "keeping well-fed."

So it is important that the plight of the laundries be given consideration along with the problems of agriculture, industry and other phases of American life, all of which are in some way tied up with the war effort.

In peaceful America no way has yet been found to reconcile the difference between religious denominations who have different ideas about immersion and sprinkling, close and open communion, or child baptism. Sometimes a simple statistic tells a complete story. The office of war information recently published a booklet "The Tale of a City," describing conditions in Warsaw, Poland. But the whole story of the German occupation, which is paralleled to a lesser degree in all occupied countries, is told by the following figures: 1939—Warsaw deaths, 7,300; births, 10,000. 1941—Warsaw deaths, 21,800; births. 8,000. Nothing more is needed to give a clear picture of Hitler's "new order."—Waterloo Courier. . .

WHAT TO WRITE TO SERVICEMEN

The Office of War Information offers these pointers for homefolks writing to soldiers, sailors, and marines—based on suggestions gathered in a survey among service men at home and overseas, in cooperation with the Special Service Division of the Army Service Forces:

Tell Him:

1. How the family is doing everything possible to help in the war.

2. How anxious the family is for the boy's return.

3. How well and busy the family is. Give details.

4. How the family is getting along financially.

5. What's doing in the community: news about girls (single) he knows, doings of friends, who's marrying whom, exploits of the home team and other sports events, social doings, effects of the war on the home town. Reminisce a little about past events and places the boy used to visit. Enclose clippings from the home-town paper.

Don't Tell Him:

1. Your troubles. He has troubles of his own.

2, Your complaints. He can't do anything about them.

3. About things you are deprived of. He can't supply them.

4. Doleful predictions about the future. He's fighting for the future—now.

5. Unnecessary details about financial troubles. If there are things he should know about family finances and he is in a position to do something about the situation, tell him. But don't string it out.

June 21

Tonight I am aboard my ship which is docked at San Francisco, for repairs. They should have everything fixed by tomorrow when we will be pulling out for some nearby port where the ship will be loaded.

There are 22 men in our crew. (The duty of the Armed Guards, of which I am a member, is to stand watch and man the guns on cargo ships). I am in a crew of four men on a three-inch gun, and my job is the sight-setter at the bow of the ship.

—CN—

June 22

Seven of us live in a room about the size of an ordinary bedroom. We use the mess room for reading and writing. This is one duty where we are served at a table and have our choice of foods, order from a menu. One thing the Armed Guard is noted for is taking good care of its men.

—CN—

June 23

We are now on the water and will dock someplace this evening when the loading of the ship will start. We are told to have folks at home send letters Air Mail or V-Mail and they will then be forwarded to other ports.

We have a good crew and a chief that is O, K., just strict enough to make himself respected by all.

Last night I saw a good show in San Francisco, "Action In the North Atlantic." The action took place on the same type of ship on which I have my duty, and the Armed Guard played a part in the show. I would recommend anyone seeing it, if they get a chance.

—CN—

June 25

We don't get much sleep on this ship, because the loading crew works all night, and there is plenty of noise. It is hard for anyone to realize what a lot these babies will hold.

Prittle... Prattle....

Seven Belmond ladies, Mrs. Barney Vance, Mrs. Morse Hunst, Mrs. Jen Hood, Mrs. Fred Pruell, Esther Rose Finn and Mrs. Hoover came through in grand style in doing something for the war effort.

As Mrs. Vance said, "I was listening to the 10 o'clock news over WHO one evening and heard that announcer say that it was up to the women to gather in the safety pins, scissors and pocket mirrors for service mens kits. I decided right then," she added, "to go to town the next day and see if I couldn't get a few women to help me canvass the town. I did, and we did, and when we finished last Thursday we had 998 mirrors alone as well as hundreds and hundreds of the other articles. So we went out and bought 2 more mirrors to make it an even thousand."

P—P

Prittle Prattle can't help but add there must be a lot of women in Belmond who won't need to be so conscious of their appearance now they have sent their mirrors to war. Those mirrors will come in mighty handy. Shucks, the boys can even use them to see if any Japs are sneaking up on them from the rear. The Japs are noted for that we hear.

P—P

In all there were 93 pounds of the above mentioned items shipped to Des Moines.

P—P

We've heard of being locked in the bathroom, but it Mrs. Chester Luick's experience to be locked out of her house while shaking a dust mop from the second floor balcony at her home. Her husband was made aware of the situation, by a caller who was just leaving, and he was unable to unlock the door. Chester finally removed the screen in the door and the Mrs. climbed in. Even now the lock doesn't budge.

P—P

In the newspaper, 'Stars and Stripes' published in Algiers for our armed forces in the African theatre of war there is a column and in that column appeared this story.

"You may have heard this one but it's still making the rounds. It's the story about two GI's in Casablanca who managed to get a quart of bootleg brandy and prepared to sample same in a hotel room which they had somehow rented for the purpose. The first soldier lifted the bottle and took a couple of snorts. But he reached over and pushed the bottle away when the second soldier put it to his lips.

'Don't drink that stuff!" he yelled.

"Gwan," muttered the second soldier. "Leave me alone."

"I'm telling you, don't drink it," screamed the first soldier. "I just looked out the window and saw President Roosevelt riding down the street in a jeep."

P—P

This chap who found motoring with an A ration book not what it used to be bought a second hand bicycle and proceeded to learn to ride it with astonishingly rapid progress. As he was riding round and round the block on his second evening of practice his wife was standing on the lawn watching her husband cutting up his monkeyshines. The third time around when he was controlling the wheel with his feet alone he raised both arms in the air and called: "Look, dear; no hands." The second time he coasted along on momentum gained by a heavy spurt a few yards before he reached his own premises. "Look dear; no feet," he called. The third time he pedaled slowly up to the spot in front of where his wife was standing, carefully using both bands and feet, and said in somewhat meeker tone: "Look, dear; no teeth."—Northwood Anchor.

READING & WRITING
BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

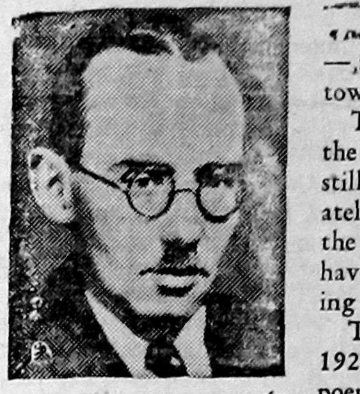
WHEN Stephen Vincent Benét died a short time ago, he was just putting the finishing touches to a long narrative poem called "Western Star." In this poem he told the exciting story—as only he could tell it—of the early colonization of what we know today as the United States—particularly the founding of the Jamestown and Provincetown colonies.



STEPHEN VINCENT BENÉT

The poem was shown to the judges of the Book-of-the-Month Club while it was still in manuscript form, and they immediately selected it for distribution as one of the July choices. Rarely, the judges say, have they come across anything as thrilling as Benét's last poem.

They had the same reaction back in 1927, when they selected Benét's narrative poem of the American Civil War—"John Brown's Body." The following year "John Brown's Body" was awarded the Pulitzer Prize, and ever since Stephen Vincent Benét has been recognized as one of our greatest poets.

Long before Pearl Harbor, Benét in his poetry warned us of the menace of fascism and tried to prepare us spiritually for the war to come. Then when we entered the war, he threw all his energies into writing poems and radio plays to inspire the American people for the great task on hand.

That Stephen Vincent Benét died when he did, in the full tide of his powers, was an inestimable loss to American literature. That he was able to finish his epic "Western Star" is something we can all be grateful for.

A hint for welcoming visiting celebrities: Richardson Wright in "The Bed-Book of Eating and Drinking" tells of a state visit which Louis XIV made to Rheims. At the gates of the city he was met by the city fathers, who addressed him thus: "Sire, we offer you our wine, our pears, our gingerbread, our biscuits and our hearts."

Mr. Wright's book, aside from containing many valuable hints about the preparation of food, contains scores of amusing anecdotes. Such as the one about the cook of a friend of his who gave notice. What was the trouble? Weren't the wages satisfactory, the bedroom, the time off? Yes, all these were. Then why was she leaving? "Because, Ma'am, there's too much shiftin' of the dishes for the fewness of the food."

When Winston Churchill arrived in Moscow for his visit to Stalin, relates Henry Cassidy in "Moscow Dateline," he greeted the Russian guard by raising his hand in his famous "V for Victory" salute. The Russians did not know what he meant—the word for "victory" in Russian is "pobeda." They speculated among themselves and finally decided that by raising his two fingers Mr. Churchill was promising them a quick Second Front.

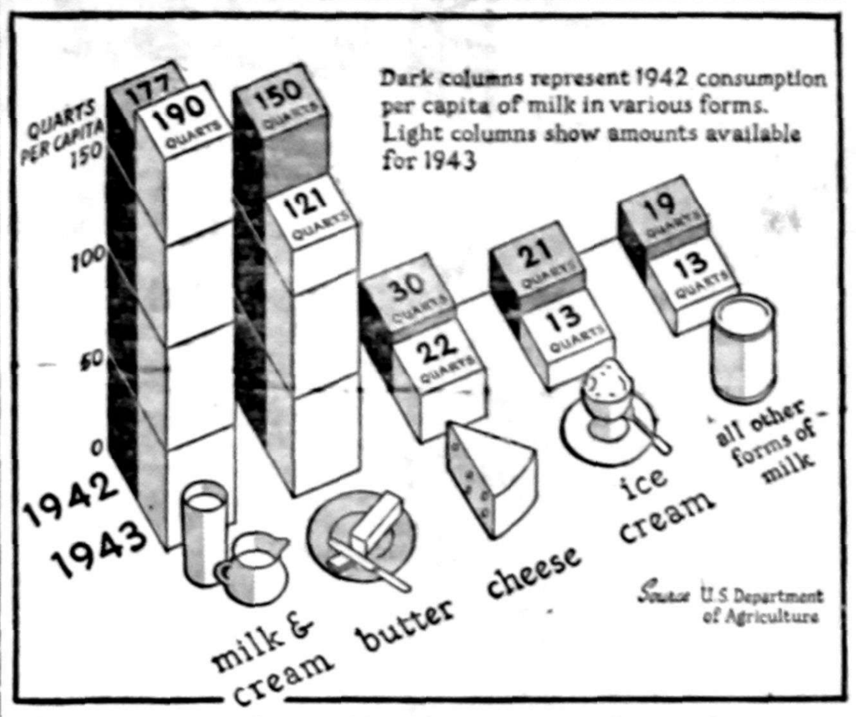
DAIRY FOODS HAVE GONE TO WAR



To provide for the nutritional needs of the nation's fighting forces and for lend lease, civilians must get along with less dairy products in 1943 amounting to the equivalent of 39 quarts of milk. Last year the average person consumed 397 quarts of milk as milk or milk products. This was more than in any previous year. For 1943 there are only 358 quarts of milk available per person.

There have also been important shifts in the way in which milk is consumed. Last year the average person consumed the equivalent of 177 quarts of milk as milk and cream. This year there will be 190 quarts per person available in that form.

But in every other case the amount of dairy products available has declined. Last year 150 quarts of milk went into the making of the 16 pounds of butter the average American ate. This year we can only have 12.8 pounds of butter coming from 121 quarts of milk. Last year the average person consumed the cheese from 30 quarts of milk, the ice cream from 21 quarts of milk and condensed and dry milk from 19 quarts. This year there are only 22 quarts available for cheese for the average person; 13 quarts for ice cream and 13 quarts for milk in other forms.

Even though production is higher than last year all of the balance of the product is being used for the armed forces and for lend lease. Because of the exceptional nutritional and protective qualities of dairy products soldiers are given approximately twice as much of them as are available for the average civilian, points out the National Dairy Council.

IOWA WOMEN WILL DETASSEL CORN

Iowa women who'd like to do an important war job for a few weeks this summer need look no farther than their state's luxuriant rolling cornfields.

Beginning July 15, there will be 44,000 acres of hybrid seed corn that must be detasseled. And it will take 8,000 persons to do the job.

Eying the state's manpower—already stretched to the utmost—hybrid producers believe the ranks of that army of 8,000 must be filled mostly by women.

"But I don't know anything about detasseling!" you say?

Producers have an answer for that.

All a woman needs to do the job, they say, is a desire to perform a patriotic service and the willingness to work for good pay (from $4 to $5 a day for a period of two weeks to a month).

"I'd like to help, and I need the extra money, but I have work to do at home—I can't spare 8 to 10 hours a day," say the housewives.

The producers have an answer for that, too.

These women, they point out, may arrange with local hybrid seed corn producers to work 4 or 5 hours a day.

Getting the detasseling jobs is simple. Men and women, boys and girls 15 years and older who want to help are registering—as soon as possible—with local hybrid producers, at the county extension agent's office, or at the nearest office of the U. S. employment service.

SELL
Perhaps it is an old dresser or table that you no longer are using.
Or maybe you have an extra stove you don't need, or a set of books you would like to get rid of, it might be something big, like a house or lot, or farm.
Or possibly a cow, horse, or flock of chickens.
Or it could be that you need something and would like to buy it, but do not know where it can be found.
Possibly it is an electric refrigerator, or a length of rubber hose.
Or a good used automobile tire or bird dog.
ALWAYS REMEMBER – Whatever it is you would like to sell, there is a buyer for it.
And if there is something you want to buy, you can often find a person with that same thing to sell.

Help Build the Mystery Ship

"Shangri-la"

A mystery aircraft carrier, "The Shangri-La" designed to be the most powerful vessel of its type ever built, will be bought with the dollars, dimes and quarters which will be invested in War Savings Stamps during July.

The real goal of the July campaign is the purchase of at least one dollar's worth of war stamps for every man, woman and child in the United States.

The goal for July of more than $130,000,000 is to be over and above the regular war bond and stamp purchases for July. Spending an extra $1.00 for War Stamps in July will make "Shangri-La" a fact, no longer a mystery.

The successful completion of the campaign will mean the sale of $131,669,275.00 in war stamps —almost exactly the cost of the aircraft carrier "Shangri-La" and its fighting planes.

Wright County Sheep Growers Consign Over 15,000 Pounds Of Wool

Wright County sheep growers consigned over 15,000 pounds of wool to the Iowa Sheep and Wool Growers Association during the two day county pool held last week.

The wool was pooled the first day at the Farmers Elevator at Goldfield and on the following day at the Clarion Farmers Elevator at Clarion.

Considerably more interest was noted in pooling wool this year as all wool is purchased by the Commodity Credit Corporation, on which the ceiling price has been established. The Iowa Sheep and Wool Growers Association has been granted a license as a primary handler for the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Another County pool will be announced in the near future to accommodate farmers who could not get their sheep sheared in time for the County pool just held. Sacks for packing wool can be obtained at the County Extension Office in Clarion.

Explains Correct Rate For Overseas Air Mail

"Confusion appears to exist concerning the postage rate on air mail articles dispatched to members of the armed services stationed overseas," says Postmaster C. N. Hildebrand. The correct rate is 6c for each half ounce. Thus, a letter weighing less than that amount will receive air mail dispatch for 6c but a letter weighing between one-half and one ounce would require 12c. Heavier matter would also require proportionately more postage.

Due to the extensive use of the air mail service the Post Office Department requests that air mail articles be held to minimum weights. Mail plane space is limited and facilities are not always available to transport the present heavy volume of mail now dispatched by air.

To Cut Prices On Fruits And Vegetables

OPA Order is Result of Complaints

Complaints about the jump in prices of vegetables and fruits the last few days have brought about government investigation which indicates the fault lies with the wholesalers.

A Washington dispatch published in Saturday's dailies said the office of Price Administration (OPA) ordered a 25 to 50 per cent reduction in the prices of lettuce and cabbage Saturday and promised that similar reductions may be expected soon on fresh fruits and other vegetables including peas, snap beans, carrots, apples and pears.

The OPA order, which is effective July 20, said that wholesalers of lettuce and cabbage cannot charge more than formula-set prices. Retail prices, which are limited to percentages of the wholesale prices, are supposed to follow suit automatically.

Specifically, the new prices are to be figured by the OPA's various regional offices, considering basing point prices and freight costs.

Although prices will have to be figured locally and may vary by seasons or months, OPA stated that present lettuce prices at retail should be brought down by the new rule to 12 cents an average (one pound) head in such cities as New York, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Chicago and San Francisco.

In these cities cabbage is expected to sell for 4½ cents a pound in July, August and September; 4 cents in October and November, between 5 and 6½ cents in December, January and February, 5½ to 7 cents in March and April; 5 to 6 cents in May and a uniform 5 cents in June.

Lettuce prices were figured mostly on the average prices charged in last year's season, and cabbage maximums were based on highest price charged between Jan. 1 and Sept. 15 last year.

It must be remembered that the above restrictions are not in force yet, but the word concerning them came from Washington.

601 Register For Emergency Farm Labor

Corn Detasseling Under Way

Scraping the bottom of the bowl of emergency farm workers for detasseling 1800 acres of hybrid seed corn and harvesting our oat crop, Wright County registrations now total 601 part time and full time workers.

The total of emergency workers includes direct registrations with the Hybrid corn producers as well as the registration through the farm labor representatives of the County Extension Service in the various towns.

With corn detasselling already under way in some portions of the county and grain harvesting starting, all emergency farm workers will soon be needed.

Chief support for emergency farm work, especially detasseling, has come from women and girls with a total of 315 registered for full time and part time work. Oldest registrant among the women is Mrs. Gus Dahlgren of Clarion who is 64 years of age and has indicated she would work part time. Mrs. Nettie Strict of Clarion, age 62, is the next oldest woman registered and she is willing to work full time. One hundred and forty-three girls between the ages of 12 and 16 years are included in the total of 315 emergency women workers. Workers under 14 years of age will not be called except in an emergency.

Two hundred and eighty-six men and boys are registered with a far larger number, 216 boys, being 10 years of age or under. John Rubber, age 67, registered with a hybrid corn company, receives the honor of being the oldest man on the list for detasseling.

A total of 520 individuals have registered for full time work detasseling which should take care of the requests for this type of work if the season is normal.

Wright County, because of the large acreage of hybrid seed corn under production, has one of the heaviest demands for emergency farm labor in the state. Chief credit for obtaining these workers goes to the cooperation given by the civic organizations in the towns and cities and the canvassing done by the O. C. D. block lieutenants in the various communities.

Several requests have been made by farmers for grain shockers. Experienced adult help just isn't available. Business men in most cities and towns of the county have indicated a willingness to assist if the solution becomes critical. Due to the reduced oat acreage and the increased use of combines there will be less call for this type of work than usual.

Names Of Service Men Needed To Complete List For Honor Roll

Names of service men which have not appeared on the Honor Roll board on the lawn of the city library, and which have not been turned in to the Independent office recently should be brought in at once. It is the desire of the American Legion and Community Club, joint sponsors of the Honor Roll, to have the remodelled board complete with all names before its dedication on Legion Bond Day, Saturday, July 31.

The Independent is also making another request that photos or snapshots of service men and women be brought in to be placed on the Independent's picture gallery. Birthdays of service men are also desired.

Because of the strict censorship regarding the publishing of certain items connected with the addresses of service men, the Independent has found it necessary to discontinue the publication of the list of service men's addresses.
